"PEACE, BREAK THEE OFF; LOOK, WHERE IT COMES AGAIN!"

By MILTON J. FERGUSON, Librarian, California State Library.

It will be recalled that prior to the convening of the Legislature of 1919 the Governor appointed a Committee on Economy and Efficiency which in several sections considered ways and means of consolidating, reorganizing and economizing the state household. One of these subcommittees numbering some twenty-two persons interested in education—by which term I mean schools—and one librarian held a meeting in San Francisco late in 1918, for the purpose of considering a new arrangement of the school system. The program presented had been drafted by educators, that is, teachers and those interested in formal school instruction. The one library member of the committee was willing enough to be governed by the schoolman view of things relating to schools; but protested when the proposal was made to make radical changes in the organization of our library system—changes which had been considered and adopted by the forces of formal education without so much as asking the opinion, or wishes of the library member of the committee or of his professional associates. Certain pertinent outstanding facts regarding library service in California would also lead the casual observer to suspect that the framers of the new plan were not altogether familiar with what had been accomplished in the Golden State in the domain of informal instruction—the libraries. For while the professional library world acknowledged California's eminence or even preeminence in the giving of library service, the proposition of reorganization was modeled upon the work of states which in this line were less advanced. The outcome of the hearing as regards libraries is, of course, familiar to all interested persons: the subcommittee by a vote of two short of unanimity said leave well enough alone.

Then came the forty-third session of the Legislature of California, in the course of which Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 21 was adopted, "relative to a legislative investigation of the problem of meeting the needs of and furnishing support for the schools and educational institutions of the state." This resolution recognized the increasing cost and the increasing attendance of the school system, and the policy of the state to encourage the development of educational facilities of the highest order. A committee was therefore authorized "to investigate * * * the plan of education in this state and the relations of schools, high schools, junior colleges, normal schools, technical schools, colleges and universities, and the cost of education * * * and to make such recommendations in connection therewith as they deem of permanent benefit to the state." The members of the committee duly appointed by the presiding officers of the two houses were Senator Herbert C. Jones who became chairman, Senator William J. Carr and Senator M. B. Harris, Assemblywoman Elizabeth Hughes, Assemblyman Walter Eden and Assemblyman N. J. Prendergast. The last named member died before the committee report was formulated. This document, a booklet of 96 pages, was published in January, 1921, and has been fairly well distributed throughout the state.

The committee met and organized in Sacramento; it held three meetings in Berkeley, and one each in Los Angeles, Fresno, Riverside and San Jose. The report says that an "effort was made * * * to secure the attendance of representatives of taxpayers' associations, labor unions, and laymen, as well as those directly interested in public education." Acknowledgment is made of the material assistance, helpful cooperation and wise counsel of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Mr Will C. Wood. Professor Ellwood P. Cubberley of Stanford University took the findings and conclusions of the committee and drafted the final report. The committee "familiarized itself with the more important steps in the evolution of the California state school system"; and studied "the more important lines of recent educational evolution elsewhere, with a view to utilizing in this state the best educational experience and practice worked out in other states."

With the foregoing statements as an indication of the plan upon which the committee worked, let us examine its findings in regard to libraries; for personally I have a hesitancy in passing upon school programs—a reluctance which some school men evidently do not feel when the library system is the topic of discussion.

The report, in covering the school development of California prior to 1913, and, in summarizing what appear to be tendencies, finds that, "In a few states the state library has been conceived of as a part of the state's educational service and placed under the control of the State Board of Education, and as a division of the State Education Department, and the county libraries have been placed under the direction of the county boards of education * * *. What is outlined above is perhaps best found in the state educational organizations of New York, New Jersey, and Indiana, though a number of other states have recently conferred upon their State Boards of Education somewhat analogous powers." As evidence that many educational agencies of the state are at loose ends, that there is a lack of good educational organization, it is set forth that the State Library "does an important educational work for adults, including adult blind, but also is unrelated to the state educational offices."

After pointing out by sentence and diagram the present unsystematic disorganization of the educational offices and forces, the report proceeds by sentence and diagram to build up an educational machine of high power, close correlation and trim design. I have no quarrel with the school plans set forth; it is evident without making an extended survey that far reaching and systematic reorganization should be put into practice; and I desire to quote here only the part relating to libraries. A library division is provided for under the Department of Education and the following comment is made. "In some of our states, notably New York, the state library has been classified as a division of the State Department of Education, and the county libraries in other states have been closely connected with the county educational administration. This seems to be the logical place for such service, as it is essentially educational. The work of the State Library in this state is so good that there is no present need for such a reclassification, but the Committee feels that the county library work would be much better provided for if placed under the type of county educational organization, described in Chapter II, than under the boards of supervisors as at present." Other portions of the report by inference may be considered as applying to libraries; but for our present purposes the above quotations will suffice. Let us, therefore, proceed to examine these deductions in the light both of calm reason and of library accomplishments in California as compared with "some of our states, notably New York," etc.

It has long been the custom in countries of Anglo-Saxon origin to invite in any individual or corporation whose fate was placed in judicial or official balance. In this case, however, the libraries were not named in the bill of indictment along with "schools, high schools, junior colleges, normal schools, technical schools, colleges and universities"; nor were they summoned to any of the hearings or even, to the best of my belief, given notice of the holding of such meetings. Consequently it might reasonably be supposed that the committee considered the library outside the jurisdiction of its inquiry. The subject was, nevertheless, passed upon in the report if not in the hearings; and decision arrived at without benefit of the information which presumably the state librarian and the county librarians, if given the opportunity, would gladly have furnished. With these facts in mind it would not ordinarily be unusual for the appellate court upon application to grant a rehearing, or, let us say, a hearing of the case so far as it touches the library as an instrument of popular education.

Again if the inquiry was to be extended beyond the schools and colleges, specifically named in the resolution, to agencies which are presumably educational in their bearing upon the popular mind or imagination, why did the survey stop at the library? If education really means the "impartation or acquisition of knowledge, skill or discipline of character," a means of furthering the "happiness, efficiency and capacity for social service of the educated," then the investigation should have gone much beyond its delimitations. There are the movies. Certainly no other present day agency, not even the daily press, touches the lives and feelings of greater numbers both of the young and the old. The libraries of England and America complain that the gelatin strip is responsible for decreases in circulation, particularly among their juvenile clientele. And certainly there is no protest on the part of the pupils when the schools are closed to permit their gathering in the halls of the silent drama, and, incidentally, leaving their contributions for the starving children of war-sundered lands. It is also true that throughout the nation great throngs of vigorous young men come together very frequently to witness that skill and discipline of character so necessary to a continuous career in the squared ring. But why continue examples of educative agencies not considered by the Committee on Education? It is evident that education as used in the resolution really means school system; just as state board of education would more clearly express the thing intended if it were revised to read state school board.

And while I am about it let me attempt to indicate the boundaries of these two institutions which are so often linked together, yet which are dissimilar in their aims, operations and methods—the school and the library. For many centuries the library was either an adjunct to institutions of formal instruction, or the means of information and recreation in the private home. It has in recent decades, in America especially, become an instrument of public use, supported largely by public funds, wide spread throughout the land; its doors open to young and old, its resources at the call of everyone whether his desire be for recreation, for information, or even at times for a seat in a quiet room secure from the cold and discomforts of winter, or the glare and heat of summer. No one is compelled to be a regular attendant; no courses are prescribed; individuals never grow beyond library age as they do beyond school age. It is in other words the one great institution of informal instruction and recreation, wherein each person is both teacher and student, entertainer and entertained; wherein the whole past and much of the present becomes the means, through the printed page, of joy and culture, of tears and laughter, of some high thinking and of many noble resolutions. It touches the life of the individual before school age, it goes with him through that perilous period, and when the valedictory is spoken it has just settled down with him upon a basis of knowledge and friendship which increasingly endures and ripens through all his years. Its control is exercised through voluntary surrender of each individual.

The school, and rightly so, is a means of compulsory training which the state considers necessary for the happiness of its citizens and its own perpetuation and preservation. Its courses are prescribed; its hours are fixed; its instruction is formal; and its years are limited, beyond which youth in the abstract may not easily be persuaded. To many in their teens, it is a prison wherein cruel and unwarranted tortures are inflicted by hard visaged gaolers; where attendance is insured by truant officers armed with the majesty of the law; and whose doors are too often quitted with the hopeful prayer that fire overnight may make return impossible. Schools nevertheless are an absolute essential; and success in that business or professional world to which youth so hopefully looks forward is doubly assured him who takes his discipline like a man, who meets the obstacles and hardships of Latin and math with Cæsarlike courage and persists to the logical end.

But the library is not a school; neither is the school a library. They are not interchangeable terms. The library is not merely a handmaiden to the school. Both have their work to do; they are copartners, in a sense, in a big undertaking for certain parts of which each has its special qualifications and its nonvicarious duties. They are two distinct professions whose boundaries often touch; but to which success and the opportunity to do work well in the world will most readily come through mutual recognition of abilities, means, powers and responsibilities.

The Committee is impressed with the organization of the educational department of New York of which the State Library is a division. This plan was adopted in 1844 when the development of the library profession was so much in the future that it mattered very little whether the library were placed under the educational department, the state police or the division of forestry. In 1852 California also looked to New York for a school system. In the fifty-nine years which have intervened, California has moved forward along many lines, but along none so far and so effectively as that of library organization. Now it would be possible for the west to repay the east, in full measure, that debt of 1852, if it were not true that the roots of an old system strike so deeply they may not be displaced even by a newer and a better. From an intimate knowledge of the New York plan, gained while I was a student in the New York State Library, and from the opinion of librarians who know and have worked in both New York and California, I assert without fear of contradiction that the western ideas which obtain with us are simpler, more effective, less difficult of operation and more economical than those not alone of New York, but also of any other state in the Union. From the beginning of time it has been human nature to see great good in things at a distance. Hence many persons invest their money in rubber plantations in South America, in gold mines in Alaska, in bubble projects in the South Seas. So axiomatic is this trait of human creatures that the old saw about the honoring of prophets is one of the most familiar in our language; and none is truer. It is perhaps not unreasonable, therefore, for a body of our own citizens unacquainted with the great progress which California has made in a library way to overlook our own triumph, and to see beyond the Sierras and the Rockies virtues which are commendable, it is true, but easily excelled by those here at home.

What has been the greatest handicap in the influence of the library? The answer is easy; and may be expressed in a single word: isolation. The school which would reach effectively only the children in the cities and larger towns would be held almost worthless and certainly undemocratic and unfair. Libraries until recent years have been operated on that exact plan. The county library idea which means full and equal service to countryman and to townman alike was officially expressed one hundred and five years ago in Indiana—expressed, mind you, and then forgot. In California ten years ago it had a rebirth and a rephrasing; it is not forgot, but has become a living instrument for good and cheer and enlightenment in this land of the western sun. In California the library is no longer a hermit; it is one big family whose strengths from Siskiyou to San Diego are joined, like the three swordsmen of France, one for all, all for one.

We have been cited the example of New York, Indiana and New Jersey as justification for a plan of reorganization under which the library becomes a division of the department of education. There is, however, one other state which the report never names but only mentions in that all inclusive phrase "some of our states," whose practice, if I mistake not, is far more persuasive than all others combined. In 1914 Professor Cubberley published a book covering the educational reorganization of the state of Osceola. Seven years have passed since that volume came from the press; and the California library plan, which even then had developed far enough to show the keen observer some of its possibilities, has now become a structure of very fine proportions, and is meeting all requirements in a manner quite unparalleled. The library recommendations of the Legislative Committee on Education made in the year 1921 remain essentially those of the mythical state of Osceola in the year 1914.

For fifty-five years California has appropriated money for the support of school district libraries. Until the year 1911 those funds were expended by the district authorities for books. I have in times past inspected many of those collections; and the more of them I saw the greater grew my wonder that so many independent bodies could operate along such identical lines: the books were at least 90 per cent totally unfit for the use of schools; the money was wasted. With the advent of the county library system a new order became effective. The districts were authorized separately and individually to join the county library which then spends the school library funds. Instantly teachers found a new influence in the lives of their pupils; books began to mean something. Joining is voluntary on the part of the school trustees, yet in less than ten years the demonstration has been so convincing that 2000 districts are receiving this service. Teachers are delighted, pupils are stimulated, trustees are satisfied. Why does the school library succeed now under professional library management, when a few years ago it failed under teacher or layman control? The answer is clear: library work is a profession requiring special training and consistent application. It is too big a job to be undertaken by teachers whose hands and hearts and minds must always be filled with their own exacting and honorable task of teaching.

The schools were once managed on a district plan which because of its isolation and poverty was second in poorness only to the old time library plan. The tendency today is in the direction of consolidation, unification, of enlarging the unit and of improving equipment and teaching force. No doubt the smaller system is the concomitant of all pioneering endeavor. As the years have gone by and factories and wealth have increased, we have seen this modern spirit of unification exemplified in many lines of business and endeavor. Are the educational or the school forces conscious of the fact that one of the most forceful examples of what they are trying to accomplish is to be found in the inception and growth of the county free library idea in the state of California? If this progress had taken place in New York, Indiana or Osceola its precedent would without question be supreme.

"The county library system, recently created, is another unifying agency, as yet but loosely connected with the schools, but capable of a still closer connection," is the opinion expressed by the report. But such a view must necessarily be taken by those who are unable to see the far-reaching influence of the library with that part of the population having nothing whatever to do with schools, and at times even impatient of school interference outside school circles. A closer union would in a way partake of that so earnestly desired on the part of the lion with his friend the lamb; but the joining is going to bring no permanent good to the one, as it must certainly be decidedly uncomfortable for the other. On a comparative basis, the efficiency of our library plan and its development toward a reasonable working unit are so in advance of the school system that a disinterested logician would with these facts in hand present irrefutable argument for a reorganization in which the schools would become a division of the library department. In justice to a big majority of superintendents, principals and teachers I must say that dissatisfaction with the present cooperative plan between school and library arises not with them who daily see its virtues but with a few reorganizers who are building new castles in the air.

The Committee would, because of its good work, leave the State Library for the present at least in its unclassified condition. But can it not be clearly seen that the good work of the State Library is based upon an organization of which it and the public libraries and the county libraries are each and all essential working parts? Is it probable that the county library, which is now under the control of the county tax levying body upon which popular pressure for support will equal the satisfaction and the desires of the citizens, would, in the language of the report, "be better provided for if placed under the county educational organization"? My own convictions are that the addition of a buffer board in this case would have a great deadening influence on the hammer blow of public demand just as it has had in the case of public library boards. Directness is a virtue in municipal affairs which should not lightly be bartered. And I am not so sure that school affairs, under proper safeguards, would not profit by being placed squarely in the hands of the people's representatives, the supervisors—but that I grant you is a new tale which I shall not venture here to recount.

The ghost of school control of the library comes again; so peace, I break me off.

CERTIFICATION—A SUGGESTION.

By CHARLES S. GREENE, Chairman, Certification Committee, California Library Association.

Some members of the California Library Association who attended the Riverside conference and who remember that a Certification Committee was appointed there for the purpose of presenting a bill to the Legislature may wonder that no such bill is being introduced at the present session. The reason is that it has seemed to the committee, and to many others who have been consulted, that to offer a bill at this time would simply be to court a repetition of the former defeat. There has not been enough time to enable members of the California Library Association and others interested to give the matter of certification full and fair consideration. No hope of success can be entertained where this is not done. It has seemed, further, that before a legalized certifying plan should be adopted it might be well to test out the readiness of the library public for such a system by a plan of voluntary certifying under the auspices of the California Library Association. These matters have been presented to the First, Second and Ninth Districts at their recent meetings, and these districts passed resolutions requesting the postponement of the introduction of a bill, if the Executive Committee should deem that course wise. The Chairman of the Certification Committee accordingly explained the matter to the Executive Committee at its session in San Francisco on December 11, 1920, and that committee authorized the postponement of the introduction of the bill to another legislature.

Pursuing, therefore, the alternative of a voluntary certification plan, the following has been suggested and is put forward as a tentative scheme, to be thoroughly discussed, amended, approved or condemned by the various district meetings and finally passed on at the California Library Association annual meeting. It takes the form of a resolution:

RESOLVED, that the California Library Association hereby adopts the following plan to establish a system of certification of librarians and library assistants based on proved merit:

1. A special Committee of five members to be known as the Certification Committee shall be appointed by the President from members of the California Library Association engaged in library work and not connected with any training school. The first committee shall classify itself by lot, so that one of them shall serve for one year; one, for two years; one, for three years; one, for four years, and one, for five years. After the first year there shall be one appointed each year to serve for the term of five years.

2. The powers and duties of the Certification Committee shall be:

- (1) To adopt rules for its own governance.
- (2) To establish grades of certificates covering all professional library work.
- (3) To hold examinations, written, oral, or both, at such places and times as it shall determine.
- (4) To charge and collect the sum of $1.00 for each entrant at an examination and a further sum of $1.00 for each certificate granted, said sums to be used for the traveling or other necessary expenses of the examination, an itemized report, with vouchers, of the same to be sent to the Secretary of the California Library Association after each examination.
- (5) To issue certificates, temporary or regular, in such form and to give such publicity to its acts as it may determine to be best.
- (6) To revoke for cause certificates given, such revocation to be at once reported to the President of the California Library Association, to be published or not as he may determine.

- (7) To draw on the Treasurer of the California Library Association for such sums as may be necessary for its work, not to exceed $200 in any fiscal year.
- (8) To make to the President of the California Library Association a full report of its doings for the year, not less than thirty days before the annual meeting of the Association.

The Committee is desirous of hearing from any or all members of the Association who have ideas on this subject. It consists of Chas. S. Greene, Free Library, Oakland, chairman, Winifred H. Bigley, Merced County Free Library, Merced, and Lauren W. Ripley, City Library, Sacramento.

RESEARCHING WITHOUT THE RE.

By H. C. PETERSON, Collector of Californiana, California State Library.

I shall always remember a statement Dr Jordan made to us one morning at Assembly; "The man who does true historical research is the man who leaves off the re." I never appreciated that statement so thoroughly as I have during the past few months, nor did I ever realize the vast difference a little prefix could make in a word.

Research work is delightful—a nice cosy corner in the library, an easy chair, a good light, a handsomely bound book, beautifully illustrated, completely indexed, and full of information. All you need is a fountain pen, a little notepaper and you become a research worker in history.

The next time you research in that cosy corner take a few moments off and ask yourself this question "Where did the author get his facts, where did all the photographs come from that make up the illustrations, who gathered together all the manuscripts and documents from which the author quotes?" When you get the answer you will realize the significance of Dr Jordan's statement.

The researcher enjoys his work in the library, but the real joy, the fascinating, wonderfully interesting part of the work is that of the party who does the searching, for to him come the adventures, humorous, pathetic, often very trying, but always intensely human. We see life in all its aspects, good, bad and indifferent. We see valueless things treasured as priceless—sentiment reigns supreme under many a wrinkled brow. We see priceless historical mementoes made the sport of rag pickers for the lack of a little sentiment behind a rouged face or a Charlie Chaplin mustache. Our eyes dim with tears as we see the one and our blood boils with anger as we see the other, and we regret that there is no open season, on "an assault with intent to do great bodily harm."

A man who likes to "stay put" has no business in the searching department. A true "retriever," which is the one word that more truly covers the work than any other, is one who is ready at a minute's notice to leave on the next train, knowing not how long he will be gone, nor where the journey will end. Not long ago I was sent out on a four days trip. Five weeks later I returned to the library and told Mr Ferguson that I had come back for a few days to work up some of the material already sent in. He said I was mistaken, that I was going up north the next day.

Three things furnish the zest to the work of collecting. First, the uncertainty—you are to see a person you know nothing about. Second, will he have anything worth while? And third, WILL HE GIVE? Neither trout fishing nor the Ouija board have anything on our work when it comes to sustained suspense. And we never lack for variety. One week up 8000 feet in the snow-covered Sierras, the next week brushing off sand fleas at Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Lots of travel? Yes, lots of it. As a specimen illustration I'll give a chapter from "Ten days Among the Feathers," literal translation.

I had just come down from Truckee and the Summit, checking my baggage through to San Francisco. Stopped over to see Mr Ferguson, Miss Gillis and Miss Garoutte about things historical. Was just saying good bye when the wire arrived "Send some one up at once. Carmelita Duff." Mr Ferguson pointed at me and said "You're it." With a safety razor as my only equipment I left for Quincy. Two young ladies were looking for the lone stranger that descended from the only passenger car of the shortest railroad in the United States. They introduced themselves as Miss Duff, the County Librarian, and her friend Miss McEvoy. We proceeded to get acquainted as we walked along through the snow-storm. Eventually we discovered that the three of us had been living within a mile of each other for nearly eighteen years, which speaks volumes for the neighborhood spirit of Palo Alto.

Miss Duff told me just what I was there for. Six weeks before in La Porte, thirty-five miles further on in the heart of the Sierras, Charles W. Hendel, for two generations United States Deputy Mineral Surveyor, mine owner and county surveyor, had died. He left no will, no heirs. Charlie Hendel was one of those men who never grew old, a man of charm, amiability, and ability, loved and beloved by every man, woman and child of the mountains. Since 1853 the Sierras had been his home. His health never varied, it was always good. Glasses he seldom wore. In the winter he skied and snowshoed with the best of them. To the children he was "Uncle Charlie," to all others "Quicksilver Charlie." So agile, so fearless, and so speedy was he on the skis during those famous skiing contests in the early days at La Porte that they called him "Quicksilver." But as the years passed, the amalgam of Time and "Quicksilver" reached the point of saturation. Movement ceased—silently and without pain Uncle Charlie passed beyond. The doctor's certificate said that ninety years had passed since he nestled against his mother's breast, but later information leads us to believe it was between 97 and 100 years.

Such was the man whose papers I was to secure for the state archives at Sacramento.

Quincy is truly the Gem City of the mountains. It contains one of the very oldest hotels in the state, the most up-to-date County Court House, and one of the oldest jails. Miss Duff took me to the Plumas House. That night the Odd Fellows gave a dance in Quincy. The ballroom was just beneath my room. They danced all night, and how they did enjoy it. I retired at 5 a.m. upon learning that no stage would leave for La Porte that day.

In the meantime Quincy proved to be a most enjoyable place. It is the birthplace of many of our most famous statesmen, lawyers and engineers. There I met A. W. Keddle, the "father of the Western Pacific Railroad," a man who has a collection that makes the historian oblivious to the Divine command "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's goods." But this is the story of the Hendel Collection. In another article I will tell of the people I met in Quincy, the exceptionally interesting data I secured from them, and of the work of the County Library there.

Mr F. W. Hogan, Public Administrator, had charge of the Hendel estate. It was agreed that if the storm broke we would leave Wednesday for La Porte, the party to include Mr Hogan, W. J. Miller, Inheritance Tax Appraiser, Leon Clough and Mr Moody, Court appraisers, and myself. When I learned that in the party was the Public Administrator, the Coroner, the Undertaker, the Inheritance Tax Appraiser, and myself, (a property owner with several heirs), that the road to La Porte in winter was one of the most dangerous in the Sierras, a great big hunk slipped out of the romance of collecting.

Just before noon on Tuesday the stage driver told us he would try to get through to La Porte that day. I put my baggage in my pocket, borrowed a sweater and a pair of rubbers from Dr Lasswell, and hopped in alongside the driver. I was anxious to see La Porte. But Hogan, Miller and Clough just looked at Mr Moody and grinned. Mr Moody was the undertaker and driver of the Wednesday car. At noon we started in a little Dodge truck, scheduled running time two and a half hours. We arrived eight hours later. But we did not lack interest on the way. Art Gould could do anything but climb a tree with that Dodge.

At Nelson Point, in one of the oldest roadhouses in California, I ate one of Grandma Pauly's famous dinners, and a better cook never fed a famished traveler. Then came the real grade, some 3500 feet in five miles. Up, up, up and as we went up, the drop over the road side went down, down, down, until, at the Hog's Back, it was nearly 2000 feet straight down. It was a five-foot road, full of drifted snow. We piled the truck full of heavy rocks to make it sink down in the snow. The wheels spun round and round until the chains wore a hole to the frozen ground, and then zip! the auto would jump ahead a dozen feet, settle down and begin to buzz as the wheels tore through to the roadbed again. I soon learned to double up either way without warning, but I could not get used to the thought that the driver would always have the rudder pointed dead ahead every time we took a leap. Two thousand feet straight down is a long way to go, even in an auto. Eventually we reached the summit. The sighing pines had nothing on the sigh that went up from that truck.

At last we were going down. It began to grow bitterly cold and windy. We rounded a bend, a town ahead! A chance for a hot cup of coffee! "What place is this, Art?" "Onion Valley." "Who lives in all those houses?" "Nobody." "What became of the last inhabitant?" "Drank wood alcohol." "Pleasant place to live." "Sure. They irrigated the flowers over at that saloon with the blood of the men killed in the barroom." Bret Harte died too soon.

We started upwards again. "Where to now, Art?" "Summit." "Another one?" "Sure." "How long before we will get there?" "God only knows." It was bitterly cold. A few more miles, then another little valley, and, Allah be praised, there stood a real town, houses, barns, hotels and everything, saloon-signs unobliterated. "Some town this, eh, Art?" "Sure, Gibsonville." "Who runs that big hotel?" "Nobody." "Who runs that small one?" "Nobody." "Well, who runs the town?" "Nobody. Nobody runs anything here. Nobody's here." It was fearfully cold, long after sunset, and the snow began to fly. "What are we stopping for, Art?" "Going to get a bobsled out of this barn." "Whaffor?" "We probably won't make the summit with the machine and if we have to leave it in the snow we can pile the mail on the bobsled and push it into La Porte." The north wind whistled through the trees and the wolves began to howl. I had no pity for the poor sailor on an angry sea on a night like this. All he had to do was to go down. We had 2000 feet to go up.

But the little truck did not relish being left on a bleak mountain top all winter under thirty feet of drift. As we neared the summit we got into deep, soft snow. It began to pile up against the radiator in huge scales, one overlapping the other. The play of the headlights on the moving mass was very fascinating. Suddenly a big black object loomed up directly ahead. A landslide! Slam went the brakes. I rubbed my knees as I scrambled back onto my seat. But the landslide began to move again. I could already see the headlines "Buried under thousands of tons of earth. Bodies can not be dug out until Spring." But the landslide was going from us, humping along the road like an immense cotton-tail rabbit. Gu-r-r-r-went the gears, zip, and we were tearing through the snow. Feverishly I rubbed a place clean on the windshield and glued my eye to the place. "Hey, Art, what is it?" "Bear." I sat down quick. I would willingly have traded my pen for a tin sword. Even my razor was guaranteed not to cut the skin. Art honked and honked, opened the muffler wide, and raised all the racket he could. For nearly a quarter of a mile we chased that bear along through the soft snow before he could find an opening where he could slide down the side. "What did you toot the horn so for, Art?" "Because I didn't want that cuss to stop." I got the idea.

Eventually, by getting out every so often and rolling the huge ball of accumulated snow away from the front of the machine, we reached summit number two, and started down grade. It reminded me very much of a dream, where you lightly skip along and hit only the high spots, conscious all the time of the fact that if we stopped suddenly we would be in the way of that bobsled trailing along behind.

La Porte! How good those lights looked. How good the coffee and "the ham-and" tasted. As I blew out my candles and got in between the blankets I looked out the window. It was still snowing.

At seven the next morning I woke up. It was raining, raining those big, fat, healthy mountain raindrops that follow one on top the other hour after hour. I went over to the Hendel residence. Elmer Primeau let me in. Things were just as he left them, maps on the draughting table, pen, ink and a half finished letter on his desk, his little keepsakes pinned here and there, photographs tacked all over the walls, badges hung on the curtains, and on one corner of his table lay a little cookbook. He was a bachelor, very neat, very methodical. The whole room indicated a most lovable personality. It seemed heartless to disturb it, but that was part of my work. Elmer helped me pack up much of the material that was already listed for the library. Late in the afternoon Mr Hogan, Mr Clough and Mr Moody arrived. Only one thing interested them. Was there any hot coffee at the hotel? There was. That evening 'till after midnight we spent around a redhot stove. If you want an evening of unalloyed pleasure just get together a public administrator, a coroner, an undertaker, a couple of appraisers, a few old mining engineers, stage drivers, and prospectors and start them talking. It is a combination you can not beat.

In the meantime we were having hourly cloudbursts. Early the next morning we went to the Hendel place. There were hundreds of maps, pamphlets and books to go over. Finally, in desperation, Mr Clough suggested that they roll all the maps up, pile them in the auto, take them over to Quincy and look them over there, leaving me at La Porte to finish packing. I could follow them in two or three days. Motion put and carried, one silent vote.

Very reluctantly I bid them goodbye at the gate, for they were good fellows, and we had spent many pleasant hours together. I would follow in a couple of days. I didn't. I was only too glad to be able to convince Dan Borland that, if he hitched four big horses to a little spring wagon, he could haul myself and 700 pounds of baggage to Woodleaf. Getting stuck in the mire, skidding off the road, moving the boxes in and out through the storm and mud, tearing one's clothes, wet, shivering, teeth chattering, hungry, eleven hours hard driving through one of the heaviest of mountain storms, to arrive after dark at Marysville, only to find every hotel filled to the attic, all are but incidents in the life of the man who goes out after and brings in the photographs, the maps and original documents that go to make up the collection from which the author prepares the volume that allows you to do "original research work" in a cosy library chair.

A WORD FROM HAWAII.

Extracts from a letter from MISS LAURA ROBSON.

Until Legislature meets next month I will not know what is to be the status of the work [here], and if the county library law or its equivalent is not adopted then, no further action can be taken before the next biennial session. So far, we have done only traveling library work and that as you know is not as interesting nor as satisfactory as county work. The traveling libraries have gone out for six years now and the handling of them has become unwieldy.

Last week I took another island trip and was most gloriously sea-sick. Everywhere is shown a tremendous eagerness for books. The children fairly clamour for them. I have added story-telling to my repertoire and make it a practice to go into as many rooms as possible. It is interesting to watch the children—almost not a white child in a school of several hundred. Because of their difficulty with the language I have to send books graded at least two years below what I would send to California children. Even the high school boys and girls ask for fairy stories. I tell fairy stories to the eighth graders—which would be an insult to children in the States—and they sit spell-bound.

Another thing that surprised me was the high grade of special requests. Once in a while I have a request from a community that almost no fiction is wanted! This is not a land of grass skirts and ukuleles but rather a lot of foreign people and a comparatively small number of white people who are doing what they can to help them. There are few idle people. The rich folks are interested in educational or charity work with the foreigners—giving time as well as money for them. Some of the foreign students are a fine type, too. We have some Korean boys as part-time help in the library who are studying to be able to go back as trained helpers for their people. There is a certain seriousness about it all that I had not expected to find simply because, I suppose, the tourist side of the Islands is what one hears about, and not the home side.

§§ALAMEDA FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY. Mrs. Marcella H. Krauth, Lib'n.

At the library board meeting of September 27, Charles W. Griffin, the new member named to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Geo. W. Mastick, was appointed to the finance committee.

Children's Book Week at the Library, November 15 to 20 inclusive, was an unqualified success. The churches, schools, Sunday schools and clubs entered into the spirit of the affair and advertised it so extensively that many children who had never visited the library before were on hand during the week. Many of these children have joined the library and will be in attendance at the story hour. During the week several talks on children's reading were given by request. The circulation for the past three months is the largest for the same period in the history of the library.

MARCELLA H. KRAUTH, Lib'n.

Berkeley.

§§BERKELEY [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY. Carlton B. Joeckel, Lib'n.

Miss Lydia Love, who has been a member of the library staff since 1915, resigned on January 1, 1921. Miss Love will be married on February 5, 1921, to Mr. Thurston W. Taylor.

Miss Mary Cooper has been appointed a Junior Assistant on the staff.

NEWMAN CLUB LIBRARY. W. H. Conlin, Chairman Library Committee. Miss M. D. Bloomer, Lib'n.

Five hundred and forty-nine volumes were added to the library during the year 1919-20, making the total number of books in the library on August 1 of this year, 4674.

During the first week in December the Library Committee of the Alumni Council, headed by Miss Priscilla Cavaganaro, held a Rummage Sale in Oakland for the benefit of the library. Over three hundred dollars was realized for the purchase of books.

M. D. BLOOMER, Lib'n.

§§§UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA LIBRARY. J. C. Rowell, Lib'n Emeritus; Harold L. Leupp, Lib'n.

University of California Library School.

Mrs. Alice Whitbeck, N. Y. L. S. 1902-03, formerly children's librarian of the Berkeley Public Library, and now librarian of the Contra Costa County Free Library, will begin on January 15 a series of eight weekly lectures on library work with children.

Beginning January 13, twelve Thursday morning lectures on the organization and administration of High School libraries will be given by Miss Helen Price, librarian of the University High School, Oakland.

Miss Louise B. Krause, Librarian of H. M. Byllesby & Co., Chicago, is coming to California in February to deliver a course of lectures at the Riverside Library Service School. At the close of her Riverside engagement toward the end of March, Miss Krause will come to Berkeley to deliver a series of six lectures on The Business Library.

Arrangements were made with the Berkeley Public Library, the University High School Library and the Alameda County Free Library for supervised practice work by some of the students during the Christmas holidays. The cooperation of these libraries and of the State Library renders possible a very satisfactory program of practice work.

HAROLD L. LEUPP, Lib'n.

Hayward.

HAYWARD [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY AND BRANCH, ALAMEDA CO. FREE LIBRARY. Mrs Elizabeth Creelman, Lib'n.

We have to record the passing away, in October, 1920, of Charles P. Van Dyke who was for many years associated with the Hayward Public Library as a trustee. Thomas Bartlett Russell was appointed to succeed him.

The basement of the library has been fitted up as a meeting place for the Veterans of the Civil War who meet once every month.

The library is to have installed a large glass showcase in which to exhibit treasures of all kinds: A place where the children may bring their curios, coins, butterflies, etc., and a place where anyone possessing articles of interest and of educational value may, for a time, share them with the public. We have some very interesting collections from which to draw, some from the ends of the world as well as relics of old California days. Just now are available two fine collections of colored photographs of the wild flowers of California, a duplicate of one of which is to be installed as a permanent exhibit in the Academy of Science, San Francisco.

We have now on permanent exhibition a case of butterflies caught within a radius of five miles of Hayward, and classified by one of our high school boys. It is a constant source of interest not only to the children but to their elders as well.

able in quarterly installments) is to be spent in keeping up the H. D. W. Gibson Memorial Library housed in the Melrose Branch.

The Vernon Rockridge Improvement Club held a successful theater party for the benefit of the Rockridge Library Book Fund. Over $800 was raised and a committee consisting of Mr Pease, President of the Club, Mr Greene, Miss Nye, chief of Branch Department, and Miss Davies, Librarian of Rockridge, has been appointed to purchase the books.

The librarians in Oakland, (Public, County, School, Medical, Law, Mills College and others), have established "The Oakland Library Council," which meets the third Tuesday of each month for luncheon at the Hotel Harrison. The purpose of these meetings is for general fellowship. No set program is planned, but there is generally fifteen or twenty minutes of general discussion on one general topic. Mr Greene was elected Chairman and Elsie Schaufier (Oakland Free Library), Secretary.

The periodical contract for 1921 has been awarded to Hardy's Bookstore.

Children's Book Week was observed by the Children's Room in the Library and by the Branches. Capwell's Book Department devoted a table to titles selected by the library, with a large sign "Books Recommended by the Oakland Free Library." Members of the staff spent a part of the afternoon on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday assisting customers in the selection of children's books.

The Settlement Station has been moved to the Tompkins School immediately adjoining the Settlement House, and will in the future be known as the Tompkins Station. It will be in charge of the teachers of the school and will be open every schoolday from 3 to 3.30 p.m.

Miss Burges, Librarian at West Oakland Branch, has been appointed "Historian" of the "Parent-Teachers' Association" of the Prescott District. The West Oakland Branch is a vital part of all the community work in that district. A class for "New Americans" in English is held every school morning at the Branch.

All the auditoriums in the Carnegie Branches are well used. Club meetings are held in all of them two or three evenings of each week.

Miss Florence E. Browne, Chief of the Children's Department, returned January 1, after an eight months tour of Europe.

Civil Service Examinations have been held for Library Substitute, resulting in an eligible list of fourteen, all of whom have been appointed, for Library Assistant, Library First Assistant, and for Museum Assistant. Examinations have been called for Museum First Assistant on January 7, 1921 and Library Bookmender on January 20, 1921.

Appointments for Library Assistant from the Civil Service eligible list have been made as follows: Katherine I. Gray to Dimond Branch, (previously holding this position by temporary appointment), Ruth E. Weeks to West Oakland Branch, Olive Hartley to East Oakland Branch, delegated to Branch Department, vice Louise J. Harriss, resigned, and Leila Paine Dunevitz, to the Golden Gate Branch. Nydine Snow was appointed Museum Assistant and Elsie W. Leclert First Assistant in the Children's Department. Both Miss Snow and Mrs Leclert had been holding temporary appointments for these positions, pending Civil Service examinations.

A staff election was held on December 29 to elect new officers for the Staff Association. Isabel Curtis was elected chairman, Florence E. Browne, representing Department Chiefs; Leona Alexander, Nettie V. Morgan, Marguerite E. Rodgers, Ruth Cralle, and Minnie Spilman, representing First Assistants, Branch Librarians, Assistants, Substitutes, and Bookmenders, respectively.

A fire occurred in the Alden Branch on the evening of December 23, probably caused by defective furnace flues. Considerable damage was done to the building and about two hundred books were destroyed or badly damaged. The loss will amount to nearly $3000.

The School Department, due to insufficient appropriation, has been forced to discontinue its appropriation to the Library Department for the Museum lecture service.

Mr John Rowley has resigned his position as director of the Oakland Museum, to take the position of Chief of Exhibits in the Museum of History, Science and Art in Los Angeles. The Simson collection of African fauna has been lost to Oakland and goes with Mr Rowley to Los Angeles. This is because Oakland has not moved fast enough in the matter of providing a suitable building, as required by Mr Simson. Mr Snow, who was with Mr Simson in Africa, has parted from him, and is making a separate collection, which may yet come to Oakland.

Miss Mott, First Assistant in the Museum, has been delegated to take charge until a Director has been appointed.

CHAS. S. GREENE, Lib'n.

OAKLAND TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY. Philip M. Fisher, Prin. Evelyn A. Steel, Lib'n.

The library staff has been increased by the appointment of a second trained librarian, Miss Florence Baker, a graduate of the University of California Library's Summer Course with several years experience in the University Library and the public schools. Miss Beulah Haulman was appointed to fill the new position of Book Clerk, to handle the distribution of 20,000 free textbooks under the supervision of the librarian. Plans for the new library have been completed and approved and it is hoped that construction will commence in the spring. The new reading room will accommodate 120 students, with two large study rooms adjoining, which will hold 150 more. This wing will thus become the study unit of the building with the library as the center of a department of study and reference. In addition to the main room there will be an office for the librarian, a work room, conference room and class room for instruction in the use of the library. A receiving store room on the ground floor connects with the work room by dumb waiter.

Children's Book Week was observed by the County Library in three branches. Book exhibits were prepared for the Arcata, Fortuna and Ferndale branches and were maintained for the full week. We were assisted in this by the Humboldt State Normal School. Excellent posters were made by the Art Department of that school and the library loaned us a number of books. The librarians in charge reported that much interest was taken in the exhibits by both parents and children, and we have received many requests for books that were on display. On Thursday of that week the county librarian spoke before the assembly of the Winship Grammar School of Eureka, on the subject "Books for the home library."

December 6, the county librarian addressed the Arcata Women's Club on "New and important books of the year."

Mrs Jane Hall was appointed custodian of the Holtville Branch to take the place of Mrs Ida Robinson. We are very fortunate indeed to have Mrs Hall as she worked for a number of years under Mrs Beeman and has had library training. She took up the work at Holtville November 1. The Brawley custodian now is Mrs J. N. Hawley. At the Alamo Branch Mrs A. E. Sloane has taken the place of Mrs V. R. Peterson; the address is Holtville, R. R. A, Box 70.

Library service is being given to four High Schools this year—Calexico, El Centro, Holtville and Imperial.

A number of pictures of the best in art have been purchased and framed in adjustable frames so that the frames may be kept at the schools and the pictures exchanged. This saves shipping glass framed pictures and is a most satisfactory arrangement to teachers. We allow one picture to a school at present. These are large wall pictures.

INYO CO. FREE LIBRARY, INDEPENDENCE. Miss Anne Margrave, Lib'n.

The county librarian attended the meetings of the Inyo County Teachers' Institute at Bishop, Oct. 25-27. All the elementary schools of the county are served by the library and all are taking advantage of that service.

The Bishop Chamber of Commerce held a Community Institute on Nov. 17 and 18, at which the resources and advantages of Owens Valley were presented. The county librarian was given the opportunity of discussing the county library before a very representative group of business men and club women.

At their November meeting, the supervisors established a branch at Haiwee. This is a very small and very isolated community, and the small collection of books is greatly appreciated. V. H. Dinsmore is the custodian. A new branch is in immediate prospect at Shoshone, with Mrs Charles Brown as custodian. Here there are seventy-five or more people.

Miss Bessa Robinson, faithful and cheery custodian of the Big Pine Branch, is taking a two months' leave of absence during which Mrs Gladys Cartmell is acting as her substitute.

At the suggestion of the Board of Supervisors, the Grand Jury recommended that the salary of the county librarian be raised by law to $125 a month.

It was necessary that the Kern County Free Library be closed to the public for nearly one month. At a meeting of the Board of Library Trustees October 14, they decided to change the guarantee system and instead of requiring the cards to be signed by a taxpayer, to have them signed by either a taxpayer or some resident of the city whose name is in either city or telephone directory.

Miss Phyllis Freeman of the East Bakersfield Branch Library resigned November 10, to take a position in the Los Angeles Public Library. The vacancy was filled by Miss Florence Webb, formerly librarian of the Woodland Public Library.

The Children's Department of the Beale Memorial Library was closed six days for repairs, which cut the circulation for December. Children's Book Week was celebrated in both the Children's Library and the East Bakersfield Branch Library. We had received a large shipment of children's books a few days before so the exhibit was unusually interesting.

The circulation of the Beale Memorial Library and branches for the quarter was 41,205; that of the main library being 23,489, divided between 11,505 for the adult department and 11,984 for the children's department, and that of the East Bakersfield Branch being 17,716. The work has increased so materially that it has been necessary to give one of our assistants full time instead of half time as heretofore.

A community branch was established at the Dallas school October 13. Miss Edith Adams was made custodian.

The Corcoran Branch was moved to new quarters in December. The change is a great improvement as the branch was formerly located in one small room upstairs and the new building provides a very pleasant reading room and also store rooms and a small room which is to be furnished as a children's room.

Miss Florence Meldrim was granted leave of absence to attend the Riverside Library Service School.

HANFORD FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY AND BRANCH, KINGS CO. FREE LIBRARY. Miss Mildred Schaer, Lib'n.

During Children's Book Week an exhibit of new and particularly attractive books for the children, kept in the reading room, proved to be very popular with both the children and adults.

The supply of Portuguese books of the State Library having been exhausted by the people of this community, it seemed wise to start such a collection of our own. While it is rather difficult, at the present time, to secure books from Portugal still a beginning has been made, and it is hoped that from time to time the collection will be increased.

It has been gratifying to watch the steady increase in circulation. While December was a remarkable month, showing a circulation of 4849, still January has been exceedingly busy and indications are that the circulation will reach at least the 5000 mark.

By action of the Board of Supervisors a new salary schedule granting a raise of 20 to 40 per cent for all county employees went into effect July 1, 1920. Los Angeles County is one of the few counties in the state that are governed by a county charter which centralizes authority in the Board of Supervisors.

Miss Jacobus, the President of the club presided at the meeting, held in the Juvenile Department of the library. After a greeting by Mrs Temple, the Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Mr Daniels of Riverside, gave a delightful talk on "Library Progress" emphasizing the idea that real library progress is what the library accomplishes in promoting a spirit of goodwill and fellowship in the community in which it is located. Mrs Danford spoke of the librarian's opportunity to win the confidence of her readers and to help them solve their problems. She spoke of the library as being a supplement to the church. Mr Cushing of Tropicó branch of the Glendale library spoke of the benefits of consolidation. Interesting questions were brought up and discussed at the Round Table conducted by Mrs Mancker. A delightful lunch followed the program after which the guests were given a drive through the beautiful town of Glendale.

The annual exhibit of books suitable for Christmas gifts to children was shown in the Children's Room for about two months before Christmas. Lists by grades were distributed; and the library also gave out lists of books on sale in the local bookstores that were endorsed by the library as good gift books for children.

During "Good Books Week," the library gave a reception to parents in the Children's Room, and Mrs Gladys Case of the Los Angeles Public Library spoke on the importance of care in choosing books for children. Miss Els'e Brown gave readings.

The Burnett Branch is temporarily closed because no suitable quarters can be rented. It is probable that the library

The Art Gallery showed in October and November a very good collection of paintings by modern artists. They were loaned by Miss Augusta Senter, Mr and Mrs William Preston Harrison, and the County Museum of Art. Following this was an exhibit of charming water colors by Howell C. Brown. They represented mainly scenes in the Southwest, the land of desert and cliff-dweller. The most recent exhibit in the Art Gallery is a collection of paintings, mainly portraits, by John H. Rich. The art treasures of the library have been greatly increased by a very generous gift from Mr and Mrs Frank B. Sturge of Long Beach. They have presented to the library two large Satsuma vases and a plaque and some rare and valuable Chinese vases of large size. They have also given several beautiful paintings, which quite transform the walls of the reading rooms.

During the quarter Miss Genevieve Drake and Miss Jeannette Tegarden resigned from the staff. New members added to the staff are Miss Alice F. Muench, from the New York Public Library; Miss Harriet H. Windrem, from the Pomona Library; and Miss Dorothy Bastin, from the San Bernardino County Library.

The beautiful west side residential district which has been requesting a branch library for a number of years, is now being cared for through the recently created Wilshire Branch on Hobart Boulevard at Second Street. Mrs Emily Jackson, formerly Principal of the Periodical Department of the central library and a woman of wide cultivation, travel and gracious presence, has been appointed librarian and finds her branch growing rapidly.

The Los Angeles Public Library, after careful consideration, has decided to drop the colon numbers on nonfiction, changing from the arbitrary arrangement of books in sequence of purchase to the alphabetical system by use of Cutter numbers. In the Fiction Department Cutter numbers have been done away with and author and title substituted. The latest model multigraph machine has been installed in order to make the change as orderly and quickly as possible.

The contract for periodicals for 1921 has been awarded to the Sunset Subscription Agency. This library now subscribes for 871 magazines and 52 newspapers.

The Civil Service examination for Principal Attendants was taken and successfully passed by Miss Katharine P. Ferris, Miss Caroline S. Beck, and Miss Glyde Maynard. Miss Ferris has been appointed Principal Attendant in the General Literature Department, Miss Beck has accepted the same position in the Catalogue Department and Miss Maynard in the School and Teachers' Room.

The appointment of Miss Mabel Ella Evans, formerly of the Rockford, Ill., Public Library, as children's librarian of the Boyle Heights Branch has been a genuine acquisition to the service of this Carnegie Branch.

Miss Estelle Bridge, Library School of the Los Angeles Public Library, 1920, has accepted a position in the Registration and Loan Department. Miss Elizabeth Ellsworth, for four years a member of the staff, resigned on November 30th to marry Mr Herbert Eggleston of Hollywood.

Miss Grace Lawrence, Library School of the Los Angeles Public Library, 1917, and staff member of the Science and Industry Department, was married on Thanksgiving Day in the Stanford Memorial Library to Mr Newcomb Condee, Supervisor of Vocational Education, Monterey. Mrs Condee left for New York December 29 to fill a position in the Economics Division of the New York Public Library, which she had accepted before her marriage.

The Board of Directors of the Los Angeles Public Library made a concentrated and forceful effort to have bonds for a new library building appear on the November ballot, but the City Council's rejection of all bond issues postponed the campaign until a later date.

Mrs Nancy Vaughan, Library School of the Los Angeles Public Library, 1920, resigned a position in the Research division of Bullock's Department Store to become an attendant in the Science and Industry Department.

The semiannual raises in salaries came as a Christmas present to the staff and an encouragement for a bright and busy New Year.

Mr Ernest Dawson acted as an agent for this library during a recent trip to Mexico, picking up rare material for the library's rich Spanish collection. In addition to the single volumes and sets which he was commissioned to acquire if possible, he gave the library first selection from his private purchases.

Notable among many valuable acquisitions is a 92 volume set, Coleccion del Diario de los Debates de la Camara de Deputade Completa and Coleccion de leyes Mexicanas in 52 volumes.

CALIFORNIA SOCIETY SONS OF THE REVOLUTION (REPOSITORY OF THE SOUTHWEST) AND CALIFORNIA SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS LIBRARY. Pierson W. Banning, Vice Pres. Prof Walter Sylvester Hertzog, Lib'n.

Our calendar year 1920 was the most successful in membership gains in our history, with 118 additional members admitted, breaking all records for our organization throughout the United States for the year.

Our Library we have not pushed as vigorously as our membership, but have added several hundred volumes by gift. We began a campaign to raise $2500 for purchase of books, most of which has been received and many volumes have been ordered that are beginning to arrive. We are specializing in genealogies and local histories.

Many visitors from the east are coming to our library daily. Old faces reappear who have dropped in from year to year. They all speak of the increase in number of volumes, and to the surprise of many they many times find here what they are unable to secure in other parts of the country.

Financially we are in the best condition in our history. Our Life Membership Fund, in the hands of the Trustees is materially added to as we had more Life Memberships taken out this past year than ever before.

The 1921 Roster of the Society is in the course of preparation. More than 1000 copies of it will be distributed to societies, libraries, etc. throughout the country. An interest has been aroused in the work of the Society locally that has never before existed, both from the library standpoint as well as from membership inquiries.

§POMONA [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY. Miss Sarah M. Jacobus, Lib'n.

The Historical collection has received the papers and other records of the old Pomona Gun Club, which flourished here twenty years ago. Another gift is the scrapbook of Red Cross newspaper clippings for the period of the war.

Children's Book Week was observed with displays of books at the Main Library and at the Branch. Posters were put up quite widely throughout the city. The bookstores cooperated by window displays of the books on our recommended list. The papers gave considerable space to children's reading. We think that more adults than last year studied our exhibit with reference to the needs of their own children. The local bookstores report a slight amount of inquiry for the listed books, but not at all extensive.

The usual lessons in the use of the library have been given classes in the public schools. Owing to the great number of newcomers, the library has temporarily relaxed its rules for registration, allowing the attendants to use their judgment about persons not technically qualified for membership.

Miss Harriet Windrem resigned December 11, to take a place in the Long Beach Library. Miss Betty Niswander has taken leave of absence to be married, but expects to return to work in January. Miss Windrem's place is not yet filled.

Like many smaller libraries the funds are not sufficient for the books we need. Perhaps other libraries may be helped to some extent by what we have done this Christmas.

A few weeks before Christmas I planned to have the usual Christmas book exhibit and wished to have some attractive books to show but our own copies were worn and to have this display we should have new books. There being no bookstore in our city I started a bookshop in my office. I sent to one of the book stores in Los Angeles for about fifty well illustrated children's books. We sold these to the people of Huntington Beach and received a certain discount for selling. This money we used in buying children's books for the library. We reordered twice as the business was beyond expectations.

We have organized an Orange County Library Club. Before the Orange County Fair there was a meeting of the Orange County librarians called together to make plans for the exhibit for the Fair. Santa Ana being more central than Huntington Beach the meeting was held in the Santa Ana Library and we were guests of Miss McFadden for lunch. At this meeting we decided to start an organization of county library workers. Nothing was done that day but a few plans were suggested and Miss Maxwell of Fullerton invited us to Fullerton to organize. Election Day being a legal holiday, many of the librarians could attend and we were invited to be Miss Maxwell's guests. The following was written for the Santa Ana Register:

LIBRARY CLUB FORMED IN THE COUNTY.

With the object of giving the public better service, of working out more systematic means of advertising and of bringing books before the people, the Orange County Library Club has been organized, with Miss Minnie Maxwell of Fullerton as President and Miss Bertha D. Proctor of Huntington Beach secretary-treasurer. The organization meeting was held in the reference room of the Fullerton Library. Miss Maxwell acted as hostess. Library workers from Orange County and Whittier were present. There was a general discussion of library management and the meeting was declared a pronounced success. Whittier librarians were invited, owing to the city's proximity to Orange County. It was decided to hold meetings quarterly, with the understanding that more frequent meetings will be held if thought best. The next meeting will be held at Whittier, with Miss Jessie Harris as hostess. After the business meeting the visitors were invited to Miss Maxwell's home where a delicious luncheon was served by the library workers and the library board of the Fullerton Public Library.

Those present were: Miss J. E. Calnon, Miss F. A. Swerdfeger, Anaheim; Miss Clara Field, Mrs Field, Miss Flora Palmer, Orange; Miss Jeannette McFad-

There have been two changes in custodianship during the quarter. On Oct. 1, Miss Julia Putney resigned as custodian of Elk Grove Branch, and Mrs E. L. Coons was appointed in her place. On Oct. 28, Mrs Hattie B. Morrison, custodian of the Folsom Branch, resigned, and Miss Lotta Levy was appointed for six months, beginning Nov. 1. Both Miss Putney and Mrs Morrison have given faithful and conscientious service to their respective branches and it was with regret that their resignations were accepted.

An event of unusual interest and pleasure was the visit paid to the County Library by Miss Lillian Gunter and Miss Rebecca Royall of Texas, from November 8 to December 9. Miss Gunter and Miss Royall came out from Texas to study the methods of the county library system, Texas having recently established a county library system based upon that of California. During their stay in the state, Miss Gunter and Miss Royall visited a number of the county libraries.

On Oct. 19, the County Librarian attended the Solano County Teachers' Institute at Fairfield, and spoke briefly upon "Children's Reading."

On the evening of October 25, the Civic Club of Galt tendered a reception to the County Home Demonstration Agent, the Farm Advisor and the County Librarian, all of whom addressed the Club upon subjects directly pertaining to their individual work in the county, after which refreshments were served, and the guests were given the opportunity of meeting and of becoming acquainted with the members of the Club and the citizens of Galt, and of enjoying a very pleasant evening.

Oct. 26 to 29, the County Superintendent of Schools held a series of four Institutes in different sections of the county, at each of which the Home Demonstration Agent, the Farm Advisor and the County Librarian spoke to the teachers and residents of the county upon their work as related to the schools. Many questions were asked and answered, and it was felt that these informal institutes were of very real and mutual value and service.

On Nov. 13, the County Librarian attended a joint meeting of the First and Second Districts of the C. L. A., held at the Normal School at San Jose and on Dec. 4, a meeting of the Ninth District at the Chico Normal School at Chico, at which, as President of the C. L. A., she presented a brief survey of the library work in the state, with especial emphasis upon the needs and opportunities for courses in library training. Miss Gunter and Miss Royall, of Texas, attended the meeting also, and Miss Gunter gave a most interesting survey of the present status and future possibilities of the county library work in Texas.

During the quarter, the County Librarian delivered the following addresses: October 15, Meeting of the Third District of the Parent-Teachers' Association "The Far Horizon"; October 22, Dry Creek Parent-Teachers' Association—The County Library and its Work; November 19, Fair Oaks Parent-Teachers' Association—Children's Reading; November 22, Sacramento County Teachers' Institute—Poetry; November 23, Sacramento County Teachers' Institute—Story-telling; December 10, Sylvan Club—The County Library in its Work with Rural Communities.

During the quarter branches were established in the following school districts—Brown, Dry Creek Joint, Freeport, Lincoln, Oulton, Rhoads, Riverside and Wilson. A branch was also established in the office of the Home Demonstration Agent in Sacramento.

The new board of supervisors is composed of C. S. Crain, C. E. Grier, G. F. Biggin, M. B. Cheney and A. G. Kendall, chairman.

Headquarters of the San Bernardino County Free Library have been moved to the lower floor of the Court House, where four rooms with a basement for a storage and shipping room including a small fumigating room off from it have been fitted up for the use of the library. This gives the library, not including the basement which is a room about 16 by 30, 1542 square feet of floor space.

During the quarter a branch was established in the Ludlow school district. Victor Valley Union High School joined the County Free Library November 3, 1920. This High School has about 45 pupils and 7 teachers. The library fund of $500 was turned over to the County Free Library. The County Free Library agrees for this year to furnish supplementary service and to classify and catalog their library of about 1200 books.

§§SAN DIEGO [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY. Mrs H. P. Davison, Lib'n Emeritus; Miss Althea H. Warren, Lib'n.

An appropriation of $60,000 has been secured for 1921. A budget of $70,000 was asked and a committee of a dozen tax payers including the president of the chamber of commerce and presidents of a number of business organizations, banks and women's clubs signed a petition urging the common council to grant this increase. Articles in the newspapers, letters to councilmen, and the petition were effective in securing $10,000 more than last year although the new branch and greater book fund hoped for were not granted. Since the city tax rate as a whole was cut and by the charter the library might have been reduced to $48,000, the outcome is comforting if not ecstatic. The park department was given a 50 per cent increase, the operating department, 33 per cent, and the police and library departments each 25 per cent. Most of the other departments received no increase and several were seriously cut.

A revised salary classification based upon the recommendations of the C. L. A. adopted at Riverside in May, 1920, has been passed by the Board of Library Trustees. Because the common council has appointed a committee to standardize all city salaries and the library's schedule is higher than the recommendations of this committee, there has been a delay in putting this classification into effect. The city attorney has ruled, however, that the Board of Library Trustees has the right to set the compensations of its employees so that the chances for the council's approval of the library's payroll seem good. It provides a raise of $20 or $15 for every full-time employee, sets a minimum of $90 for senior assistants and a minimum above the state minimum wage law rate for junior assistants and apprentices. Salary increases move in three years from the minimum to the

The annual circulation of the year 1920 was 675,015 volumes. This includes the periodical circulation of 34,626, the picture circulation of 6336 and a pamphlet circulation of 305. The gain of 74,918 books over 1919 was made with no additions to the centres or forms of service and in spite of the loss of twenty camp deposits. More than a third of the growth was in the main library but each of the five branches circulated from 1300 to 13,000 books more than last year. The University Heights Branch made the largest growth, due partly to the change in its location and partly to the effective work of Miss Anna Allsebrook, its new librarian. The circulation is now distributed as follows: 54.3 per cent at the main library and children's annex, 26.6 per cent through the five branches, and 18.9 per cent through the sixty deposit stations.

The library employees have formed an organization to settle the exciting and recurrent debate on what to give for staff wedding presents, to buy flowers for staff members who are ill, plan picnics, and collect monies for similar common expenses. It likewise discusses and brings to the attention of the librarian and library trustees any matters needing adjustment in the way of staff regulations. Miss Irma Brink was elected president, Miss Lena B. Hunzicker, secretary, and Miss Catherine C. Smith, treasurer. The following petition was presented last fall and was granted by the Board of Library Trustees:

"Whereas, the San Diego Public Library does not close on all legal holidays and election days (as provided for by section 10 of the Political Code of California, and the San Diego City Charter) and also such days as are declared special holidays by the mayor and observed by the city hall and other city departments, we, the staff of the San Diego Public Library, do hereby respectfully request that the time be allowed to library employees who work on these days; such time to be applied either on sick leave, or to be taken at the discretion of the principal in charge of each department."

Our library is now occupying quarters with the Jas. Hugh Wise Library which is the Official Library of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. The location is at the headquarters of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, 445 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

The Gas Association Library contains nothing but technical books particularly pertaining to the gas industry and of its kind it is no doubt the best equipped library on the coast.

The Jas. Hugh Wise Library contains books of various kinds, fiction and technical. The consolidation of these two libraries thus makes a very useful unit for the employees of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and the members of the Pacific Coast Gas Association.

During the quarter, the interest has continued and increased in building up a San Francisco historical collection in the custody of the Sutro Branch. Single items that have come in from various sources have helped to complete the broken files of early San Francisco publications. The part of the collection of the late Mrs E. M. North-Whitcomb which was turned over by her daughter, Mrs J. J. McDonald, promises to have value in this same way.

To the Library of the Astronomical Society of the Pacific was added by gift from the duplicates at the Lick Observatory Library, a large quantity of unbound material which takes the Society's files back many years in several cases.

The California Genealogical Society Library has been added to along many lines greatly needed for the work of its members. Several important New York sets have been purchased and very welcome items have come in by purchase or gift on New Hampshire and Connecticut.

July 1, Mrs A. M. Swett became custodian of Lockeford Branch Library, succeeding Mr L. R. Busby. The Library is pleasantly located in the ice cream parlor of the custodian where the community has access to the books at any time.

September 9, Robbins and Young purchased the Manteca store formerly owned by Mr J. M. Toomey, where the library has been located. Owing to the growth of the population at Manteca, more commodious quarters were imperative and through our cooperation with the Parent-Teacher Association, we were very fortunate in locating it in the City Hall Building. A meeting of the Parent Teacher Association was attended at Manteca where a very interesting literary and musical program was given. Plans for the new location of the Library were also discussed.

Mr E. W. Bidwell, for many years custodian of the Escalon Branch Library, retired from business and it was necessary to secure a new location. On Dec. 20, the Library was moved to the office of the "Escalon Exponent," where the editor Mrs Brasher will be in charge.

The San Joaquin Branch was re-established during the quarter, with Mrs H. A. Dennis as custodian. Branches were also established during the quarter in the French Camp, Linden and Wheatland school districts. This makes a total of 30 school districts affiliated with the county library.

The Newark charging system in its simplest form is now well in the running after a period of three months' transition from a system of temporary book checks made out by the borrower. Only the active books are being prepared. While work on the fiction is nearly complete, the nonfiction, because of its greater variety, of turnover, will require a longer period. For the sake of uniformity in filing, all unprepared books leaving the library (about 10 per cent) are being issued on temporary slips of the same size as the permanent charging cards. These books are corralled as they return from circulation and equipped with plain manilla pockets (used also as date slips) and 2 by 5 charging cards. Each borrower now has only one card, on which fiction charges are distinguished from nonfiction charges by relative location. e.g. Fiction is stamped from top down; nonfiction, from the bottom up, thus minimizing unused space. The number of nonfiction loaned to an individual is no longer limited.

A branch station has been established at the headquarters of the Associated Oil Company, which has worked up a system for getting industrial books into the hands of its employees both at headquarters and at service stations.*

SANTA CLARA CO. FREE LIBRARY, SAN JOSE. Miss Stella Huntington, Lib'n.

Miss Elizabeth Stevens has been east for two months during the last quarter. She visited libraries all along the way from Ohio on to New York, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago, and many small libraries, then finished up with the Los Angeles Public Library. Miss Isabelle Moore has been ill since October 1, but we hope to have her back by the first of February. Miss Marguarete Blain, our substitute, took Miss Stevens' place and Miss Louise Oreglia of Santa Cruz substituted for Miss Moore.

Mrs Simons, Miss Beattie, Miss Oreglia, Miss Walker and Miss Huntington attended the Second District meeting at the San Jose Normal Library on November 13.

Two more schools have joined the library, Llagas and San Felipe, leaving only three of the schools in the county that do not belong to the County Library.

The W. R. C. Home at Evergreen was burned in October and the old ladies were moved to a new cottage on the State Hospital grounds at Agnew. A branch of the county library was opened there on November 10.

The San Tomas School district has joined Campbell and the children are served there, but Mrs George Schuyler has taken charge of a small branch at her house to serve the grown people of the community.

Normal School was visiting the rural schools here in the county so we went with her and Mrs Horn, the Superintendent of Schools. The longest trip was made by machine over in Butte Valley. We were gone three days and in that time visited nine schools and traveled about three hundred miles.

The first of November the librarian was absent for a few days while on a trip into Trinity County.

The librarian attended the meeting of the Ninth District of the California Library Association in Chico, December 4.

At the December meeting of the Board of Supervisors a resolution was passed to allow salaries to all custodians of branches circulating more than a hundred books a month.

December 13 the new room allowed us by the Board of Supervisors was ready for occupancy, so we moved in with the assistance of a couple of men from the jail. The new room is simply a stack room for books. It is a great relief to have this extra space.

We now have the Teachers' Library in the County Library rooms. The books of a pedagogical or educational nature are shelved in the office in the section next to the one containing the sample texts.

Miss Wheeler, first assistant, was in Grant's Pass to have her eyes treated about the first of December. Miss Nellie Cowan, assistant, spent the holidays in Sacramento.

Mrs Hammond is now custodian at the Dorris Branch. She took charge the first of the year.

The Mayten Branch of the Siskiyou Union High School has joined the County Free Library. Mrs Edna Newbert Moore is the principal.

During Children's Book Week there was an exhibit of good books for children held in the main library. This was later taken to branches in the county, Oakdale and Ceres, and before being disassembled will be shown at others. At Ceres the county librarian addressed the Parent-Teachers' Association and their friends on November 16, using for her subject "Come let us live with our children—in books," and telling of the many delightful books which parents can share with their young folks. At intervals through the lecture the titles of well-known books were illustrated by children from various grades of the school. There were a dozen characters from Mother Goose as well as Mother Goose herself in tableaux. Uncle Remus, the little boy, Brer Rabbit and the Tar Baby were shown. A Little Women group and The Courtship of Miles Standish, in honor of the Mayflower Tercentenary, punctuated books for older children. There was a banner attendance at the meeting. In fact, a prize, a school banner, was given the grade bringing the largest number of relatives.

Addresses made by the county librarian during the quarter were: "The county library and the farmer" at the October meeting of the Stanislaus County Farm Bureau Directors, October 6; "The County Free Library" at Mitchell Farm Center, October 12; "Library service for all the people" at Central district, October 28; "County library buildings" at a mass meeting at Patterson, November 17. An informal talk was made at the assembly period at Newman High School on "Music in the county library," October 15.

In December the librarian of the Madera County Free Library, Miss Mary Glock, and the librarian of the Merced County Free Library, Miss Winifred Bigley, were visitors at the library. They came up to confer with Miss Silverthorn concerning library service for the Tri-county Tubercular Hospital at Ahwahnee. Miss Bess Ranton, librarian of the Amador County Free Library, was a visitor to the library November 27.

The Montepellier Branch was moved from the home of Mrs Young to that of Mrs Lillian Ogden in December. Since Mrs Young is moving to another town, Mrs Ogden will be the custodian. Mrs Harriet Topping, custodian of the Denair Branch, enjoyed a vacation in the east during September. Mrs Margaret C. Lankard acted as substitute during Mrs Topping's absence.

During the quarter branches were established in the Central and Union school districts.

BESSIE B. SILVERTHORN, Lib'n.

There is almost $8000 now in the fund for the Carnegie library building at Patterson. Plans have been approved for the building which will be approximately 30 by 50 feet over all, with arrangements whereby an extra reading room, 18 by 15 feet, may be added in the rear without disarranging the building. The main floor of the building will be devoted to the reading and delivery room with an entrance vestibule. The basement will be arranged for the handling of books and will contain lavatories and space which may be fitted up for meeting rooms or such purposes. An outdoor reading room will be placed in the angle between the main building and the proposed extension. Building plans will be rushed.—Modesto News, N 27

Boynton, Lib'n.

The principal event of the last quarter was the observation of Children's Book Week. The library obtained letters from a number of men of local importance, telling of their youthful favorites in the book world, and these books, so far as they could be obtained, were placed on exhibit in a downtown store. With these we exhibited the most beautiful of the new books for children. The whole exhibit was rendered more attractive by the use of posters with Jessie Wilcox Smith cover illustrations, and advocating the purchase of books as Christmas presents. The newspaper published the letters as well as the text of a talk given by the librarian before the Ebell Club. Nine lists of books suggested as Christmas gifts were printed in bright colored covers for distribution. These lists covered such subjects as "Books that cost $1 or less," "Beautifully illustrated expensive gift books," "Books for the little ones," etc. We took advantage of this occasion to add about seventy-five new titles, carefully chosen from selected lists, to the children's collection. The librarian gave a talk before the Parent-Teachers' Association on Children's books and reading.

We have bought a number of chairs of kindergarten size to make the children's quarters more attractive to the youthful readers.

DIRECTORY FOR LIBRARY SUPPLIES AND OTHER ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Many public libraries waste a great deal of time and money before they find good places to get supplies. The plan is to give all libraries the benefit of the experience of the older libraries of the State by listing under different heads the houses that have been found to give satisfaction, the names and addresses being furnished by the older and larger libraries of California. In this way suggestions will be given as to where different sorts of books may be bought, where books may be rebound or periodicals bound, where library furniture may be bought, etc., both in California and in the East.

If any information is needed about the firms listed below which can not be obtained from the firms themselves, the names of the libraries recommending the different ones will be sent to any library upon application to the State Library.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The 26th annual meeting will be held at Tahoe Tavern, Lake Tahoe, June 13 to 15, 1921.

Executive Committee Meeting.

At the meeting of the Executive Committee held December 11, 1920 the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, The shortage of trained workers is a serious handicap to the efficient functioning of county and municipal libraries throughout this state, and

Whereas, The California State Library School, which in January, 1914, was established to meet this need, was discontinued in June, 1920, in order that the full measure of State support should be concentrated in a single agency for professional training, that agency being the State University, and

Whereas, The University Library for two years past has provided this training as an adjunct to its normal activities and without financial provision for the requisite staff of instructors, and

Whereas, The enormous enrollment in the University has resulted in greatly increased demands upon the Library, so that professional training can be continued only at the expense of the service which the officers and students of the University have a right to expect from their Library, and

Whereas, The continuance of this work is a matter of the highest importance not alone to the library profession but also to every tax payer throughout the State of California; for without a trained personnel the library as an institution of popular service can not hope to give an adequate return on the capital therein invested.

Therefore be it resolved, that we, the President and the Executive Committee of the California Library Association, acting for the Association, do hereby place upon record our belief and our earnest desire that the State University should continue to include in its curriculum a course of professional training for librarians, and do respectfully request the State Budget Board to recommend, and the present Legislature to make, an adequate appropriation for the purpose."

The President was authorized to appoint a committee for the purpose of bringing before the library workers, and the state and university authorities the necessity of putting the University of California Library School on a firm financial and professional basis. The members of the special committee are Milton J. Ferguson, chairman, Harold L. Leupp and Cornelia D. Provines.

Certification Committee.

For a suggestion regarding certification, see the statement by Mr Charles S. Greene, chairman of the committee, in this issue, p. 6.

DISTRICT MEETINGS.

First and Second Districts Meeting.

A meeting of the First and Second districts of the Association was held in San Jose, November 13, 1920.

Business sessions, presided over by Miss Helen Evans, President of the Second District, occupied the time of the delegates during the morning, while a mixed program including solos by Miss Winifred, Estabrook, and addresses by Dr W. W. Kemp, president of the San Jose Normal School, and Miss Clara Smith, of the city board of education, marked the afternoon session.

The interval between sessions was given over to a very enjoyable luncheon at the Young Women's Christian Association, at which 48 delegates and friends were seated.

During the morning session the matter of certification of librarians was the subject of discussion by Charles S. Greene, librarian of the Oakland Free library; Milton J. Ferguson, state librarian, and Miss Cornelia D. Provines, President of the Association. In view of the difficulty of certification by law, it was voted that the Executive Committee be requested to release the Certification Committee from presenting a bill to the Legislature.

Carlton B. Joeckel, librarian of the Berkeley public library, presented the following resolution which was adopted without a dissenting vote:

WHEREAS, The Librarians of the First and Second Districts of the California Library Association realize that there is an unprecedented development in libraries in California, and

WHEREAS, Librarians are finding great difficulty in filling vacancies in city, county, high school, normal, and college libraries, and

WHEREAS, The California State Library School, recognizing the University of California as the institution of formal instruction, has discontinued its courses, and

WHEREAS, The courses in Library Science at the University of California have been conducted during the past two years with insufficient support; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Librarians of the First and Second Districts of the California Library Association strongly urge that the University do everything in its power to develop a professional school for librarians at the University of California; and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the University of California, and to the Chairman of the State Board of Control.

Miss Helen Evans was elected Nominator from the Second District, with Chas. F. Woods, as alternate.

Solos by Miss Estabrook opened the afternoon session, the address by Dr Kemp dealt with the teacher training problems, the dearth of teachers in California and in the United States, and the falling off in the number of students and graduates in the normal schools in the state of California. At the same time that attendance at normal schools has fallen off, he noted, that of colleges and universities has increased. From this Dr Kemp inferred that there was something more than salaries at the bottom of the movement—that young people went to the higher institutions of learning because they granted degrees. He held that normal schools should be empowered to grant some such degrees as Bachelor of Education, without, however, making universities of the normal schools, or making them fields for the training of secondary teachers, but rather to keep them as now, centers of training for elementary teachers.

The speaker called attention to the sharp line now drawn between the teachers in the elementary and secondary fields of education, in matter of salaries paid. "The time has come to break down this barrier," declared Dr Kemp, "the line should be drawn on the amount of training received, rather than where that training is employed in teaching."

Discussing the fact that but inadequate reading is done by students, the speaker declared that the curriculum of public schools is so full that the students have neither time nor energy to devote to the proper amount of library reading. At this point he paid a high compliment to the library of the Normal School, which he described as "the loveliest spot in the whole Normal school," and containing an unusually fine selection of books, the best in any Normal school west of the Rocky mountains. High praise was given Miss Evans, the librarian, and her assistant, Miss Estabrook.

Even Normal school students, Dr Kemp went on, discussing the necessity for broader general reading, do not have the best attitude toward books, according to the opinions of superintendents of schools. Partial reason for this was found to be due to the fragmentary topical readings given. The speaker finally insisted that a course of two or three weeks should be given to each student immediately upon entering the Normal school, which would serve to familiarize him with the library, and develop a desirable inclination to "browsing."

Miss Clara Smith, Supervisor of Rural Schools, next addressed the librarians present, pointing out the assistance that might be rendered by the county libraries to the teachers in the rural schools, especially young teachers just out of the Normal school, who approach their task without sufficient social experience, and are faced with many new problems. Miss Smith concluded with a plea for the close personal cooperation of the county librarians with such teachers.

The program was closed with solos by Miss Estabrook, following which tea was served to visiting librarians and their guests.

Ninth District Meeting.

The Ninth District, California Library Association, held its annual meeting December 4, 1920 at the State Normal School in Chico.

The meeting was called to order at 10.30 a.m. by the District President, Miss Maude Middleton. The morning session was devoted to informal discussions on exchange of school books, salaries of assistants and short cuts in cataloging.

After luncheon at Hotel Oaks the afternoon session was opened by an address by C. M. Osenbaugh, President of the Chico Normal School. The President of the Association, Miss Cornelia D. Provines, spoke on topics of interest to the Association.

Miss Lillian Gunther of Gainesville, Texas, told of the pioneer work that is being done in establishing county libraries in Texas and of the inspiration and help received from California.

After a discussion on certification of librarians the following resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, The Librarians of the Ninth District of the California Library Association realize that the certification committee is at present under obligation to present a bill at the coming legislature regarding the certification of librarians, therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Librarians of the Ninth District of the California Library Association go on record as in favor of releasing the certification committee from their obligation of presenting a bill at the coming legislature, if in their judgment it is not advisable to do so; and, further be it

RESOLVED, That copies of this resolution be sent to the President of the Association and to the Chairman of this committee.

Miss Alice Anderson read the resolution passed at the joint meeting of First and Second Districts relative to library instruction in the University of California. The resolution was adopted.

Miss Maude Middleton was unanimously elected nominator for the Ninth District.

A motion was made by Miss Livingston that the secretary be instructed to extend to the State Library greetings from the Ninth District in convention assembled and also our appreciation for the sympathy and interest afforded at all times. This was amended by Miss Anderson to mention especially that the State Library people who were not present were greatly missed. Miss Hewitt seconded it as amended and the motion carried unanimously.

The secretary was also instructed to send an expression of sympathy to Miss Essae Culver who was absent due to the recent death of her mother.

On the motion of Miss Morse a vote of thanks was given to the Chairman for the successful meeting, and to the Chico Public Library, Chico Normal School and to the people of Chico for their hospitality.

ELIZABETH EUBANK,
Secretary.

BOARD OF LIBRARY EXAMINERS, CALIFORNIA

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD.

Milton J. Ferguson, State Librarian, Chairman.

Everett R. Perry, Librarian, Los Angeles Public Library, Secretary.

Robert Rea, Librarian, San Francisco Public Library.

Sections 6 and 7 of the County free library law (Chap. 68, Cal. Statutes 1911) read as follows:

SEC. 6. A commission is hereby created to be known as the board of library examiners, consisting of the state librarian, who shall be ex officio chairman of said board, the librarian of the public library of the city and county of San Francisco, and the librarian of the Los Angeles public library.

SEC. 7. Upon the establishment of a county free library, the board of supervisors shall appoint a county librarian, who shall hold office for the term of four years, subject to prior removal for cause, after a hearing, by said board. No person shall be eligible to the office of county librarian unless, prior to his appointment, he has received from the board of library examiners a certificate of qualification for the office. At the time of his appointment, the county librarian need not be a resident of the county nor a citizen of the State of California.

REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN.

The Board of Library Examiners held an examination in Sacramento, December 22, 1921.

At the meeting held on that day the following change in the rulings of the Board was adopted:

RESOLVED, That on and after this date the Board of Library Examiners will give only one grade of certificate which shall make the holder thereof eligible for appointment to any county free librarianship in the state of California.

In making this change the Board gave notice that

1. Candidates must have had at least one full year's experience in a library of recognized standing before they will be admitted to examination.

2. Candidates must attain an average grade of at least 75 per cent in examinations to be granted a certificate.

3. The subjects on which markings will be based are the following:

- a. General education, library experience.
- b. Library science and technique.
- c. Library conditions and laws in California, and in general.
- d. Personality and fitness; executive ability.

Candidates falling below a 75 per cent marking in personality and fitness and executive ability may, in the discretion of the Board, be denied a certificate.

Persons who have heretofore been issued first or second grade certificates, but who are not employed as librarians of a county free library will be required to take the regular examination in order to receive the new certificates.

Persons who have heretofore been issued first or second grade certificates and who are employed as librarians of county free libraries may in the discretion of the Board receive the new certificates without being required to take the regular examinations. Holders of second grade certificates, however, will be asked to appear before the Board before the new certificates will be issued. Later notice thereof will be given. But the Board reserves the right in its judgment to require such persons whose certificates are about to expire to take the regular examinations.

The life of current certificates shall not be affected by above resolution.

In making this change, the Board was largely influenced by the fact that originally the counties were graded according to classification, whereas at present they should be graded by service. As this would be difficult to do, and as it will cause more and more complications to try to adapt the grade of the certificate to the changing classification and new salaries, it was thought best to abolish grades of certificates and issue only one kind, as is done in the case of teachers. Other considerations entered into the proposition, but these were the main points.

Four candidates took the examination, one of whom, Miss Margaret E. Livingston, came before the Board in order to raise her grade. Since grades were abolished on that day, Miss Livingston, as well as the other three candidates, all of whom passed, received the new certificate. Those taking the examination and receiving the certificate were: Miss Hazel G. Gibson, Miss Margaret E. Livingston, Miss Beulah Mumm, Miss Elizabeth R. Topping.

CERTIFICATE HOLDERS.

NOTE.—First-grade certificates are valid for use throughout the state; second grade, in counties of the twenty-first to the fifty-eighth (except twenty-fifth, thirty-third, thirty-fifth and forty-second) classes, inclusive. Third-grade certificates, formerly issued for use in counties of the forty-ninth to the fifty-eighth classes, inclusive, are no longer issued.

The new certificate, issued for the first time, December 22, 1920, is valid for use throughout the state.

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT.

SUSAN T. SMITH, in charge.

The Reference Department furnishes information to any inquirer. It furnishes books to public libraries on request of the librarian, and to any other educational institution on request of its official head or its librarian; to individuals through the signature of a state officer, of the Librarian of the local library or of the official head of any other educational institution or on receipt of a $5.00 deposit; to a club or grange on request of its president, secretary or librarian. In counties having county free libraries, all requests must be made through the county free library.

The work of sending material to county library branches, could be done much more efficiently were full directions given as to exact name of Branch and shipping station.

In some instances the community branch and school district branch have the same name and same post office but are widely apart—or they have the same name and different post office. Unless enough information is given on the request slips for us to distinguish between the two, the wrong borrower is apt to receive the books. Frequently the name of the Custodian or Principal is given but as we do not ship to individuals, (except in isolated cases), this form of address is of no help to us.

Another way the county librarians can be of great assistance to us is for each one to run through his county in the October number of News Notes of California Libraries to see if the post office and express addresses are correct for every branch. If they are not, and if corrections or later changes have not already been sent in, they should be sent at once. Our complete card address list of branches is revised by the information sent for the annual statistics number, and by subsequent changes as reported.

During the first part of the Legislature, one of the members came to us for a list of all the branch libraries in his district with their post-office addresses, as he wished to mail home legislative material to the branch librarians. This is an example of the legitimate use made of this information, aside from the very important one of causing correct and prompt shipping.

CATALOG DEPARTMENT.

IDA G. MUNSON, in charge.

During October, November and December 2216 books were cataloged and 11,485 cards were added to the file.

CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT.

EUDORA GAROUTTE, in charge.

The California Department aims to have a thoroughly good collection of books on the history and description, resources and industries of the State, as well as the works of California authors in all departments of literature. These are made accessible by means of a card catalog. Full names and biographical sketches of California authors, artists, musicians, pioneers and early settlers are being secured, together with their photographs. The collection of bound periodicals is quite large. The Department also contains about 7000 bound volumes of newspapers, a file of which is being indexed with reference to the history of the State. Students will be assisted in their work.

Pioneers and Early Settlers.

A number of the cards received are from Grass Valley and vicinity and are as follows: Cornelius Clauson, Mrs Marion Virginia Conaway, Mrs Caroline E. J. Hill, Mrs Gertrude Leah Barker, Mrs Mary C. Snyder, Charles Edwin Taber and Ozra Leander Twitchell.

Israel Solomon arrived in San Francisco from London in 1849, where he lived continuously until his death. He was an importer and merchant and one of the founders of Temple Israel.

Another San Franciscan was Cephas Turner, Jr., who arrived in 1850 and lived continuously in the city with the exception of a short time in the mines soon after his arrival.

Judge Elisha Cotton Winchell also arrived in 1850. Judge Winchell became a prominent citizen and held many public offices, most of them of a judicial nature. He was county judge in Fresno for a number of years. He died in Berkeley July 24, 1913.

Other cards received are for Mrs Vienna Dell Turner, Seth Crowell and Silas Crowell.

Newspaper Index.

The index covers the following periods: August 15, 1846, to March, 1905, and January, 1913, to date.

The gap from 1905 to 1913 is gradually being filled in, as the cards, for this period in the San Francisco Call index are being copied at the Sutro Branch of the State Library.

At the present rate, this work will be finished in a very short time.

Catalog.

Three hundred and twelve cards have been added to the California catalog during the last quarter.

Donations.

The Kenyon Co., publishers of maps, donated to the library a valuable collection consisting of 20 county maps. Silas Crowell added to our early letter file 7 letters written by Seth Crowell during the period 1853-'56.

A large amount of photoplay material was added to the dramatic section by Frederick Palmer, and a number of programs, pictures, and other material placed in our California music section by Mary E. Lewis. An unusually large number of autograph books has also been received.

Three large and unusual collections have been acquired by gift, namely, the Hendel, Hilby, and Beale collections.

PROFESSIONAL ETHICS FROM THE VIEWPOINT OF A HEAD LIBRARIAN.*

By MRS JULIA G. BABCOCK, Librarian, Kern County Free Library.

President Blaisdell of Pomona College said in a recent address that when he was considering the call to the presidency of that institution, he was talking about it with a member of the faculty of the University of California, who said to him, "The young people of that college have the capacity for loyalty to a cause." He decided right then that they were the kind of young people with whom he wished to work. "Capacity for loyalty to a cause" indicated fine qualities on the part of the student body.

Loyalty is one of the essentials of professional ethics. An idea takes hold of one and demands devotion; the same idea wins other devotees, who then become mutually bound together because of their common bond of interest.

Physicians and lawyers observe scrupulously certain unwritten laws in their relations with those of the same profession. They will not discuss each other, though you may be cognizant of the fact that they will not work with certain members of their profession nor call them into consultation. If chance has led you to consult one of them, the services of another cannot be secured until all obligations to the first have been discharged. Lawyers may abuse each other mercilessly in the court room, but they will not decry each other's ability elsewhere.

Architects and engineers are likewise considerate in the treatment of their compeers, and will not censure other members of the same profession. However, it sometimes happens that an architect will not submit plans with those of one whom he considers his inferior. Ministers have their own rules of courteous Christian conduct toward one another even when their views are diametrically opposed.

Librarianship is distinctly different from these independent professions, in which each man is building up his own clientele, for the librarian is a public servant, employed to serve the people of a well-defined locality. The librarian does not own the library building, nor the books therein, and certainly does not engage in the work for profit. In this, he comes closer to the altruistic standard of the minister than to that of any other calling. All the more then is the librarian bound by the strongest obligations to be guided by the spirit of the golden rule. Professional courtesy is kindness and graciousness extended habitually to those engaged in the same vocation, or those with whom the work brings contact.

Courtesy is due to the public on the part of the librarian and each of his assistants. How often has a timid borrower been driven away from a library forever by a curt answer to a civil inquiry! The library worker should never be too busy to give attention to the most casual question, and to satisfy the need of the inquirer. I have never heard of a librarian who showed discourtesy to a person because of race, color, or creed. I believe that that tendency is not one to which librarians are prone. The library is the most democratic of institutions, a place of security from affront for the adult or the child from any part of the world. Even the tramp may find warmth and mayhap inspiration within its walls. Many absurd questions, many titles amusingly garbled are asked across the charging or the information desk. At times it is a temptation to keep a record of them. Is it kindly to those whom we profess to desire to serve, to remember these ridiculous mistakes, or to give them to the press or to our own library periodicals? Ignorance will always be encountered and it is our business in so far as possible to inform, and never to ridicule. By repeating these droll occurrences, do we extend our sphere of influence? Do we gain the confidence of those who most need the services of the institution over which we preside? Should we not rather extend the same protection to these inquirers, which the physician gives to the person who consults him professionally? Even the law recognizes the sanctity of any communication given professionally to a physician or an attorney.

Ordinary good breeding, to say nothing of courtesy, demands that a librarian speak no evil of others engaged in the same work, nor cast slurs upon the library the other represents, unless it may be necessary to the upbuilding of an institution which has fallen into disrepute through incompetence. Amputations are sometimes needful, but should be as carefully performed as those of the expert surgeon. The operation must be successful, even though the patient succumbs. The good of a public service is of greater importance than the happiness of an incompetent public servant. No one who is not thoroughly efficient in his particular office, whatever it may be, has any right to receive compensation from the public purse. It is the privilege of librarians as of other human beings to choose their intimates in the service as well as outside of it.

It sometimes happens that an assistant of recognized ability and value is desired by some other librarian who can offer a larger salary. Ought the librarian who would like to secure the services of this assistant write direct to the assistant, or first to the other librarian? It would seem that the fair thing is first to write to the librarian and let him know of the offer that is intended or desired. If the librarian in whose library the assistant is working can not give as large a salary as the one offered, then it becomes his duty to lay the whole matter before the assistant and let her decide it. This presupposes that the librarian is both honest and honorable. Otherwise, the assistant would have no knowledge of the larger opportunity, which would be manifestly unjust. The librarian must work for the good of the profession as well as for the good of the individual library.

Sometimes an assistant, while still in the employ of one library, writes to the librarian of another, inquiring if any position is open. The librarian of the second library may very properly reply direct to the assistant, but he would do well to write to the librarian of the first library, making some inquiry. Everything may be entirely right, but, on the other hand, there may be some serious condition back of it, which it would be advisable to know. In the one case, no possible harm can be done any one; in the other, a world of regret may be prevented. It is wise to know both sides of a story.

Assistants leaving one library to go to another should always allow time, unless there be some urgent reason for doing otherwise, for the librarian they are leaving to secure someone for the position left vacant. Otherwise the work may be seriously hampered.

There must be team work between the librarian and his assistants. The head of the library must not make the assistants feel that they are working for him, but with him toward the same end—the complete service of the community. There must be no pets and no victims of fault-finding. Slight errors should be overlooked unless they are fundamental, and a spirit of patience and helpfulness should be shown by the librarian. When the inaccuracies of an assistant imperil the work of the library, or add materially to the work of supervision, that assistant should be eliminated as quickly as possible. It is not well, neither is it fair to the public who are paying the bills, to worry along with an incompetent worker. The assistant should be given due notice that her services will not be required after a certain date set far enough ahead to allow her to make other plans or to secure another position. She ought, at the same time, to be told why her services are being dispensed with. Here arises another difficult situation for the librarian. The person to whom the assistant applies for a position will naturally make some investigation as to her record in the last position, and as to why she is leaving it. What ought the librarian to do when asked about the assistant? Anyone dislikes to go on record as condemning another, and is loath to stand in the way of any fellow-worker's chances of securing a livelihood. Why not let the other librarian find out the fault as you have done? Why not gloss over the matter? Will professional ethics permit the avoidance of an uncomfortable duty? I think not. However, it is not necessary to exaggerate the defect, and it may be that the same failing will not appear in other surroundings and in other work. Give the applicant the benefit of that possibility.

The librarian owes it to his staff to give them due consideration in the matter of salaries, securing for them compensation as nearly as possible commensurate with their ability and usefulness. He should give them due credit for good work done, in reports and in publicity material. He should allow them a voice in the policies of the library, especially if they have had considerable experience.

Assistants should have the opportunity of attending library meetings, of visiting other libraries occasionally, of appearing before organizations, of preparing news articles, and should be given every possible chance for the all-round development that may fit them for larger work, or for administrative positions. The librarian must not be selfish in wanting to keep fine assistants if their own fitness warrants something better. If an assistant is asked to speak upon a library topic before some club or other public assemblage, she should consult with the librarian before doing so. Otherwise, some incorrect impression concerning the library or its policy may be given that will do irreparable injury.

The librarian should keep assistants posted as far as practicable as to new plans and projects of the library, and should see that they have every possible means of keeping abreast of library progress, by subscribing for the library periodicals and clippings, by the purchase of professional books and pamphlets, and by making available the bulletins of other libraries. If an interesting item of library news comes to the librarian, he should share it with his fellow-workers. If grievances occur between members of the staff, the librarian should hear the statements of both sides, and then be as just as possible in his decision.

The librarian has a right to expect loyalty from his co-workers in the library. If he is of so peculiar a nature that it is impossible to be loyal to him, then it is best to resign. It doesn't help matters to discuss him and his idiosyncracies. It gives a librarian a strange feeling to come upon two assistants engaged in a low-toned conversation which ceases immediately upon his approach. It is scarcely necessary to say that neither librarian nor assistant should spend his leisure hours in such a manner as to unfit him for clear-headed work the next day.

Assistants should talk up the library in their intercourse with outside friends, not in a forced manner, but with the habitual attitude of trying to bring out the favorable side of the work and its aims. If there are criticisms, they can be made at staff meetings or personally in a constructive manner. Perhaps the spirit of the assistant toward her work can best be illustrated by the story of a man who, passing along the street observed three workmen, each of whom was engaged in doing exactly the same work as the other. To the first he said, "My man, what are you doing?" "Oh, I'm working for six dollars and a half a day." To the second he said, "And what are you doing?" "I am carrying bricks to the brick-layer." To the third, he put the same question. He replied, "I am helping to build a great cathedral."

In case of illness, the assistant owes it to the library to have the librarian notified as promptly as possible of the disability. The higher and more responsible the position, the more essential this becomes. An incident occurred at one time in an eastern library that had none too large a staff, where an assistant's sister became seriously ill, and required the care and the presence of her sister. A mutual friend of the sisters was employed in the same library. She left her position and remained with her friends during the illness, and shared in the care of the sick one. Was the second assistant justified in absenting herself and by so doing doubly handicapping the library, because of the tie of friendship? There is no question that it was the duty of the sister to remain at home, but it would seem that the second absence was not warrantable.

Unless there be some special reason, assistants ought not to resign when the work is heaviest or the weather hottest, or just after a vacation has been enjoyed. It is very disillusioning. If a liberal sick leave is granted, one should not be unnecessarily slow in recovering. It may embarrass the librarian very gravely with his board or with the public. To the honor of the profession, it is very seldom that such a thing occurs. Library workers are much more prone to return too soon after an illness, rather than to prolong recovery, yet it does sometimes happen otherwise. If one is granted leave of absence for some special reason, the privilege should not be abused by using the time entirely in seeking a new and better position. It is one thing to obtain an assistant for temporary employment and quite another to find the right person for a permanent position. If an assistant thinks that she may not return, she should be frank and say so when accepting her leave of absence.

There should be no assumed barrier between the librarian and his assistants to prevent their coming to him freely with their problems or with suggestions. Cooperation is as fine a thing in the library as in a factory or business house. Due credit should be given assistants for valuable suggestions made as to time-saving devices and records, and other improvements in the detail work of the library. All such suggestion should be encouraged and given careful consideration. They may prove of great value.

Proper conditions for all workers as regards light, ventilation, heat, height of desks, chairs, arrangement of hours, and all those details which make for comfort in the day's work, should be given due attention, as a matter of business, and not as a matter of courtesy.

“How sweet and gracious even in common speech,
Is that fine sense which men call courtesy!
Wholesome as air and genial as the light,
Welcome in every clime as breath of flowers,
It transmutes aliens into trusting friends,
And gives its owner passport round the globe.”

PROFESSIONAL ETHICS FOR LIBRARIES FROM THE POINT OF VIEW OF THE LIBRARY ASSISTANT.*

By MRS LAVINA B. KIRKMAN PENLEY, Book Orders Assistant, Pomona Public Library.

Professional ethics may be defined as rules of practice in respect to a single class of human actions and duties. When one considers library ethics he finds that one of the definitions given for ethics fits as well,—Man's duty in respect to himself and the rights of others. I was told that I might seem to be taking sides in a question controversial in nature. It seems to me in looking it over, that there should be but one side, although it is possible to view that side from different angles. I shall try to give you the viewpoint of the assistant; a composite picture as it were made from expressions of eight other people now on the staff of the Pomona Public Library, and from the impression I have received from thirty or more assistants with whom I have worked or associated during the past fourteen years. The picture will be fairly representative, except as to sex, since these assistants came from the East, the West, the Middle West, and the Pacific states; from colleges, high schools, library schools, large and small libraries, from business and the home.

In presenting a possible code of ethics for libraries considered from the standpoint of assistants, let us first consider their ideas as to what is expected from them or rather, what they believe they should give to the library as an institution, to the librarian and to others of the staff. Assistants should bear in mind that they are public servants, and that they are paid from public funds. In other than public libraries the same general condition is true.

We will assume that the assistant has interest in library work, for without interest the library assistant would not exist, since no inducements of easy work, high salaries, or fame are held out. One should consider the library as an opportunity for self-education, for personal development along all lines and for work with and for people. It may even be considered as a chance to work through others, for often a success in life is owed to the help received in the library. A library worker must have a genuine interest in reading and a real love and sympathy for people; and certainly tact and a sense of humor are needed to help one over the rough places. No lack of an adequate salary or recognition should prevent an assistant from doing his best; nor should a personal dislike of any member of the staff or head affect either the quantity or quality of one's work. Pride in the library as a part of civic life is essential to good work.

To the librarian the assistants owe a desire to learn and a willingness to be taught; two very different qualities. Sometimes this is impossible, especially in matters relating to the public. Assistants usually are as well acquainted with the needs of the public and its desires, as is the librarian, and their combined knowledge of the community is often greater. People speak more freely to assistants than to librarians. Now if this knowledge is made available to the library, it does not lessen the authority of the librarian, and does tend to stimulate and increase the interest of the staff.

What do members of the staff owe one another? Tolerance and a kindly spirit of give and take, and an agreement to disagree when necessary. The shirker, the responsibility shifter, as well as the one who always blames another, have no place on a library staff. Jealousy, whose green eyes shine as brightly in a library as elsewhere, should at least wear blinders. Nothing so affects one's health, and so the quality of one's work, as dissension and inharmony in the staff. Sometimes this is caused by friction between members of the staff, and frequently it is caused by what the assistants believe to be unfair discrimination on the part of the chief, either for or against one or more members of the staff. There is a place on the smallest and largest staff for every variety of temperament and talent, but temper may safely be left for the enjoyment of one's family.

Assistants are mostly women, and they do say that women can not look at things except in a personal manner. If this is true it may account for the fact that library assistants do not always realize their ideals. If, however, a fair average is maintained, what may assistants expect from the librarian, the library as represented by the trustees and their fellow-workers? From others on the staff one can hardly expect more than one is willing to give. At any rate all should be willing to do their best, regardless of what others do.

What may assistants reasonably expect from the trustees? I would say, three things: Sufficient interest in the library to know what a library is for, and what some of the qualifications essential to a really good assistant are; then action in accord with this knowledge. If an assistant is to study and obtain as many advantages from school as possible, if reading and recreation are to form parts of the assistant's life, then an adequate salary should be provided to make such things possible. No salary is sufficient which does not permit of a reserve fund for school and emergencies. Neither is a salary adequate which does not permit a person to live away from home. The fact that one may not leave a place on account of family reasons or climatic conditions should not influence the Board to offer a low salary. If the Board of Trustees does not live up to its privilege to help raise the library profession to a more dignified plane, then the librarian should present the case of higher salaries to the Board. Failing that, the assistants themselves should petition the trustees for deserved increases and the establishment of a suitable minimum wage. However, most assistants prefer that their communication with the Board should be in the nature of "thank you's." The Board should investigate all differences between the librarian and staff, and not allow the librarian to act as jury and judge, as one member of the staff aptly phrased it.

From the librarian each member of the staff may expect full information as to positions on the staff and possible advancement. Due allowance should be made for the fact that often the librarian can give no information. Librarians should inform their assistants of positions in other libraries which might be of interest to them, and should do nothing to hinder their accepting or obtaining such positions. Assistants expect kindly tolerance from the librarian for their crude efforts when beginning library work, and expect appreciation and recognition when further up the ladder. What is the trait assistants most admire in a librarian? Sincerity. The sincere librarian will be the fair one, the one who advances no one for religious, political or personal reasons. The fair-minded and sincere librarian is the one who will have the loyalty of the staff. These qualities obtain and keep the respect of people even when their possessor has other qualities not so desirable. Every assistant has the right to expect advancement in the library to more responsible positions when capable of taking them and they are available. The ideal condition is that each person may have a chance to work in every department of the library in order to obtain a bird's-eye view of its activities. If an assistant gives satisfaction in a department of the library, no demotion should occur for the purpose of giving an untrained and inefficient person a position of responsibility. One Pomona assistant differed on this point and felt that demotions should take place in order to give juniors a chance to try their wings. Juniors and seniors might work along together, the juniors preparing themselves to take more responsible positions when opportunity offered. These opinions are all from the standpoint of people employed in a library not governed by civil service rules. Due allowance should be made for differences in conditions which exist in libraries of varying sizes.

A schedule flexible enough to permit of occasional changes in hours for both business and pleasure, goes a long way toward making a happy and contented group of workers. There need be no fear that one member of the staff will take an unfair advantage; the others on the staff will soon settle that question for themselves. The assistant is a really valuable part of a library's equipment as well as a necessity, if permitted and encouraged to feel himself or herself a real part of the library. Some years ago the assistant was the butt of newspaper jokes and was commonly referred to in library publications as the "stupid assistant". Now some intrepid soul has suggested that all library employees be called librarians, with the head of the institution designated as head or chief librarian. The librarian owes the assistant criticism, constructive if possible, and administered personally and privately. Blanket criticism never touches the conceited and wounds the sensitive needlessly.

As to resignations and notices, it would seem at first glance that there need never be a disagreement between librarians and assistants. If an assistant accepts a position in a library merely as a stop-gap until a better one may be obtained and intends to look for another position while holding the first, that fact should be made known to the librarian when taking the position. Such an assistant might reasonably expect to receive a request for a resignation at any time and might be expected to give shorter notice when leaving than other.

The transient library worker should state when accepting a position that many and varied experiences are desired rather than a permanent position. Such a statement might eliminate many seeming injustices to resident workers. The person who is employed temporarily to fill the place of an employee absent on leave, or employed to fill a vacancy to be supplied later when a more desirable person applies, should be told that when accepting the position. No requests for resignations should be made without stating causes. How long a period of probation should last, is a question for discussion. No one can do satisfactory work in a state of uncertainty as to how long employment is to last. One member of the staff suggested a year; a plan similar to a teacher's contract to be adopted. Personally, I can not feel that it would be fair to an assistant to keep him from a more desirable position should one offer, nor on the other hand for the library to be obliged to keep a wholly undesirable person for a year. We all realize that some very unusual circumstance might arise which would make all these points very easy to settle.

No assistant can be so important to any library, unless it is a very small one, as is employment to the assistant, so it would be fair that the assistant should always receive a longer notice than required to give. Mathematically this may not be demonstrable, but ethically I am sure it is correct. Resignations have sometimes been given on very short notice, because the assistant fears that the matter may not be held in confidence by the librarian, and more often the fear that the librarian may give unfair treatment has influenced an assistant to withhold the information. Pomona assistants agree that at least four weeks' notice should be given, and longer if possible, unless illness or the chance of losing a very unusual opportunity would make that impossible. If all libraries had practically the same requirements, then no unfairness would result for either library, the one losing or the one acquiring the assistant.

All applications for positions should be made directly to the librarian but in case the trustees pass on the applications, the librarian and the applicant should certainly have the chance to size up each other. Under no circumstances should the application be made through one's librarian to another. I doubt if the practice of having a Board member put in a good word for one is desirable. Having the personal recommendation of any member of the Board might unduly influence the librarian and prejudice the staff. On the other hand, when applying for a position in another place the recommendation of the Board or some member of the Board should accompany that of the librarian. Perhaps the thought that one had also to take a recommendation from the rest of the staff might govern one's conduct toward fellow-workers. A prospective employer would not feel justified in employing anyone whose recommendations were too guarded or overfulsome. It might help in forming an estimate of a person to have the opinion of three different people or groups of people.

William Winter says that the tendency of the human mind is to summarize; that almost every person likes to hear and likes to make comprehensive and positive statements upon all subjects of thought or knowledge. Then to summarize: How can we best fit our definition of Ethics—Man's duty to himself and the rights of others—to the library profession? The assistant should always give the best service possible, should make every effort to fit himself for better work, should be fair to the chief and the library in the matter of giving notice. The librarian and the trustees should give encouragement, inspiration, and compensation both as to salary and recognition.

And finally, to quote Schwab,—The best soldier of the common good is not necessarily the one who performs the most brilliant exploit. He is the one who goes furthest in inspiring the whole gang to do its best.

§§ALAMEDA FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY.
Mrs Marcella H. Krauth, Lib'n.

The resignation of Mr Henry Gemmer, trustee of the Alameda Free Library, has been accepted by Mayor Otis, because of Mr Gemmer's removal from the city. His successor has not yet been appointed.

Mrs Elsie Reedy resigned as a member of the library staff March 16, 1921. Mrs Reedy is leaving to make her home in Glendale, California. Theodora Larsen has been appointed Junior Assistant on the staff.

The library is allowed a generous amount of space in the Alameda Municipal Journal, which will be issued quarterly, instead of monthly as in the past. The purpose of the journal is to keep the citizens of Alameda in touch with the activities of the various departments. The library department has been requested to fill its columns with material bearing on library subjects and with reviews of recently acquired books.

tion of Miss Coulter, visited the Stanford University Library and looked over the new building with the Librarian, Mr Clark, who explained the general plan and drew attention to some unique features of the building, after which tea was served by the Stanford Library Staff. On March 29 the same students were guests of Miss Mary Barnby, Librarian of Alameda County Free Library, and were given an automobile drive through the county, this being so arranged that various types of branches and stations were visited. A delightful lunch made the trip as pleasant as it was profitable. This class also paid a visit on April 2 to the bindery of Foster and Futernick, San Francisco, this being a regular part of the instruction in bookbinding given by Mr Frank M. Bumstead.

Miss Louise Krause, who came to California to give special instruction in business libraries at the Riverside Library Service School, spent a week here and gave a series of six lectures on her special field. Her talks were not only of great value to our students but were appreciated by librarians from this vicinity who profited by the fact that they could attend them.

Early in March advantage was taken of a visit from Miss Mary F. Downey to have her tell the students about her organization work in Utah. Later in the month Mr Eugene Sommer, one of the best known book men in the Bay region and now owner of the Sather Gate Book Shop, Berkeley, discussed with the senior class the cooperation of library and bookseller. Mr Sommer's many years of experience in dealing with the library trade made this very much to the point. Professor Samuel J. Hume, Director of the Greek Theater, gave two lectures on the literature and technique of the drama, a subject of live interest in these days.

The class scheduled to graduate this May consists of the following: Marion Thurber, Katherine Ray Wickson.

As a part of the coming University of California Summer Session, June 20 to July 30, a course in Library Methods will be given under the auspices of the California State Library. It will be in charge of Miss Beulah Mumm, who, with the assistance of Miss Margaret Dennison, California State Library School 1917 and formerly of the State Library, will give the cataloguing and classification work. Miss Zulema Kostomlatsky, sometime Acting Librarian of the Portland Library Association, will give instruction in reference work, loan systems and some talks on modern fiction. Milton J. Ferguson, State Librarian, is also scheduled to lecture twice on the California Library Plan.

SYDNEY B. MITCHELL, Assoc. Lib'n.

Hayward.

* HAYWARD [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY AND BRANCH, ALAMEDA CO. FREE LIBRARY. Mrs Elizabeth Creelman, Lib'n.

The Hayward Library has purchased a bas-relief portrait of Theodore Roosevelt, by James Earle Frazer, so well known as the sculptor of the "End of the Trail" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. It is something for the children to have before them the pictured image of a man who stood for pure Americanism, and to have daily before them the inscription below the portrait—"Aggressive fighting for the right is the noblest sport the world affords."

ELIZABETH CREELMAN, Lib'n.

Oakland.

§ OAKLAND FREE [PUBLIC] LIBRARY. Chas. S. Greene, Lib'n.

Mrs Leila Paine Dunevitz, Assistant at Golden Gate, resigned January 12, and March 7 Irene M. Farrell was appointed to the position. Miss Farrell is the only Oakland Free Library war worker who has returned to the staff. She was for nearly two years with the American Red Cross, in canteen service and clerical work at Headquarters in Paris.

The contract for repairs necessitated by the recent fire at Alden was awarded to Alfred Olson. The branch was open to the public from 1 to 4 p. m. daily during January and February, while repairs were being made, and March 1, returned to full time schedule from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. The loss was $1555. Only 84 books were totally destroyed.

Another fire, similar to that at Alden, also caused by defective furnace piping, occurred at the 23d Avenue Branch, March 21. It is probable that a change in the heating system will have to be made at Alden, Golden Gate and 23d Avenue, as a result of these fires.

The assistants in the branch libraries are meeting once a month in the Branch Department to talk over their work with the Chief of the Department, and for the next few months, to study the history of children's literature and elementary cataloging. Assigned topics for study during the month at the branch will, it is hoped, add to the value of these meetings.

The Library Board has made a first payment of $499 on the Rabe Ethnological Collection of the South Sea Islands, which has been on loan exhibit at the Museum since 1914. The balance of $1301 will be paid in the next fiscal year.

Mr Raymond T. Baker, Director of the Mint, has presented the Museum with a complete file of "Inaugural Medals," beginning with George Washington. They are of high artistic merit as well as of historical value. A special case for them is in the making.

CHAS. S. GREENE, Lib'n.

‡FRESNO CO. FREE LIBRARY, FRESNO.
Miss Sarah E. McCardle, Lib'n.

International Branch located in the foreign district of Fresno City in the Institute of the Y. W. C. A., has been fortunate in a worker lately added to the staff of the institute. Mrs Becker has done much for the German women of the district, organizing them and providing them with the social diversions that their children already enjoy through public schools, library, and the Y. W. C. A., thus bridging the gulf that widens between the two generations. At the third meeting of the Mothers' Club, Miss Learned, branch librarian, gave a lecture illustrated with lantern slides of Germany, Prussia, Austria, as well as New York City, choosing those that would be of greatest interest to her hearers. After the showing of the pictures the branch librarian talked for a few moments in the interest of the library and the possibilities of its serving the community as well as the children and young people, who are the patrons of the International Branch. Considerable interest was shown and about thirty mothers took library cards. Two other lectures besides this one have been given by Miss Learned to the juvenile members of her branch.

Another branch in the foreign district is Center, located in the beautiful new home of the Y. W. C. A. for this section of the town. Several illustrated lectures and book talks have been given there by staff members of the Fresno library. Miss English, head of the school department, talked to the Business Girls' Club at one of their banquets about the books on the list prepared by the Y. W. C. A. Miss Richardson, children's librarian, gave an "Evening with Books" to the younger girls of Center. These talks bring results in the demand for the books discussed. The girls leave school at such an early age that it takes persuasion to interest them in books. Miss Learned also gave an illustrated lantern lecture on "Mothers and Daughters' Night," one of the girls acting as interpreter in German.

At Kirk Branch two talks have been given to the newly organized P. T. A. by Miss Learned of that branch, which is located in the German community entirely.

At California Field Branch located in the Armenian section of Fresno, much interest has been shown by the teachers of the school, in the library. The children have been brought by groups and Miss Chatfield has shown them the use of the library and its tools. The ungraded classes of this school are made up of children unable as yet to speak English.

The school department has been very busy during this quarter. Miss English spoke at Magnolia School on Americanization. Three days were spent at Riverdale cataloging the high school library. Nearly all the districts, except the summer schools, have been visited.

The branches at Conejo and Riverdale have been rearranged, stock taken and a general going-over of the books has been given. New shelving has been put in the Fowler Branch and the books rearranged.

During the quarter branches were established in the Butler and Garfield school districts. The San Joaquin Branch was re-established October 1, 1920.

In January we held the annual Custodians' Meeting at the main library. There was a full attendance in spite of the wet day and a very interesting program was given by the staff members and the custodians, nearly every one taking part either in the regular program or in the informal discussions which followed. These meetings are very valuable and are looked forward to by all.

Miss Nan Duggan resigned February 1, owing to ill health. Miss Thelma Brackett resigned January 14 to take a position in the San Luis Obispo County Library.

||FRESNO HIGH SCHOOL LIBRARY. Delbert Brunton, Prin. Miss Dorothea Davis, Lib'n.

Fresno High School Library has grown some this year. We have added more than a thousand volumes. Our new principal, Mr Delbert Brunton from Orange High School, appreciates a library and I hope to build up a good one as fast as funds allow. Our student body numbers about 1500 this term. All the freshmen are at the intermediate schools. My biggest problem is free textbooks.

We had a Library Round Table at Institute this spring. Miss McCardle and Miss English, head of her school department, were here and Miss Glock and Miss Glass came from Madera to join us. I was the only trained High School Librarian present. The main discussion was about the library service in small towns and rural communities. Mr Clark, teacher-librarian of Reedley, was chairman of the meeting.

WILLOWS FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY. Miss Bertha S. Taylor, Lib'n.

The library held a special exhibit of about 250 new children's books February 2. These were purchased mainly from the proceeds of an entertainment given for that purpose by the Willows Monday Afternoon Club. There was a large attendance of parents and teachers, many of whom took notes for future use. It is needless to say that the children were there in force. We had with us also Miss Beulah Mumm of the State Library who was able to renew old acquaintances dating from the organization of the library.

Miss Mary Robertson resigned as custodian of the Fortuna Branch February 10 and Miss Bertha Merz was appointed to the position.

IDA M. REAGAN, Lib'n.

In a letter from Miss Reagan received early in February she tells the following interesting story about the California Highway Commission Day Labor Camp No. 309 (Convict Camp), Branch, mentioned above: After recounting the difficulties of getting in touch with the camp by letter, she says "Mr Strahan (Mrs Bacon's brother-in-law) who is visiting here volunteered to go up to the camp for me and carry the personal word. He went by stage as far as Korbelt and then from there by truck and by foot the remainder of the distance. The roads are impassable by any other means. The trucks only go about seven miles beyond Korbelt and then everything has to be taken in by pack animal. Mr Strahan traveled through snow and mud but reached the camp the first night. He found the men all eager for reading matter. Mr Kester, the welfare man, was willing for the men to have the books, and a man who had inquired about such service at one of the branches will take care of them. He sent out calls to all the men that someone was there to tell them about the library and to take a list of requests. The men came in eagerly and I am giving a few of the requests for I think it is most remarkable. An encyclopedia, new or old just to settle their disputes on many subjects discussed, mainly specimens they pick up in and about the camp; Scientific American encyclopedia of formulas; Principles of economics, Taussig; Foreign and domestic exchange; Life of Roosevelt; Plutarch's lives; Greek mythology; Books on poultry and hogs; Electricity; Steam engines; Flora and fauna of California; Sea shells and fish; and then some Western stories. I did not list all that they wished but wanted you to have an idea of the opportunities there. I am quite excited about it. I will get things to them just as soon as possible which will be next week."

HUMBOLDT STATE NORMAL SCHOOL LIBRARY AND BRANCH, HUMBOLDT Co. FREE LIBRARY. N. B. Van Matré, Pres. Mrs Virginia C. Bacon, Lib'n.

We are trying out an experiment in the Humboldt State Normal School Library this year. Or at least we are told that it is an experiment and that no other Normal School in the state has ventured into the same field. As for ourselves, we are so sure of its success that we don't regard as experimental the arrangement with the County Library by which we are getting service for our Training School on the same basis as the other elementary schools of the county do. We expect to effect economies of money, of time, and of administration and to get increased efficiency and service. Our own library will be held intact for the Normal School and conducted just as before, as a professional school library, while all service for the Training School comes through the County Library.

We feel also that this affords a demonstration school for the prospective teacher where she can find out just what kind of library service is possible for her school, and where she will learn not to be content with any makeshift for it. The library has set as a standard "County

ALHAMBRA [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY.
Mrs Theodora R. Brewitt, Lib'n.

Alhambra citizens are acquiring the "exhibition habit" and the art collections in the library this season have received more attention than ever before. Recent exhibits were: A collection of water colors, by Howell Brown; Japanese prints from the Exposition Park Museum; and an exhibit of the work of the members of the Southern California Art Association consisting of twenty-one canvasses which were obtained through the Exposition Park museum.

In February the Library School of the Los Angeles Public Library visited us and spent a couple of hours in an inspection tour of the library, after which tea was served before an open fire in the exhibit room. The following week the Librarian lectured to the School on "Ideals and Problems of a Small Library."

In February and March all the seventh and eighth grades visited the Library for lessons. Seventh grade students are taught how to use the card catalog and the classification, and eighth grade students have a lesson in some of the most important reference books. Lessons were also given to a number of High School classes.

The Librarian and Miss McWilliams attended the meeting of the Sixth District, C. L. A., in Santa Ana.

During the quarter Miss Marie Rogge, Miss Dorothy Bastin, and Miss Isabelle Park resigned from the staff. New members added are Miss Isabel Brewer, Miss Alice McNulty, Miss Marjorie Cronander and Mrs Grace Youde.

The January exhibit for the Art Gallery was a collection of water-colors by Mrs Helen Balfour and J. W. Cotton and artistic photographs by Margarethe Muller and Edward H. Weston. In February, oil paintings from the Laguna Beach Art Association were shown. The Print-makers of California sent their annual exhibit in March.

In view of the desperate need for food in other lands, a contribution box was placed in the library, with a poster appealing for money for the three famine funds; Near East relief, Child-feeding for central Europe and the Chinese fund. Unless money was marked for a special fund, it was divided between the three. The total amount collected in the box was $132.31. This was merely the casual contributions given at the library. During the same period, much larger sums were raised in the city through other agencies.

The library is now sending books regularly to the Seaside hospital. Mrs Ethelene Kitching, who is in charge of stations, visits the hospital once a week and makes the rounds of the wards with a book truck. The service is much appreciated. A new station has been opened in the Long Beach Steam Laundry. The employees have elected a library committee, who cooperate with the library in selecting the books and caring for them.

The library has for some time placed posters in the jitneys. The Gaylord posters are used, and the service costs $10 a month. Thousands must see these posters; and while it is difficult to trace the result of such advertising, it probably has an effect. The City National Bank has offered the library space on the front page of a Bulletin that it distributes to its customers. Every month we list there about half a dozen of the new books on commercial and economic subjects, and sometimes add notes about the business magazines in the library.

Miss Muriel Wright, who has charge of our special book exhibits, tried the experiment of filling the display shelves, for two or three weeks, with groups of three books, fastened together with a rubber band. On the front of each bundle was a large colored card, reading "A Balanced ration: a book of amusement; a book of inspiration; a book of information." In each package, usually, would be a story; a book of pure literature or ethics; and a book of travel or science. A fair number of these packages was taken out, and we think some readers may have learned that they could take other books than fiction. As the packages disappeared, new ones were made up. A very popular exhibit was marked "Best

§§LOS ANGELES [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY. Everett R. Perry, Lib'n.

The Librarian and Board of Directors are working with the utmost zeal to have bonds for a central library building placed on the May or June ballots. April 1, the Board of Directors appeared before the City Council and made a strong and earnest plea for this urgent civic need. The question was referred by the President of the Council to a special committee for the consideration of all bond issues, consisting of Councilmen Mallard, Farmer and Criswell. Dodd and Richards, architects, out of friendship for the Public Library drew up proposed plans for the new building. The exterior of their design appeared on the cover of the March bulletin.

Foster & Kleiser, the largest bill board company of Los Angeles, donated $1,125 worth of poster space for the Library's building campaign. Fifty twenty-four sheet posters bearing the slogan "Own Your Own Public Library" have been posted in different parts of the city.

Mr. Frank H. Pettingell, who, since 1916, has been an earnest and enthusiastic member of the Los Angeles Library Board, was reappointed December 31 for another term of four years.

Five hundred and fifty photographs of local interest have been purchased for use in the Reference Department in connection with the local historical collection. The pictures are of three different classes: the California missions, Los Angeles in early days and Los Angeles as it is today. Those of the missions make a very complete collection, showing the different missions in various states of preservation from early days to the present. When the pictures are mounted and cataloged, they may be borrowed by branches for exhibits.

Miss Kostomlatsky, formerly connected with the Seattle and Portland public libraries, is assisting in the Reference Department each afternoon. She will teach in the University of California Library School next summer.

Miss Kimberly, head of the Registration and Loan Department for nearly two years, has resigned, her resignation going into effect February 1. Miss McCrea, who succeeds Miss Kimberly as head of the department, comes from New York where she has been in the library war service of the American Library Association for the past year, having closed the book department of the New York office before leaving. Previous to that she was in the American Red Cross service overseas, returning a little over a year ago, and entering the American Library Association war service first in Washington and then in New York. Mrs Hook (Anna Marie Rusche L. S. 1914) has been taking Mrs Russell's place as children's librarian at Central Avenue Branch.

The School and Teachers Department of the Public Library has been having a series of exhibits showing handwriting from the grade schools. The work of two schools has been shown each week and has created much rivalry and enthusiasm between both the teachers and school children.

A recent event of especial interest at Hollywood Branch Library was the exhibit of children's illustrators. This was held by the American Federation of Arts in the auditorium of the Library February 8-21. During that time about six hundred children and a third as many adults attended the exhibit. The schools were encouraged to send children on certain days and the pictures were studied. Each child was asked to choose his favorite picture and give the reason for his choice. The Library will buy the most popular, Raeburn's "Boy with the Rabbit," and four of the pictures chosen will be given for the Children's room by the Art Association. Miss Virginia Graeff told picture stories to the children on three afternoons. In the exhibit were Medici prints by Raeburn and Reynolds, original illustrations by Elizabeth Shippen Green and reproductions of pictures by Jessie Willcox Smith, John Alexander, Maxfield Parrish, Edwin Abbey and Manet. Some hand work in wood and silver was also shown. An interesting series of fireside readings from Celtic literature has been given at the Hollywood

Branch by Frayne Williams of London in connection with the University extension courses.

A new system in making children's reading lists has been devised, to enlist the children's interest and to give them opportunity to make the lists themselves. Packets of four books are sent out to the various schools both by the main library and the branches; the teacher may choose her own method of presenting the books and having annotations made, but she is to furnish a note for each book she receives. Judges will be appointed by the department from among the teachers and librarians involved, who will choose the best notes. These notes will be used in making up the new lists of vacation reading.

Mrs Clara Vondrosky Winlow, Principal of the Foreign Extension Department, has been asked to assist the Los Angeles District Federation of Women's Clubs in their Arts and Crafts Exhibit of the Homelands, which will be held at Exposition Park, May 16 to June 6.

A remarkably successful Mexican exhibit was held under the auspices of the Foreign Extension Department. The exhibit attracted wide attention and brought splendid returns. There are 60,000 Mexicans living in Los Angeles, and very many of them were reached through the exhibit. They felt warmly appreciative of the library's interest in them and each one who had some little thing to contribute to the exhibit was eager to do his bit. Pottery, carved bone chessmen, embroideries, and wood carving were brought even from Mexico for the occasion and social workers, women's clubs and artists showed much interest in the work of the little-appreciated Mexicans.

The Registration and Loan Department at the request of the Library Board sent out special borrowers cards to all city officials and members of commissions.

The Science and Industry Department has been having a series of interesting displays of wild flowers, brought in by members of the Botanical section of the Southern California academy of sciences. Each exhibit is labeled by the person bringing it with the scientific name, the common name, and the habitat.

Miss McCloskey, who has been a very efficient assistant in the fiction department has accepted the position of assistant librarian in the Santa Monica High School. The vacancy has been filled by Miss Ruth W. Forney who has had four years experience in the Public Library of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. Miss Forney also worked three years as an indexer and catalog clerk in the war department at Washington, D. C.

The Custer playground branch which was started only a few months ago, is doing a splendid work. Americanization classes are held in the afternoon and evening in the room adjoining the library. Although working in a cramped space with few books and open only two afternoons and evenings a week, the circulation is over 2000 a month. The library is located in a Yiddish district and the readers enjoy good books.

Miss Katherine Cahoon (California State Library School, 1917) is a new member of the playground staff. Miss Louise Holmes, formerly of the Seattle Public Library, has been appointed attendant at Vermont Square Branch. Miss May Westgate of the Mechanics Institute Library, San Francisco, has accepted a position in the Cataloging Department.

The San Pedro Branch of the Los Angeles Public Library recently received a beautiful collection of sea shells, the gift of Mr R. H. Tremper of Ontario. The San Pedro Chamber of Commerce donated a case to hold this valuable collection.

Through the excellent and untiring efforts of the librarian, Miss Markham, the Wilmington Branch has attained such practical value in the life of that community that the Chamber of Commerce requested the Library Board of Directors to extend the library quarters to take in the whole second floor of the City Hall. This extra space has been donated by the Board of Public Works and the Library will fit it up at once to meet the urgent need for expansion.

At the meeting of the Sixth District of the California Library Association at Santa Ana March 14, Miss Gertrude Darlow, Principal of the General Literature Department, spoke wisely and well about "Bringing the Right Book to the Right

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON CO. LIBRARY AND DEPOSIT STATION, LOS ANGELES PUBLIC LIBRARY. Beth Pasko, Librarian.

The Southern California Edison Company Library, although not saying much about it in your columns, has been active and growing—like the well-known weed.

The last two years have seen an increase in use of more than one hundred and fifty per cent, which estimate includes circulation, number of readers and reference work. The book and pamphlet collection, now numbering about 2200, has not increased so rapidly. Recent accessions have been mainly books on general business—letter writing, indexing and filing, salesmanship, advertising, business efficiency, etc. Increased interest is shown by requests from outlying substations located all over the southern part of the state, over a third of our borrowers being outside the central office building which houses the library and some three hundred and fifty employees.

We also wish to correct a mistake which has somehow been made as to the librarian. In the January number of News Notes of California Libraries, Miss Frances Hoyt Ford was stated to be librarian, but such is not the case. Miss Ford has been temporarily employed in Story-telling is again a library activity, the sessions being each Saturday afternoon, alternating between the Branch and the Main Library. For a few times, outside entertainers gave the stories, but the permanent incumbent is Miss Ruth Bishop.

This library has borrowed the "Good Book" card idea from the Los Angeles Public Library, and is much pleased with its success. The plan works as well for miscellaneous books as for fiction. As everybody knows, the plan is to tag selected books with bright cards bearing a brief typed estimate, and to set these books in a conspicuous place.

The first two concerts of religious music were given Passion Week. Possibly others will be given Sunday afternoons later on. In spite of rain and revivals, the attendance was very fair. Other special type concerts have presented Irish music, old songs, patriotic music, springtime airs.

The librarian and members of the staff have given more or less informal talks to library and other organizations on local history collections, books for parents, Japanese in California, and the administration of a small library. The librarian and members of the staff attended the "Open House" of the Los Angeles Public Library, the Sixth District, C. L. During the next week there is to be an exhibit of pressed wild flowers in the sun room of our library. The school children of the city have been asked to bring the mounted flowers and a prize has been offered for the best. The librarian has been asked to act as one of the judges.

Our bulletin board and special tables are used to exhibit books or notices of special interest. Just now we have a table containing the books of John Burroughs together with a special autographed photograph of John Burroughs and his friend John Muir, presented to us by friends of the library, Mr and Mrs E. H. Rust.

The schools are co-operating in the use of the supplementary lists prepared and given out by us at the beginning of the school year and many of the children have completed these lists and are calling for more.

The small auditorium in the library building is used regularly by the members of the American Legion Auxiliary. Donations for soldiers in the different hospitals near have been collected here and distributed by the Auxiliary members.

Three hundred books have been catalogued and placed on the shelves since the first of the year, making our total number of volumes 19,574.

January 1, 1920 the Napa County Library began with no books and no quarters. January 1, 1921 and we had nearly five thousand books and had about outgrown our present quarters. The most satisfying part of the year's work has been the increasing demand for books and the interest shown in the county library in all parts of the county.

Two schools, Yount and Diamond Mountain joined during the quarter, making thirty-three in all. A number of districts have voted to consolidate so that there are now only some eleven rural schools which are not a part of the county library.

The county librarian spoke at a meeting of the Directors of the Farm Bureau in March.

During the quarter we have changed our charging-system whereby books may be returned one at a time. Thus, we have a more frequent change of new books, owing to the fact that the new book taken out need not wait for its companion to be returned with it. So there has been an increase in the circulation of fiction. Owing to our new plan of making out temporary cards for non-fiction we observe that the circulation of non-fiction books is increasing. We have been pleased to note an increased number of strangers making use of the library and taking out cards.

Our trustees have agreed to purchase books for the use of men of the Standard Oil taking special courses. Some of the books have arrived and will be of value to other patrons of the library, as well as to Standard Oil men.

The population of Fullerton, according to the 1920 census, is 4415. The library has over 3000 registered cardholders, the period of registration being 24 months. §[[RIVERSIDE [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY. Joseph F. Daniels, Lib'n.

The Riverside county free library in eight months of its fiscal year predicts the largest annual increase in circulation. The increase for the year is about 16 per cent with about 90 branches and stations in operation. The increase of maintenance for the Riverside public library, which is also the county free library, from about $23,000 last year to about $33,000 this year is quite necessary to take care of added business.

Plans are nearly completed for a $30,000 addition to the main building of the Riverside public library. The large building to the east known as the Allatt, will be remodeled for library school purposes exclusively.

For the information of those who are interested in the Dorothy Daniels Memorial we give the title of the collection of books: BOOKS FOR CHILDREN OF TODAY AND THOSE OF LONG AGO. The basis of the collection now contains about two hundred and fifty volumes of illustrated books for children, modern publications, and a collection of toy books, horn books, chap books and books for children of the Eighteenth and early Nineteenth centuries. It contains also some

SOUTHERN SIERRAS POWER CO. LIBRARY.
Miss Ellen Benfer, Lib'n.

Such a good article concerning this particular business library recently appeared in one of the Riverside papers that we are printing it entire. It follows:

Have you ever visited a business library? Probably not, for in the entire United States there are but 300, and one of those is in Riverside, in the Southern Sierras Power company offices on Eighth street.

In the library are concentrated all newspapers, magazines and books on matters of interest and importance to employes of the company. Thirty-five newspapers from territories covered by the Southern Sierras company and associated companies in Nevada and California come to the library. These are read through carefully, and items of interest or of value to the company are clipped. These items are then circulated through the offices and when returned to the library are filed for reference.

The purpose of the library is to furnish specific information to those who want it, and statistical reports, addresses, company reports, and material of every kind are kept filed.

Technical magazines form an important part of the library. Thirty-nine magazines, some weekly and others monthly, are received at the library, and these are circulated through the offices to the men who wish to read them. The librarian, Miss Ellen Benfer, keeps a card catalogue of magazines, and each magazine is filed by card. A list of men who wish that particular magazine is kept, and each issue is sent to them.

Information files contain pamphlet material and clippings. These are filed according to subject matter, and cover practically every subject connected in any way with the work of the company. A file of trades catalogues is also kept, and this is indexed. Music for the company orchestra is also filed here.

An interesting file is the one which contains all the advertisements of the company. Each "ad" is numbered, and a list of papers throughout the state in which the "ad" appears is kept and checked. As a copy of the paper is received, it is checked off and a record made of the date on which the advertisement appeared. The "ads" are then filed in order.

Technical and reference books to the number of 290 are found in the Southern Sierras library. When books are charged out a card is placed under the name of the borrower, and a second card filed under the name of the author of the book and the title. In this way the work of keeping check of the books is simplified. There is no time limit on either books or magazines.

While the Press reporter was being almost overcome by the huge possibilities of the company library this morning, one of the girls from upstairs came down with the request that the librarian look up the matter of the part-time school. A new messenger was needed, it seems, and they wished to get someone old enough to be above part-time school age limit. Immediately the librarian looked the matter up and calmly continued her conversation.

The library is in charge of Miss Benfer, who graduated from the Riverside Library school in 1920. She has been librarian of the company library since her completion of the library course and attended the company library part of the time before then. The library is under the office managers department. Employees of the company who want certain books in the library may fill out requisition blanks, which are approved by department heads, sent to the library, and then bought through the purchasing department.

Miss Louise Kemp, graduate of the Riverside library school, started the library in the Southern Sierras company. In April, 1919, she made a survey of all books and magazines owned by the company, and after much work, completed the classification of material. Suggestions for new books and additional periodicals were made, and later the company library was an established part of the company. A small room in the basement of the building was set apart for the library. At present the work has grown so that a room three times the size of the first one is used. The new room has been used since June, 1920.

The need of the business library is not growth in numbers so much as growth in service. Dead material must be weeded out, and new material added. The business library must be up-to-date in every way, in order to serve the company.

This morning 25 members of the library school visited the Southern Sierras institution. Miss Louise Krause, teacher of the class, has just completed a four-week's course in business libraries in the school and the visit this morning was to see a business library in operation. Miss Krause herself is librarian of Byllesby company of Chicago, an electrical company controlling plants in all parts of the country.—Riverside Press, Mr 16

During the quarter, two branches which had been disestablished for lack of custodianship have been re-established, and two new branches established. On March 23, a branch for the use of the nurses was established in the County Hospital, Miss G. G. Grey, Superintendent of Nurses, acting as custodian. The first shipment sent contained professional and reference books for the use of the nurses, as well as recreational reading. For a long time, books have been sent to the Folsom State Prison upon request but on March 7, through the efforts of Mr. L. Y. Leonard, Farm Adviser of Sacramento County, a regular branch was established, which will be added to and enlarged as the resources of the library permit. The County Librarian feels under great obligation to Mr Leonard for his efforts in securing the establishment of this important branch. A branch was established in the Center joint school district January 24.

On March 12, the County Librarian, as President of the California Library Association, attended the meeting of the Sixth District of the California Library Association at Santa Ana, and spoke upon the "REPORT OF THE SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE ON EDUCATION AS IT AFFECTS THE LIBRARIES OF THE STATE." At the invitation of the Farm Bureau, she also spoke at Modena, Orange County, on the evening of March 14, upon the same subject, and upon the subject of the county library system as a whole. On February 21, at the invitation of the Monday Club of Oroville, the County Librarian addressed the Club on "The Poetry of Rudyard Kipling," and enjoyed very greatly the hospitality of the Club, and of the County Librarian of Butte County, Miss Essae Culver. Most of the books at the general branch were transferred to the Trona Branch, which is near Borosolvay on Searles Lake.

Mrs J. A. Butler is the new custodian at Cima, having taken charge of the branch there January 17. The branch at Hesperia, owing to the death of Judge Finnegan, the custodian, was moved from his office February 1 to the store and post-office where it is in charge of Miss Veriel Walters. Mrs W. L. Carter is the new custodian at Needles, having taken charge of the branch there January 1, at the time Mrs H. B. Hartop resigned.

The branch at Bloomington was moved from the one-room building which it was occupying to a room in the schoolhouse and an additional bookcase provided the branch to accommodate a greater number of books needed owing to the growth of the branch. The move was a desirable one as the schoolhouse is used as a community center. During the quarter, the reading room at the Daggett Branch was fitted up with a table, chairs, rug, and new bookcase furnished by the County Library. A reading room was opened at Trona, January 19, 1921 and the branch library re-organized with Mrs Mabel W. Howard as custodian. New bookcases were provided by the County Library to accommodate books for about 600 people, employees and families of the American Trona Corporation. Table, desk, chairs and periodicals were also furnished. The library hours for the circulation of books are from 2 to 3 p.m. and 6.30 to 7.30 p.m. and the hours for the reading room are 2 to 9.30 p.m.

The County Free Library is giving some supplemental service to the U. S. Public Health Service Hospital at Arrowhead. The library at Arrowhead has been furnished by the A. L. A. supplemented by gifts from the public and is in charge of the American Red Cross Social Service Department of the Hospital under the supervision of the County Free Library. The County Free Library supplies magazine subscriptions to the reading room and books supplementary to the vocational educational work. These are sent through the American Red Cross to the vocational instructors when the instructors are not served from headquarters. Additional shelving both for books and magazines is being constructed at the hospital, also a newspaper rack for newspaper files. About 125 disabled war veterans are now at the Arrowhead Springs Hospital. Their library consists of about 800 books.

The Victor Valley Union High School is now working, in connection with the County Library, according to the regular high school plan.

The University of California will hold a Summer Session at the Chaffey Junior College of Agriculture, Ontario, California, beginning June 20 and closing July 30. The Chaffey Library is making extensive plans to meet the requirements of the various courses in this summer school. To this end, material that is not already in the library is being gathered from various sources. The Chaffey Library now contains 15,000 volumes and those dealing with agriculture and rural affairs constitute a large percentage of the list. In addition to this, the library receives 125 daily, weekly and monthly periodicals, many of which deal with various phases of agricultural work. Between 4000 and 5000 bulletins are also at the command of students in these courses.

Changes in the staff for the past quarter have included the resignation of Miss Claire Bonnell, who since September, 1918, has acted as librarian of the Logan Heights Branch, and head of the branch department for the past year. She left on March first to become city librarian of Orange. Miss Anna Allsebrook, librarian of the University Heights Branch, has succeeded Miss Bonnell as head of branches, and Mrs Elsie Denyes, who, since completing the three months' apprentice course in this library, has been in charge of branch cataloging, has been made librarian of Logan Heights Branch. Two junior assistants, Miss Gertrude Donohue and Miss Ethel Potter, have resigned, to take up commercial work and nursing. Their places have been filled by Miss Dorothy Earl, graduate of the San Diego Junior College, and Miss Gladys Nietmann, graduate of the San Diego High School.

Use of the two largest branches, Logan Heights Branch and University Heights Branch, has increased sufficiently to justify expansion in service and hours. University Heights is now open four evenings a week, Miss Katherine Moore, a State Normal School Student, acting as attendant for the two additional evenings. Miss Martha Fager acts as desk attendant for the three busiest afternoons at Logan Heights, to give the regular librarian opportunity for reference service.

Most of the library workers in San Diego gathered informally in the catalog room of the public library on the evening of February 9, to meet Miss Zulema Kostomlatsky, formerly the acting librarian of the public library of Portland, Oregon. All felt a helpful reaction from the practical suggestions and quickening ideals of the Portland system as she discussed them.

On the last day of February, Mr R. R. Bowker aroused our professional patriotism and ignited much amusement by his entertaining memories of library people and historic American Library Association meetings. He spoke for half an hour at our morning staff meeting.

The library is making a complete change in its Registration Department, an entirely new form of application being used for teachers' cards, deposit cards and borrowers.

During the recent election, an amendment to the City Charter was passed, granting a pension to city employees. This will embrace the library staff. Employees may retire on half-pay after thirty years continuous service. They may retire at the age of 62, if they have been 10 years in the service. They must retire at 70. In the case of an employee being incapacitated by accident or illness, the pension is given without regard to age or length of service. During the quarter, the most valuable deposit received was the Adolph Sutro letters and written documents covering the years 1853 to 1879, placed in the custody of the Sutro Branch by Dr Emma L. Merritt. It is to be considered a confidential deposit until Dr Merritt has time to look the material through, but, without doubt, most of it is to become a part of the Sutro Library. From the labels on the packages, it is evident that the material covers all of Adolph Sutro's principal activities during those years, and, if so, the material has very great historical value.

The return from the State Library of 178 volumes of Sutro Library newspapers, covering early years of the Chronicle and Examiner, adds greatly to the newspaper reference material in San Francisco. The unbound files of California newspapers which were a part of the Sutro Library, are being arranged and bound at the State Library in Sacramento and are being returned to the Sutro Branch after they are bound.

Periodical literature on photography for use through California libraries was added to very greatly during the quarter by the gift to the Sutro Branch from the Camera Craft Publishing Company of San Francisco, of all files received by that company in exchange for its publication. The files include many foreign publications.

A book display holder, "Have you read this?" has been placed on the loan desk and is proving a wonderful success. So far only nonfiction books have been shown.

The high cost of books and the limited amount of money available for new books, has made necessary new ways of increasing our income. So a "Rental Collection" has been established. Fifteen late fiction were taken as "starters," and placed on a shelf by themselves. A label, "These books may be borrowed for 10 cents a week," was inserted on the inside front cover of each book. The result was most satisfying and now late fiction, which we otherwise would not be able to buy, is purchased in this way. When these books have paid or nearly paid for themselves, they are put on the free shelves.

New stacks have been added to accommodate the overflowing shelves in the Exterior showcases, as a means of attracting new customers to the library, have been placed on the side-walk-front within full view of passers-by. That they are effective is apparent from the continual requests for books displayed therein, necessitating frequent replacements. New applicants, prompted by the display, learn for the first time what the building is really used for.

A model No. 78 Edison-Dick mimeograph has been installed, proving a great asset in getting out advertising matter, book lists, form letters, etc.

In order to supply more copies of popular fiction than the regular appropriation permits, a Duplicate Pay Collection has been established, from which books may be borrowed at five cents a week. Some indication of the feasibility of this plan is found in the continual and rapid circulation of the entire 150 books as yet added to this collection.

In February the County Library headquarters were changed from the Civic Club to a much more central location on the second floor of the Andrews Building, which is on Monterey just across the street from the County Court House. The quarters are commodious enough to allow for a good many years growth. The main room is large and attractive, so arranged as to be very convenient both for meeting the public and for the work of processing and handling the books. There are besides two smaller rooms, one a stock and packing room and one a school text room. Since the move to the down town district, the change in the number of visitors has been marked. County officers and teachers who had no time to go to the Civic Club come into the library now as a matter of course. We occupy three rooms in East Hall, to which we moved (or rather grew again from the beginning) after the fire that totally destroyed our library in June, 1915. We expect to have one more room next school year. We have one professional librarian and three student assistants, one being on duty for the evening sessions.

Accessions for the half year just past, $40, as against 671 for the corresponding semester of last year. Total, 10,640. Most of these are by purchase, and all of them desirable, since we do not accept gifts except with the understanding that we may dispose of those we do not wish to put on our shelves. The books are nearly all classified and labelled in white ink. Total borrowings for the semester, 9885, as against 6436 a year ago. The record would easily have doubled had we kept track of the use of the bound magazines, which last year were unbound and hence to be had only by slip. Magazines bound this semester, 83 volumes; a year ago, 82; total 518. Magazine list numbers 61, papers 5.

We received with the coming of our Professor Root, the best collection of books on the subject of peace in California, the former possession of the Northern California Peace Society. We will add to this our new accessions on the subject of the League of Nations, etc., keeping this collection unique.

Materials for the new library are being hauled to the site, and it is expected that work will begin shortly. Appropriate exercises will mark the laying of the corner stone, in which club women, school children and townspeople will participate.

Plans are being drawn for a $3000 Carnegie Branch for Riverbank.

The library is open for two afternoons and two evenings each week. The circulation has considerably increased since the change.

VISALIA FREE [PUBLIC] LIBRARY AND BRANCH, TULARE CO. FREE LIBRARY.
Mrs M. J. McEwen, Lib'n.

Visalia Free Public Library has given good service to the community this season. Attendance in the adult reading room really exceeds the capacity of the space allotted for that purpose and the juvenile attendance has been good. Circulation for the entire winter has exceeded an average of 100 books per day and the assistance given in reference work has exceeded former experiences. The school pupils have used the reference books for all kinds of school problems and the county and state libraries have been helpful in supplying scores of special requests.

Additional shelves has been added to the stacks, enough to shelve from 1000 to 1500 books.

Since January 1, 1921 we have added by purchase 149 volumes; 30 of which were juvenile and 119 adult. In December a full set of the American Nation Series was accessioned. All these books have been in active circulation since they were placed on the shelves. In March we received from the bindery 125 books which were immediately returned to circulation.

Our records show an average increase of 87 new borrowers per month for the past three months.

DIRECTORY FOR LIBRARY SUPPLIES AND OTHER ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Many public libraries waste a great deal of time and money before they find good places to get supplies. The plan is to give all libraries the benefit of the experience of the older libraries of the State by listing under different heads the houses that have been found to give satisfaction, the names and addresses being furnished by the older and larger libraries of California. In this way suggestions will be given as to where different sorts of books may be bought, where books may be rebound or periodicals bound, where library furniture may be bought, etc., both in California and in the East.

If any information is needed about the firms listed below which can not be obtained from the firms themselves, the names of the libraries recommending the different ones will be sent to any library upon application to the State Library.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The 26th annual meeting will be held at Tahoe Tavern, Lake Tahoe, June 13 to 15, 1921.

DISTRICT MEETINGS.Sixth District Meeting.

The morning of March 12, 1921, was grey and wet but more than 200 library workers from all parts of the Sixth District of the California Library Association found their way to Santa Ana where they met in the auditorium of the Christian Church for their annual conference.

At 10:20 o'clock the meeting was called to order by the District President, Miss Jeannette McFadden of the Santa Ana library. Dr. Ball, President of the Santa Ana Library Board, gave a short address of welcome.

Resolutions drawn up by the executive committee of the California Library Association were presented, urging that the University of California do everything in its power to develop a professional school for librarians at Berkeley. On motion of Joseph F. Daniels of Riverside, the resolutions were adopted.

Miss Jeannette McFadden was nominated and elected, as district nominator from the Sixth District, and Miss Helen Kennedy was chosen as alternate.

Miss Zaidee Brown of Long Beach explained a plan for certification of librarians which is to be presented at the state meeting at Tahoe in June. The plan was discussed by Mr Daniels, Mr Perry and Miss Horton, the general opinion being that while some plan for certification is desirable, the one under discussion is too vague and faulty. No action was taken.

Miss Louise B. Krause, Librarian of H. M. Byllesby & Co., Chicago, spoke on "The business library—A new application of an old ideal." She pointed out that not only the old ideal but the present and future ideal of librarianship is service, and told how it was being applied by the business libraries of today.

Miss Sarah M. Jacobus of Pomona gave a short talk on "What shall the Public Library save?" She emphasized the fact that everything which might in the future be of any value as local history should be carefully saved. Telephone directories, city maps, irrigation and fire district maps, pictures of people, streets, buildings, industries, and all books by local authors, regardless of merit,—all these should be classified and kept in the local history collection. But libraries should avoid collecting museum exhibits, as they take up too much room and are hard to care for.

Miss Cornelia D. Provines, President of the California Library Association, in her address, explained clearly that part of the report of the Special Legislative Committee on Education which refers to libraries. This report recommends that all agencies which are doing work with or for schools should become a part of the school system, and since county libraries are spending school money they, of course, would be included, and sooner or later all libraries would inevitably come under the same supervision.

Miss Provines said that legislation upon this matter will probably be deferred until the next legislature and she suggested that library people should acquaint themselves with that part of the report concerning libraries and give the matter their serious consideration. While no action was taken, the discussion which followed Miss Provines' address showed that most of the assembly considered this matter a serious menace to the character of the work being done by the libraries of the state.

At twelve o'clock the meeting adjourned for luncheon which was served at St. Ann's Inn, the members of the Association being the guests of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, the County Board of Supervisors and the Santa Ana Library Board.

At 1.30 the meeting was called to order and the afternoon program opened with a most inspiring address by Mrs Sarah McLean Mullen, of the English department of the Lincoln High School of Los Angeles. Her subject was, "Why read? How and What?" She made a plea for closer sympathy with what she termed "the rough neck boy." She said "there is nothing so hide bound as the courses of English in use in the United States." She also said that "just because a boy likes a book is no sign it is no good." That the purpose of a book is to make one think and react, to broaden the horizon, to make the reader a better working unit by knowing other units, to give him ideals to work toward and a common treasure store which he may enjoy with others. Mrs Mullen sees no reason why a boy should not be allowed to develop naturally and to choose the books that interest him, provided he is led by his instructors to consider what he thinks about the book rather than merely getting the story.

Following Mrs Mullen's talk, Miss Althea Warren of San Diego took the chair and conducted a symposium on recent library advertising. Poster making and advertising methods in use in Portland, Los Angeles and San Diego were discussed by Miss Zulema Kostomlatsky, Miss Monica Shannon and Miss Irene Eckes. The idea brought out no matter what methods of advertising are used, the purpose of all publicity work should be to build up a civic understanding of the use and educational value of the library.

Miss Gertrude Darlow of Los Angeles concluded the afternoon's program with one of her delightful talks on books. Most of her address dealt with methods that librarians may use in directing and assisting patrons in the selection of books. She emphasized the fact that a first-hand knowledge of the contents of books helps the attendant to inspire in others a desire to read them, hence library workers should read much and cultivate a taste for the best in literature.

Just before adjournment, Mr Daniels suggested that another symposium on library advertising be given a place on the program for the state meeting. Miss Warren spoke briefly on the need for publicity in regard to library work as a profession. Greater effort should be made to interest young people in the work.

Miss Brown proposed a vote expressing the appreciation and thanks of all those present for the hospitality extended by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, the Board of Supervisors and the Library Board, and also to the District President for the splendid and helpful program which all had enjoyed. The motion was seconded and accepted.

Owing to the inclement weather the auto ride which had been planned by the Chamber of Commerce was given up, and the meeting adjourned at four o'clock. After adjournment many of the guests accepted the invitation to visit the public library.

Secretary.

BOARD OF LIBRARY EXAMINERS, CALIFORNIA

MEMBERS OF THE BOARD.

Milton J. Ferguson, State Librarian, Chairman.

Everett R. Perry, Librarian, Los Angeles Public Library, Secretary.

Robert Rea, Librarian, San Francisco Public Library.

Sections 6 and 7 of the County free library law (Chap. 68, Cal. Statutes 1911) read as follows:

SEC. 6. A commission is hereby created to be known as the board of library examiners, consisting of the state librarian, who shall be ex officio chairman of said board, the librarian of the public library of the city and county of San Francisco, and the librarian of the Los Angeles public library.

SEC. 7. Upon the establishment of a county free library, the board of supervisors shall appoint a county librarian, who shall hold office for the term of four years, subject to prior removal for cause, after a hearing, by said board. No person shall be eligible to the office of county librarian unless, prior to his appointment, he has received from the board of library examiners a certificate of qualification for the office. At the time of his appointment, the county librarian need not be a resident of the county nor a citizen of the State of California.

REPORT OF THE CHAIRMAN.

At the meeting held on December 22, 1920, the following change in the rulings of the Board was adopted:

That on and after that date the Board of Library Examiners will give only one grade of certificate which shall make the holder thereof eligible for appointment to any county free librarianship in the state of California.

In making this change the Board gave notice that

1. Candidates must have had at least one full year's experience in a library of recognized standing before they will be admitted to examination.

2. Candidates must attain an average grade of at least 75 per cent in examinations to be granted a certificate.

3. The subjects on which markings will be based are the following:

- a. General education, library experience.
- b. Library science and technique.
- c. Library conditions and laws in California, and in general.
- d. Personality and fitness; executive ability.

Candidates falling below a 75 per cent marking in personality and fitness and executive ability may, in the discretion of the Board, be denied a certificate.

Persons who have heretofore been issued first or second grade certificates, but who are not employed as librarians of a county free library will be required to take the regular examination in order to receive the new certificates.

Persons who have heretofore been issued first or second grade certificates and who are employed as librarians of county free libraries may in the discretion of the Board receive the new certificates without being required to take the regular examinations. Holders of second grade certificates, however, will be asked to appear before the Board before the new certificates will be issued. Later notice thereof will be given. But the Board reserves the right in its judgment to require such persons whose certificates are about to expire to take the regular examinations.

The life of current certificates shall not be affected by above regulation.

CERTIFICATE HOLDERS.

NOTE.—First-grade certificates are valid for use throughout the state; second grade, in counties of the twenty-first to the fifty-eighth (except twenty-fifth, thirty-third, thirty-fifth and forty-second) classes, inclusive. Third-grade certificates, formerly issued for use in counties of the forty-ninth to the fifty-eighth classes, inclusive, are no longer issued.

The new certificate, issued for the first time, December 22, 1920, is valid for use throughout the state.

SUSAN T. SMITH, in charge.

The Reference Department furnishes information to any inquirer. It furnishes books to public libraries on request of the librarian, and to any other educational institution on request of its official head or its librarian; to individuals through the signature of a state officer, of the Librarian of the local library or of the official head of any other educational institution or on receipt of a $5.00 deposit; to a club or grange on request of its president, secretary or librarian. In counties having county free libraries, all requests must be made through the county free library.

There is an ever increasing demand for plays of all kinds and colored pictures of costumes for entertainments, pageants, dances and the stage. There is a dearth of useful printed material covering these two subjects. There are plays galore, which never seem just to suit the occasion.

Given all the requirements as to sex and number of characters, time allowance and nature of play, one of the essentials is always missing. Either the dialogue is inane, the action slow or the setting wrong. Then a play that reads well does not always produce well, and we have found no reliable lists.

Many of the clubs and schools have given successful performances. If any librarians know of any that have made a hit in the community, will she not send us the author and title with a brief summary of its chief characteristics—as number of characters, length of performance, and scope (comic or serious suitable for that class of amateurs, etc).

We will be glad to compile a list from the combined list and print in News Notes.

The same may be said as to costume. The most satisfactory pictures, especially in color, are not to be found in obvious sources, but pop out at one from an advertising page, a magazine or book of travel. Let us make a note of these for future reference.

CATALOG DEPARTMENT.

IDA G. MUNSON, in charge.

During January, February and March 1596 books were cataloged and 11,574 cards were added to the file.

At present the entire catalog staff is engaged in cataloging recent accessions.

The State Library, having found it impracticable to follow the classification outlined in the 10th edition of the Dewey decimal classification for European war material, owing to the large collection of earlier European history already classed in 940.1-9, has adopted the following scheme for the European war:

- 940.91 Great war (general)
- 940.911 Political history
- 940.912 Causes
- 940.92 Diplomatic history
- 940.921 Secret service
- 940.93 Military history
- 940.931 Land operations
- 940.932 Special campaigns
- 940.933 Air warfare
- 940.934 Naval history
- 940.935 Personal narratives
- 940.936 Prisons, hospitals, charities
- 940.937 Welfare work
- 940.938 Celebrations, commemorations
- 940.94-97 Individual countries (Divided like 940-999).

Regimental histories with the country number. e.g. 940.9421 English regimental history.

CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT.

EUDORA GAROUTTE, in charge.

The California Department aims to have a thoroughly good collection of books on the history and description, resources and industries of the State, as well as the works of California authors in all departments of literature. These are made accessible by means of a card catalog. Full names and biographical sketches of California authors, artists, musicians, pioneers and early settlers are being secured, together with their photographs. The collection of bound periodicals is quite large. The Department also contains about 7000 bound volumes of newspapers, a file of which is being indexed with reference to the history of the State. Students will be assisted in their work.

Pioneers and Early Settlers.

A granddaughter of George C. Yount has not only filled out a card for this pioneer of the pioneers but has also furnished a printed biography of which she is the author.

George C. Yount arrived in California in 1832 and was the first white settler in the Napa Valley. Later Mr Yount received as a grant the famous Caymus Rancho. He built the first flour and saw mills in this section. He lived at Caymus an honored and influential citizen until the time of his death, May 4, 1865.

We were also fortunate in receiving the biographical card of another noted pioneer who arrived prior to the American occupation. Major Pierson Barton Reading came to California in 1843. A year later he received a grant of 26,633 acres in what is now Shasta county. "Buena Ventura" was a small empire in itself and was the scene of many important events. Major Reading was prominent in the Bear Flag revolution, Paymaster with rank of Major in the Mexican war, Indian agent and also a candidate for Governor in 1851, but was defeated by John Bigler.

Major Reading was a close friend of General Bidwell and there are a number of interesting documents regarding him in the Bidwell collection which has recently been received by the State Library as a bequest from Mrs Bidwell.

Other cards received are as follows:

Brashear, William Samuel
Hayward, Horace
Lawson, Wade Hampton
Metteer, C. H.

The gap from 1904 to 1913, for which the cards were being copied from the San Francisco Call index, is now completely filled in.

Catalog.

Four hundred and forty-one cards have been added to the California catalog during the last quarter.

Donations.

The most interesting pictures received for some time have recently come to the department through the generosity of Phil B. Bekeart of San Francisco. They are of James W. Marshall. One is a colored photographic reproduction of a water color made of Marshall by Harrison Eastman, one of California's earliest artists. The other is a colored photographic reproduction of an old ambrotype. The original was made in 1849 and shows the discoverer of gold as he was at the time of his important discovery. These pictures give an entirely different impression of the man from that gained from his later portraits. Mr Bekeart also had these pictures framed and they are now hung where they can be seen by those who visit the Library.

Other pictures of especial interest are two original paintings by Jay Lewis, presented by his daughter, Mary A. Lewis; a picture of the old Marsh house, gift of Mrs Alice J. Whitbeck; photographs of a number of the old mining towns that came to us through the courtesy of Bert Hodson, a local photographer; and early pictures of the E. B. Crocker family, the gift of Misses Bessie and Mary Crouch.

Emile Bruguere, one of California's native musicians, who is now in Europe, has placed in the California musician section for preservation an autograph copy of his new opera "Querida." Mr Bruguere is the author of the libretto as well as the composer of the music.

A large number of books, pamphlets, programs, and other material has been received.

Home Teaching.

Miss Foley, home teacher of the blind, is at the Sutro Branch of the State Library, Sacramento and Webster streets, San Francisco, every Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. She gives lessons regularly in Alameda, Berkeley, Oakland, Palo Alto, San Bruno, San Jose and other places in that vicinity. She gives lessons regularly in Los Angeles and nearby places.

From January 1 to March 31 they gave 388 lessons in the homes of the blind and 177 lessons at the libraries and institutions on the 54 afternoons they spent in them. Miss Foley and Miss Morrison have made 157 visits and calls in connection with the work for purposes other than giving lessons, and received 33 visits in connection with the work.

During the quarter Miss Foley and Miss Morrison spent 180 hours on correspondence and preparing lessons. They wrote 387 letters and 152 postals and received 269 letters and 25 postals. They also answered and made 446 telephone calls. They made four addresses before various clubs and organizations. Miss Foley teaches regularly in Oakland a class of seeing people to write Braille. The various other activities in connection with the work of the home teachers can not be easily tabulated.

Miss Foley was in Sacramento during March, giving lessons to pupils there. Miss Morrison was in San Diego in March for one week, giving lessons and seeing borrowers and pupils, etc.

Persons who know of possible pupils anywhere in Orange, Los Angeles or San Diego counties are urged to communicate with Miss Catharine J. Morrison, 306A S. Bonnie Brae, Los Angeles (telephone Wilshire 5339); and anywhere around the bay, with Miss Kate M. LEGISLATION OF THE 1921 CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE.

By JOSEPH H. QUIRE, Law and Legislative Reference Librarian, California State Library.

Aid to returned veterans and reorganization of the state government were the two outstanding subjects upon which the 1921 session of the California legislature passed legislation of a permanent and policy-determining character. As a result of the group of soldier aid measures California offers to its veterans financial and educational aid of a character which ranks with the best offered by any of the other states. By the administrative changes resulting from the several reorganization bills, the state takes its place with the other progressive American states which are endeavoring to coordinate the many-functioned agencies of government.

In other fields of legislation, the emphasis at the recent session was placed on matters relating to agriculture, natural resources and the development of the material wealth of the state. Social legislation has received such generous consideration at previous sessions of the legislature that the 1921 measures were largely amendatory or procedural in their nature. Only a few acts were passed relating to labor or to women and children, subjects which occupied much attention in the 1917 and 1919 sessions.

Reform of the administration of justice in the interest of persons unable to bear the heavy costs of litigation received attention in two new acts. To simplify the procedure for settling small claims, the legislature provided that all justices' courts should act as small claims courts for this purpose. The office of public defender, created and popularized in Los Angeles county, was made a county office for the ten larger counties of the state. This officer is to defend persons without means in criminal actions and to give assistance in worthy cases in civil matters.

Prohibition was again the subject for a long and bitter struggle which ended in the passage of the Wright Act, by which the state adopts the federal prohibition law as state law and requires state and local officers to enforce its provisions.

An increase in the corporation tax rates levied for state purposes was made by the King bill. Out of the fight which was waged over the question of making the raise there resulted several new measures providing for the collection of information relating to the value of the properties taxed and the relative burden of taxation as compared with general property taxed for local purposes.

The usual large number of educational laws was passed, relating for the most part to procedural and formal changes necessitated by the continued expansion of educational activities in the state. Among the new laws in this field are those regulating the conduct of foreign language schools, establishing citizenship classes for applicants for citizenship, providing schools for children of migratory workers and making more permanent the tenure of teachers.

Signs of the times can be seen in many of the new measures. Aircraft became the subject for legislative action for the first time in 1919 when penalties were imposed for hunting in airplanes. At the 1921 session the commercial status of the airplane was recognized by a law providing for the registration of aircraft and licensing of operators. The country-wide campaign for "truth in advertising" finds expression in a penal law to prevent the misrepresentation of the character of second-hand and defective merchandise. And even the big league baseball scandal has stirred the California legislators to action by passing a measure which will send to jail anyone who will try to "throw" a game if it seems the Senators are about to take the pennant from the Seals.

A long ballot at the general election in November, 1922, is forecasted by the fourteen constitutional amendments and the two bond issues which the legislature passed for submission at that time. To the lay voter, most of the constitutional amendments will seem extremely technical and entirely removed from the range of knowledge which he can bring to play in voting intelligently on the subjects concerned. One amendment, for instance, authorizes the legislature to classify counties for the purpose of regulating the title insurance business and another relates to the procedure governing judges pro tempore. Each general election sees a growing number of amendments of the type which try the voter's mind and patience. This condition is a natural outgrowth of the tendency to write statutory material into the constitution where it is put beyond the pale of legislative amendment and can be changed only by vote of the people. The condition will continue until a new constitution dealing only with fundamentals is adopted or until by constitutional amendment the legislature is reinvested with the power to make these detailed changes.

The bond issues which will be voted on are the ten million dollar issue for veteran land settlement and farm and home site projects and the three million dollar issue for the continuation of the established land settlement projects of the state land settlement board.

In addition to these propositions for which the legislature is responsible, the Wright Prohibition Act, the State Housing Act, and the Act relating to the practice of law by banks have been suspended by the referendum. As it is more than likely that at least two initiative measures will make their appearance, the voter in 1922 will have at least twenty propositions on which to indicate a choice, as well as a complete list of state officers to elect.

The legislature adjourned without taking action on one of the most important items on the agenda for the session—that of reapportionment of the congressional and legislative districts on the basis of the population returns of the 1920 census. Early in the session it was seen that the task was one requiring long and concentrated deliberation which was not possible at a regular session. The possibilities of California being given an increased congressional representation made it seem wise to defer action until Congress had spoken in the matter. A special session therefore is on the calendar for the settlement of this intricate problem.

The 1921 legislature broke all records for quantity of output. The new volume of statutes will consist of 915 laws, which is over three times the number of laws passed in the session twenty years ago. This record would seem to confirm the belief that the state suffers from over-legislation on the part of its zealous law makers. Whatever truth there may be in that assumption, there is another side to the story which is not appreciated by the general public and, indeed, by very few new legislators until they are several weeks along in the session. Probably two-thirds of the bills considered and passed by the legislature have no direct bearing on the general welfare of the whole state or the rights and duties of its individual citizens. Instead, they are local bills, such as county salary bills, irrigation district validation acts, special appropriation bills, and code amendments making minor but necessary changes in matters of school administration or court procedure. These are routine measures which must be passed to observe legal requirements and to care for the normal changes wrought by time and experience. They provide little opportunity for eloquent debate, have no attraction for the newspaper correspondents and require nights of tedious committee meetings and days of dreary roll-calls. If they add to the size of the statute book, the legislature is not to be blamed for a reckless enthusiasm in writing new laws but is rather to be commiserated with for the irksome hours which the increase represents. Each session sees a number of new members of the legislature who are disillusioned by this ordeal and are willing and eager to pass the honors of public life to some other aspirant in the district.

In the following summary, a rough grouping by subject matter is made of the important legislation of the session. The bound volume of statutes, in the preparation of which the State Printing Office and the State Library, through its Law and Legislative Reference Department, are now at work, will be ready for distribution by the Secretary of State sometime early in September.

Soldier aid.

Two groups of bills relate to soldier aid, the one group providing a comprehensive plan of financial and educational assistance to returned veterans, and the other group conferring certain privileges or allowing certain exemptions because of war service.

The first group is to be administered by the veterans' welfare board and provides: (1) financial aid in the purchase of a farm or home or home site; (2) development of land settlement colonies for soldier purchase; and (3) assistance in securing educational advantages. A veteran accepting assistance under one act is precluded from accepting assistance under the other two. Appropriations are provided for placing each of these acts in operation as soon as the board is organized, which will probably be some time in August. In addition, a ten million dollar bond issue, to be voted on in November, 1922, was passed to continue the work of the first two projects. The provisions of these four acts are briefly as follows:

Educational opportunities. (S. B. 593, Chap. 579.) A veterans' educational institute is established under the veterans' welfare board to provide assistance in meeting the educational needs and desires of returned service men. Five hundred thousand dollars is appropriated.

Farm and home aid. (A. B. 822, Chap. 519.) Assistance is given to veterans in the purchase of farm land in any part of the state which they may desire or in the purchase of a city home or home site. The farm land is not to exceed in value seven thousand five hundred dollars and the home or home site five thousand dollars. Purchases are made by the board on application of the veteran, who makes repayment in not more than forty years. Two million dollars is appropriated.

Land settlement. (S. B. 594, Chap. 580.) A land settlement plan, similar to that now being carried out by the state land settlement board, is provided under the direction of the veterans' welfare board. The board is to subdivide tracts into farm allotments and farm laborers' allotments and to sell these allotments on term payments not exceeding forty years. The value of the allotments without improvements is not to exceed fifteen thousand dollars for farm allotments and one thousand dollars for farm laborers' allotments. The act carries an appropriation of one million dollars.

Veterans' welfare bond issue. (S. B. 592, Chap. 578.) A bond issue of ten million dollars is authorized, to be voted on in November, 1922, for the purpose of providing funds for continuing the work begun by the soldier land settlement act and the veterans' farm and home purchase act.

The second group consists of the following laws which in other ways recognize the services of the state's veterans:

Badges. (A. B. 1267, Chap. 172.) Penalties are imposed for unlawfully wearing the badge or other insignia of organizations composed of war veterans.

Business licenses. (A. B. 906, Chap. 164; A. B. 909, Chap. 165.) Cities and counties are not to impose business licenses on veterans of the world war.

Civil service preferences. (S. B. 26, Chap. 577.) In examinations for policemen and watchmen, veterans are to have preference in appointment. In other examinations, veterans and widows of veterans are to be allowed an additional percentage of five per cent. General and individual preferences may be made in the ratings of veterans who have suffered permanent disability in line of duty. In examinations requiring journeyman experience, war service is to count as journeyman experience.

Dependents, education of. (S. B. 975, Chap. 349.) The veterans' welfare board is authorized to provide for the education of dependents of veterans from moneys derived from the sale of delinquent tax lands.

Meeting places and homes. (S. B. 935, Chap. 348.) Counties are authorized to provide meeting places or memorial halls for the use of patriotic organizations of ex-service men and to provide homes for veteran soldiers.

Official fees. (S. B. 25, Chap. 326.) Marines, Red cross and army and navy nurses are included in the group for whom city and county officials are to perform certain official services without charging a fee.

School land purchasers. (A. B. 404, Chap. 118.) Purchasers of school lands who failed to pay interest because of war service are given until December 31, 1921, to make such payments.

Tax exemptions. (A. C. A. 24, Chap. 52.) The present exemption of one thousand dollars worth of property of a war veteran is made to include persons who have been released from active duty under honorable conditions. This will be voted upon in November, 1922.

Teachers' retirement salaries. (S. B. 214, Chap. 855.) Service in the military and naval forces is to be counted as service in computations under the teachers' retirement salary act.

War history. (A. B. 184, Chap. 10.) An appropriation of $2500 is made to complete the record of California's part in the world war and biographical sketches of California men. Another measure permits a county to raise by taxation not over $2500 for issuing a county war history. (A. B. 909, Chap. 165.)

Weeds.

Inflammable weeds. (A. B. 1273, Chap. 891.) Inflammable grass and weeds on suburban home sites or lots in unincorporated territory may be declared a public nuisance and be removed.

Noxious weeds. (S. B. 231, Chap. 724.) Prevention of propagation of noxious weeds.

Women and children.

Death penalty for minors. (A. B. 1282, Chap. 105.) The death penalty for murder is not to be imposed on persons under eighteen years of age.

Divorce proceedings. (S. B. 526, Chap. 355.) The present code section providing for secret pleadings and testimony in divorce cases is repealed.

Marriage of minors. (A. B. 1104, Chap. 233.) The age at which minors may marry without the consent of the parents is raised from 18 to 21 years in the case of males and from 15 to 18 years in the case of females.

Parental relation. (S. B. 138, Chap. 136.) An action may be brought to determine between the parties the relation of parent and child, by birth or adoption.

Support of minor. (S. B. 124, Chap. 911.) In an action to force a parent to furnish necessities to a minor child, it is no defense that others have provided for the child.

LIBRARY LEGISLATION, 1921.

Outlines of a Report Made at the Tahoe Conference of the California Library Association.

By MILTON J. FERGUSON, Librarian, California State Library.

Sometimes the thing not done is as important as the thing accomplished; or, in the case of a possible piece of legislation which might have changed the world for the library system of California, very much more important. As the Report of the Special Legislative Committee on Education has already been discussed by me in some detail, I do not feel it necessary to dwell upon its recommendations. There is no real conflict, however, between school and library; each has an extremely important mission, and will accomplish the best results by a reasonable cooperation rather than through forceful subordination. The Report in so far as it touches the library question is founded upon insufficient knowledge and investigation. It is a phrasing, however, of the theories of a certain school of educators; it brought the subject to a focus, and for that reason alone is worth while. The best imaginable argument against the proposal of the drafter of the Report is the contrast between the failure of school library service of other years and its unlimited success under the modern plan of cooperation with the county libraries.

Reorganization, nevertheless, was in the air; and two plans were presented to the Legislature. As the Taxpayers' system was not cordially received, it may be overlooked; as may also the so-called administration bills except the one relating to the Department of Finance. At first glance it may seem peculiar to group the State Library in such a department. It is, however, a reasonable arrangement, since the only branch of the state government with which the State Library has official business dealings—other than in the giving of library service—is the Department of Finance. There is no possibility of conflict between the Library as a division and the Department as its governing power. During the past several years these two instrumentalities of government have, on account of their business relationship, been brought into understanding and harmony. It is, therefore, not anticipated that the governing board of the Department of Finance, which under the law falls heir to the duties, powers, purposes and responsibilities of the Board of State Library Trustees, will desire to push its control beyond a reasonable and general business supervision of the Library which has in reality been exercised for several years.

In one respect the new law makes a radical change. It was felt that since library service has attained professional proportions it would be well if the law required the appointment as State Librarian of a person qualified for the position. Accordingly, at one of the hearings the suggestion was made to the Committee on Governmental Efficiency that a clause be written into the bill restricting appointment to persons experienced in the management and control of libraries. As the bill was finally passed it provides that the "state librarian shall be a technically trained librarian." This provision is certainly in harmony with the struggle of library workers for recognition on a professional basis; and the thanks of our forces are due both Legislature and Governor for heeding our requests.

If, however, we were attempting to return thanks for benefits bestowed by the administration, we would only be at the threshold in recording the item mentioned above. In a year when every effort was made to trim state budgets, and when, on account of laws approved by the people at the polls, it was necessary to appropriate large additional sums, the value of the work of the State Library was recognized and its biennial fund increased from $200,000 to $304,900. The increase does not place us in the excess profits class, by any means; but it will enable us to pay a little better in salaries, thereby encouraging our personnel, and will go part way towards making up for the enhanced cost of books.

So far as the State Library itself is concerned one of the most significant acts of the Legislature was the adoption of the measure under the terms of which $400,000 will be available to promote the sale of the Capitol Extension Bonds. The great advance in the cost of building since the bonds were voted in November 1914, the necessity of marketing the bonds at par, and the further fact that the bonds bear an interest rate of only four per cent have combined to keep our beautiful plans locked up in the State Architect's vault. Meanwhile, the Library's collections have grown to such proportions that it is no longer possible to house them in the Capitol building; they have overflowed into the basement of a business building where they are not accessible. And what is more distressing, all the possessions of the Library, whether in the Capitol or out, are subject to a fire risk frightful to contemplate. If California should be visited by fire in the way New York, Missouri, and West Virginia—to name only a few—have been in recent years, then we would lose information concerning our great commonwealth which could not possibly be replaced. The most joyful news which could be given to the press would be the early announcement that the first spadeful of earth had been turned and that there would be no cessation of labor until the last hammer tap had sounded.

We are happy to chronicle the adoption by other states of county library laws. This list may not be complete; but notice has come of successful effort on the part of Hawaii, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio, and Tennessee; while New York has made her statute more workable by amendment. No study, careful or otherwise, has been made of these measures; but, in contrast to the simplicity of our own act, it is not possible to pass by without comment the peculiarly complicated multiplicity of boards which has been written into the Tennessee law. We congratulate our sister states on their success in acquiring a fundamental law upon which to base their future library activities.

In California certain vital amendments were secured which must vastly influence the progress of our work. Among these mention should be made, with much satisfaction, of the change in the Political Code section under which funds are apportioned for school library purposes. The development of the county library has been so rapid, its possibility of service has become so great, and the need on the part of the school has become so pressing that in many of the two thousand districts now within the fold the service received has cost the county library giving it twice, thrice and not infrequently ten times the money paid. Such disproportion could be attained only at the expense of the general public service; and while no doubt it could be justified for a limited period, it is a defect which in the end cried for correction.

The percentage basis of fixing the district school library fund, under the amendment, has been abolished; and in its place has been substituted a minimum of not less than twenty-five dollars per teacher. Whereas in a five teacher school formerly the maximum fund amounted to only seventy-five dollars, under the new act the minimum may not fall below one hundred and twenty-five dollars. The provision covering cities governed by city boards of education, setting a maximum of eighty cents per pupil, has not been changed.

A reading of the county free library act would seemingly leave no one in doubt as to the status of the county librarian. There are, however, at least two interpretations of every measure on the books, whatever may be the skill of the draughtsman. It is not surprising, therefore, that some of the district attorneys should question the assumption that the county librarian is a county official. The Attorney General was asked for an opinion; it confirmed the usual interpretation, but did not in all cases satisfy the questioners. Consequently, when an opportunity came during the session to amend the law and name the county librarian, in black and white, officially and unmistakably as a county official, it was seized. The deed is done.

Finally, we come to one more place in the story where the administration is due our sincerest thanks. Bills increasing the salaries of thirty-one county librarians came into the Governor's hands. He weighed them all carefully and in the end every measure received his official sanction. Today the lowest paid county librarian, Modoc with a population of only 5,425 persons, receives $1000; while at the head of the list stands Fresno at $4000. The combined increase amounts to the not unrespectable figure of $14,680 per year. Further, in three counties, bills were approved whereby salaries which through reclassification would be reduced were kept at the old figure.

From every angle the legislative program of the year, while not revolutionary, marked a steady and satisfactory growth. Officially and unofficially the librarian and his service are being taken as eminently worth while. The financial support needed is given less and less grudgingly; and the California librarian who is not inspired to greater effort, it must sadly be acknowledged, has either never had the gleam or has lost it. Either condition is one of pitiable sadness.

LOS ANGELES PUBLIC LIBRARY'S CAMPAIGN FOR A BUILDING.

By MONICA SHANNON, Los Angeles Public Library.

It would take a more verbose, exuberant pen than mine to adequately describe the Los Angeles Public Library's recent campaign for a building. Someone on the order of Mr H. G. Wells, who sits up night after night ensconced in a special arm chair pouring out cup after cup of strong tea and page after page of language, should undertake it.

The Los Angeles Public Library, as nearly everyone is aware, has never had a central library building. With the exception of early years in the City Hall, this library has always been housed in rented quarters in the business district. It now occupies three floors of the Metropolitan Building, on one of the busiest corners in the city.

Los Angeles is said to be one of the fastest growing cities in the United States, but during the last ten years the Public Library grew twice as fast as the city, so that the problem of taking care of this patronage in crowded office quarters, reached only by elevators, has become day by day more baffling. The Library also faced a greatly increased rental at the expiration of its present advantageous lease in 1924. Consequently, although this did not seem the most favorable time financially to ask the people of Los Angeles to vote bonds for a library building, so urgent was the need that the Library Board of Directors appeared before the City Council on April first with an earnest plea for the appearance of the library issue on the spring ballot.

The City Fathers finally put a $2,500,000 bond issue for a library building and site on the June seventh ballot, together with a sewer bond proposition of $12,250,000; viaduct bonds $1,000,000; fire and police bonds $1,250,000; water bonds $2,500,000; and harbor bonds $4,800,000; and all the prophets foretold failure for Library Bonds.

Immediately an outline of all possible points of attack was drawn up for the library campaign and committees appointed from the staff to begin an onslaught at strategic places. The outline covered the following mediums of publicity: newspapers, suburban, technical, religious, fraternal, school, and the five big city dailies; business and technical societies and associations, department stores and factories, scientific and agricultural associations, trade unions and civic and fraternal associations, clubs, schools, churches and religious organizations, foreign colonies, motion pictures, theatre programmes and menu cards; advertising in the Library. Committees were also appointed to reach political candidates, provide speakers and arrange for distribution of the printed material. A set of "Facts and Figures for Campaign Workers" was sent to each member of the staff, and the greatest enthusiasm raged.

The printed matter was the next consideration. It had to be prepared as quickly as possible because the election was only a few weeks ahead. A chart of the printed matter was made showing size, material and quantity required. Posters, placards, banners, stickers for automobiles, dodgers to be left at every home, a printed postal to be mailed out by staff members and friends with a personal message, were decided upon. The poster design was donated by a commercial artist and the dodgers had a clever cartoon by Gale, the well-known cartoonist of the Los Angeles Times. The post card read as follows:

"Friend of the Library:

Win Votes for Library Bonds June 7.

The Public Library has been FIFTY YEARS WITHOUT A HOME. Los Angeles is the only large city in the United States which has never owned its own Central Library Building.

RENT IS WASTE. During the last fifteen years the Public Library has paid $265,000 for rent.

Library Bonds will only cost 2 cents on every $100 worth of assessed valuation of property.

Let us build a Library such as San Francisco has and take our place with progressive cities!

VOTE "YES" ON PROPOSITION 3—June 7th."

The placards said:

"Los Angeles! YOU NEED A LIBRARY. VOTE YES Proposition No. 3, June 7. 'Own your own Public Library.'"

Large banners were swung from all of the branch libraries. Those on contented Carnegie branches had the slogan: "Branches will not grow unless Main Trunk flourishes. Wake up! Vote for a Main Library Building June 7."

The slogan used for the other branches was: "The Public Library for Everybody, Everybody for the Public Library Building. Vote Yes on Proposition 3, June 7."

A banner was also hung across the entrance of the Metropolitan Building "Vote Yes on Proposition 3, June 7"; and at the corner of the entrance the eyes of each passer-by read: "Wake up, Los Angeles. Vote for a Library Building and take your place with progressive cities."

There were posters in the elevators and banners and posters in all parts of the Library. The Bulletin Boards contained pictures of fine library buildings in the United States, and an unobtrusive but active publicity was done over the charging desk by quiet remarks to its patrons. All of the magazines, newspapers and outgoing mail were stamped: "Friend of the Library. Win Votes for Library Bonds," and slips "Vote Yes on Proposition 3, Own your own Public Library" or "Save Money, Stop paying rent, Own your Own Public Library, Vote Yes Proposition 3, June 7," went out with all books.

A large Los Angeles department store designed a special circular and enclosed it in their packages. The Library had copies made and induced the other stores to use it as an enclosure. Several of the leading stores and banks had window exhibits and the former also ran Library publicity in their newspaper advertisements. A billboard company presented the Library with $1100 worth of space and forty billboards were posted in prominent places.

The motion picture producers made a special film showing the crowded conditions in the Library, which was run at all the principal downtown theatres. The clubs and state societies were reached by letter and all of the large clubs gave the Public Library a place on their programmes, and in some instances appointed special committees to work with the Library and printed earnest appeals to their members to support library bonds in their monthly bulletins. While even the smallest eating houses on the East side ran "Food for Thought. Vote Yes on Proposition 3, Own your own Central Library Building" on their menu cards; and big downtown theatres printed slogans on every page of their programmes. At a large international exhibit planned by the Federation of Women's Clubs, different nationalities donated space on the programmes asking their people in Greek or Spanish, as the case might be, to "Vote 'Yes' on Proposition 3, June 7." A Czech artist donated a remarkable and striking poster urging all people wherever born to vote for a library building. This poster was displayed in the window of a big furniture store on Broadway.

Talks were made in all sorts of places: at the Labor Temple, at a street dance and political rally, to laundry workers during their noon hour, at Community sings, before the Audubon Society, Llewellyn Iron Workers, Musicians' Club, Apartment House Association, and every conceivable place that it was found possible to squeeze a speaker in.

Articles appeared everywhere in house organs, in technical journals, in church calendars and in foreign and negro newspapers. The work with the negroes was most effective. Early in the campaign a negro, on the editorial staff of one of the evening papers, addressed a letter over his signature to hundreds of prominent people of his race, using the editorial letterhead of his paper. The letter was multi-graphed and envelopes addressed by the Library.

The five big city papers stood together on this one bond issue and gave most generous and effective space, especially in consideration of the fact that a big political battle for the mayoralty was being waged at the same time.

Editorials and persistent articles of direct publicity appeared in all the daily papers. One evening paper ran a large copy of the Library's poster, and a morning Sunday edition had a photographic sheet of the crowded conditions in the Library. The leading ministers of the city in Sunday sermons urged their congregation to vote for a library building, and these earnest appeals were printed on a half-sheet of a big morning paper.

Statements were secured from leading educators, clergymen, financiers and other men and women of affairs, containing their whole-hearted understanding of the meaning of the Public Library in the life of the city and these letters, together with the endorsements of clubs and associations, were compiled into newspaper publicity.

The Library Bonds were the only ones that carried with the sole exception of the Harbor Bonds. The Library polled 63,852 favorable votes and the Harbor issue, which was backed by big business, 56,172. The victory was due to concentrated unflagging zeal on the part of Library Board, Librarian and Staff. The Library worked, just as a symphony orchestra does, as one unit and the last measures arose in a fine, triumphal strain of "Victory."

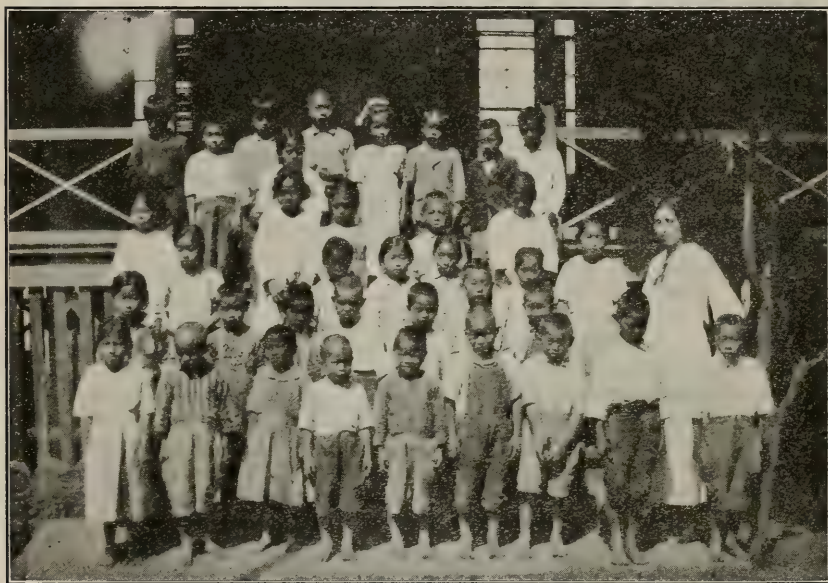

LIBRARY EXTENSION WORK IN THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS.

By LAURA ROBSON, Assistant Librarian, Library of Hawaii, Honolulu.

Library work in the Hawaiian Islands presents certain difficulties not met with on the mainland. Here there is a very small "middle class"—the chief patrons of a library. Outside of Honolulu we have a small white population made up of wealthy old families, plantation managers and a few trained office and techni-

Koreans and Porto Ricans. Very few Hawaiians labor in the plantations.

After visiting the small rural schools in California, I was not prepared to see such large numbers of children in these country districts. This is, of course, accounted for by the connection of the schools with the plantations. The white children are cal men, and a large number of dark-skinned laborers. The proportion will range perhaps from fifty to one hundred white people in a community to several thousand Orientals.

One who has not known at first hand something of the conditions here does not grasp the significance of the plantation system. At first hand it seems to be a relic of feudalism. Each plantation provides cottages for the laborers, arranged in camps—often several on the holdings—has a school or schools, a company store, clubhouse, welfare worker, etc. Half of the laborers are Japanese; the rest, Filipinos, Chinese, Portuguese, sent to boarding schools or have governesses at home. Their parents, who are the tax payers, do not derive benefit from the schools. The schools are built on the cottage plan. There is a central building with several one-room buildings. Light without glare is obtained in these cottages by having about two feet of wire screening along the top of the walls. The walls are of single boards.

It has been my work since I arrived six months ago to continue with the traveling libraries sent out to schools, communities and homes by the territorial library, the Library of Hawaii, and to do propaganda work toward the establishing of a county library system. We were told at first that there was absolutely no possibility of a change this year, but we kept on and a short time ago, the county library bill was passed by the Legislature, and the appropriations asked for, granted. Several bills were prepared. The one finally presented was made up, with the help of the California County Library Law, by a committee on Maui. For this reason, it had more support from the

on the Island. An old church library has been revived by the high school librarian. Two gifts, totalling four hundred dollars, were made to her to buy children's books, and a minstrel show last month brought over four hundred dollars for other books. I am sure that the county library on Kauai will also receive material helps from time to time.

The County of Maui has the same type of people and some of the wealthy fam-outside islands than if it had been prepared by the Library of Hawaii.

The appropriations will be available the first of July. Of the four counties in the Territory, two will establish county libraries, one will act under contract, and the fourth will be a department of the Library of Hawaii.

Of the first two mentioned, Kauai is the smallest county in the Territory. It is called the "Garden Island" and boasts a miniature Grand Canyon of the Colorado, and a mountain with the highest rainfall in the world. A lot near the court house has been offered by the plantation and the building will doubtless be erected by some of the wealthy families ilies there will want to give aid to the library. This county takes in three islands—Maui, Molokai and Lanai. Maui is famous for its extinct volcano, Haleakala, the crater of which is so large that New York City could be dropped in and room would be left. A small part of Molokai is taken up by the leper settlement. Maui will probably issue county bonds for the erection of a library building.

The Island of Hawaii is the farthest south of the group. This, known as the "Big Island," is visited by thousands of tourists, who want to see an active volcano. Miss Margaret Newman from the Kern County Free Library, California, arrived a month ago to become Librarian at Hilo, the county seat. The library was erected some few years ago by residents and has been maintained almost entirely by territorial funds. The county library law just passed provides for the extension of the Hilo library service to include the whole island.

The rural part of Oahu, the island on which Honolulu is located, will be served as a department of the Library of Hawaii. This department will also provide the school library collections in Honolulu, and do the reference work required from the other islands.

Appropriations granted are eight thousand dollars for Kauai, ten thousand for Maui, twelve thousand five hundred for Hawaii.

Branch visiting by county librarians in California has been done in several different ways—by train, machine, or horseback—but almost wholly on dry land. In connection with the traveling libraries I have made three interesting water trips to outside islands.

I left for Maui early in December by the good ship Mauna Kea. After a seven hours' run, during which we passed Molokai with its mountain range sticking like a back-bone out of the water, we reached Lahaina on the east coast of the Island. Instead of drawing up to a conventional wharf, we stopped in mid-ocean. A stairway was let down over the side of the boat. "Ladies and children first" walked down the stairway, clinging to the sides, and when the platform was reached, stepped into a bobbing rowboat. This was a large one as rowboats go, rowed by two Hawaiians each with a large oar. The wreath of flowers on their hats contrasted strangely with their powerful figures.

I was met and entertained during my two days' stay on this side of the island and also during the six days on the other side. The branches visited included a pineapple cannery, a sugar mill and settlement houses. Most of the school visiting was done with the Supervisor of Education. In one school visited, the second graders sang very beautifully some three-part songs without accompaniment. Their voices were subdued and perfectly balanced.

The excitement of the return trip in the rowboat out to the steamer was increased by being at midnight and with a drunken man who wanted to hold a fellow-passenger's crying baby and several other children. It is not possible to make reservations on this boat, so I had for a roommate a large Hawaiian woman, who spoke no English. Her luggage consisted of three bundles tied up in ti leaves.

My next trip was to the Island of Kauai in January. We landed in a rough sea at two thirty in the morning. We had no volition in the matter of getting into the rowboat. This rode the crest of the wave and as it passed under the platform, a passenger was dropped in. It was a highly exhilarating experience.

On this Island I saw two fine new community houses being built on plantations. They are providing for a reading room.

My trip home from Kauai was very exciting. It was so stormy that the captain left at a port some fifteen miles from the scheduled place. The stairway was not let down for the passengers to get from the rowboat to the steamer. As the rowboat came on the crest of the wave, a passenger standing on the seat was hoisted up to the opening where freight is loaded. During the night a big wave struck amid-ships and flooded the cabins.

The next trip was made in April to the Island of Hawaii, a twenty hours' run from Honolulu. Miss Newman went with me on a four days' automobile trip around the Island. To me this is the most interesting island of the group because it is the most untouched by modern life. The other islands seem a huge cultivated field. Only a very small part of Hawaii is put to cane and almost none to pineapple. The central part is taken up with two mountains, each fourteen thousand feet high. Down the slopes of these and reaching to the sea, are miles and miles of lava desert with not a green thing growing. On the west coast are coffee plantations. Except in the cane districts of the northern coast the communities are small groups of Hawaiians—small farmers and fishermen. We noticed the characteristic charm and friendliness of the Hawaiians in the school children here. In these small schools the teachers and children are Hawaiian.

One of the important parts of the library work to be developed through the county is the community service. This has not been worked out through the traveling libraries. One reason is the personal service given by the Library of Hawaii to home libraries. These home library borrowers are well-to-do white people who wish only the late books. It may be that when the county library system is established that these people will not care to use a community collection. The traveling libraries are sent to about one hundred homes, one hundred and twenty-five schools and fifty communities.

Books for schools must be graded two or three years lower than for white children because of the difficulty the children have with English. They are very eager indeed for books. One teacher told me that she had trouble with books being stolen from the school after hours and that the one she never could keep was Eggleston's History of the United States. Following this, the preference was for stories of Rome and Greece. Children of whatever age clamour for fairy stories. It is the greatest fun imaginable to tell stories in the class-room and see the rows of spell-bound almond eyes. A Hawaiian teacher told of how her children would read or tell the stories from the library books to the older people who could not read, and how these grown-ups would weep at the sad stories. During "Hans and Gretel" they would shed tears continually.

The class of reading done is of a very high order. A few communities have asked that only non-fiction be sent. Especially on the other islands the people are starved for reading and appreciate all that is done for them. It is a satisfaction to be told by them that books are their life-savers. We are all looking forward to the time when each island will have its own collection with a certificated librarian who can do the intensive library work which the Territory so very much needs and which the Library of Hawaii through its traveling libraries has not been able to do.

An act providing for the establishment, maintenance, regulation and government of county free libraries and county public libraries, and making an appropriation for the assistance of the same.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the Territory of Hawaii:

Section 1. The boards of supervisors of the several counties of the Territory of Hawaii shall have power to establish and maintain, within their respective counties, county free libraries, in the manner and with the functions prescribed in this Act.

Sec. 2. Following the establishment of a county free library the board of supervisors shall appoint a managing board for such library, consisting of five in number. Such managing board shall be appointed for periods of two years, and shall serve without compensation. The managing board shall have general supervision and control of the county free library; and, subject to law, may make general rules and regulations for the government thereof. They shall appoint the county librarian as well as such others as may be employed in operating the library, and shall from time to time establish library branches and stations. The managing board shall submit to the board of supervisors and to the board of trustees of the Library of Hawaii, annual reports concerning the library and its requirements, which reports shall be incorporated in the annual report of the trustees of the Library of Hawaii and annually transmitted to the Governor.

Sec. 3. The board of trustees of the Library of Hawaii shall pass upon the qualifications of all persons desiring to become county librarians, and issue necessary certificate of qualifications; and to this end may adopt rules and regulations not inconsistent with law for carrying out the purpose of this section. No person shall be eligible to the office of county librarian who has not received from the board of trustees of the Library of Hawaii a certificate of qualification. Such librarian need not be a resident of the county nor a citizen of the Territory, at the time of appointment; and persons of either sex shall be eligible for certification for the office of county librarian.

Sec. 4. Prior to entering upon the duties of his office, the county librarian shall file with the managing board the usual oath of office, and give a bond, with proper surety, in such sum as may be determined by said managing board, for the faithful performance of the duties of his office. Subject to such rules and regulations as may be adopted by the managing board, the county librarian shall build up, and manage, according to accepted principles of library management, a library for the use of the people of the county; and shall recommend to the managing board what books and other library equipment should be purchased.

Sec. 5. The board of trustees of the Library of Hawaii shall annually call a convention of county librarians, to assemble at such time and place as said trustees may determine, with a view to discussing questions pertaining to the supervision and administration of county free libraries, the laws relating thereto, and such other subjects affecting the welfare and interest of county free libraries as shall properly be brought before such convention. It is hereby made the duty of county librarians to attend and take part in the proceedings of such conventions.

Sec. 6. The county librarian shall make annual reports to the managing board as to the condition of the county free library, giving such statistical and other information as may be called for by said board, making such reports at such times as the managing board shall direct.

Sec. 7. Instead of establishing a separate county free library, the board of supervisors may enter into a contract with the board of library trustees, or other authority in charge, of a free library already existing and operating within the county; and the board of library trustees, or other authority in charge of such free library, is hereby authorized to make such contract with the board of supervisors. Such contract may provide that the free public library already existing and operating within said county shall assume the functions of a county free library within the county with which such contract is made; and the board of supervisors of said county may agree to pay annually into the library fund of said library such sum as may be agreed upon. Either party to such contract may terminate the same by giving six months' notice of its intention to do so.

Sec. 8. The following sums are hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the territorial treasure for assistance in maintaining such county free public libraries during the 1921-1923 biennial period, namely:

- | | |
|--------------------------|-------------|
| 1. County of Maui----- | $20,000 00 |
| 2. County of Kauai----- | 16,000 00 |
| 3. County of Hawaii----- | 25,000 00 |

The said sums hereby appropriated shall be disbursed on warrants drawn on the treasury upon vouchers approved by the chairman of the managing board or board of trustees of such county free libraries.

It is provided, however, that the foregoing appropriations shall not be available to any such county free library until the Governor of Hawaii has certified to the auditor of the territory that there has been established in such county upon a permanent site acquired for that purpose, a county free library pursuant to the provisions of this Act, or that the contract provided for by Section 7 of this Act has been entered into.

It is further provided that if in any county a free public library has been established and is in operation on a permanent site, capable of serving the reading public of such county, and which free public library will agree in writing with the board of trustees of the Library of Hawaii to serve, as far as reasonably possible, the entire reading public of such county, the sum hereby appropriated for such county shall be available for the use of such free public library in such county, under its existing management and without reference to the first proviso in this section contained.

Sec. 9. The Library of Hawaii is hereby directed and empowered to assist all such county free libraries and free public libraries by the interchange and loaning of books and other reading matter, and in all other appropriate ways to the fullest extent possible.

Sec. 10. This Act shall take effect upon its approval.

CALIFORNIA LIBRARY ASSOCIATION MEETING.

By ESSAE M. CULVER, Librarian, Butte County Free Library.

Up in the high Sierras, by the "Lake of the Sky: Lake Tahoe," the librarians of the State met in annual convention, June 11 to 15. The meeting was greatly anticipated for two reasons. In the first place our State President, whom we all trusted, had announced there would be an exceptionally good program and in the second place the heat of summer had descended upon the valleys of California and the prospect of a bracing coolness, with possibly a snowstorm, made us all eager to be away. I think that no more can be said for any convention than that no one was disappointed and the general expression, when the twenty-sixth annual meeting ended, was that it was one of the very best ever held in California.

On Saturday, June 11, preceding the State meeting, the county librarians met to discuss problems peculiarly their own. Owing to the lateness of the train in arriving, the morning session was cut a little short but allowed time for a brief talk on the legislation of the year affecting libraries by Mr Milton J. Ferguson, State Librarian—Mr Ferguson was scheduled for a talk on the same subject on the program of the State meeting so confined his discussion to the County Librarian's salary bills—and for the discussion of the feasibility of the circulation of motion picture films by the county libraries, led by Miss Stella Huntington.

Mr Ferguson announced that Miss Cornelia Marvin, State Librarian of Oregon, was the guest of the convention and after being introduced Miss Marvin spoke very briefly upon her interest in county libraries and in what California was doing to blaze the trail for the other states in this field. At the afternoon session Mrs Helen Goss Thomas, map expert for Ginn & Company, gave a very interesting, and at the same time practical, talk upon maps and map making which came as a very real help to those librarians who are confronted with the buying of maps for the use of the schools. The subject of music records for school use was delightfully presented by Miss Cross, representative of the Educational Department of the Columbia Graphophone Company, whose enthusiasm was contagious. Mrs Whitbeck, librarian of Contra Costa County, led the discussion upon the subject of entrance requirements for assistants and while no decision was arrived at each one received help from the discussion according to his needs.

The Sunday intervening between the session of the county librarians and the State meeting was a day of rest or recreation as each one chose and in either case was reported by everyone as having been much enjoyed. Many took advantage of the boat trip around the lake, while others visited with old friends or just rested. Sunday evening, Mr Arthur Pillsbury of San Francisco, showed his remarkable pictures of the Yosemite wild flowers and delighted the nature lovers and knowledge seekers by his intimate acquaintance with the habits and history of the flowers of this region.

To follow the sessions throughout giving adequate mention of every contribution to the programs would not be possible in a brief report of the convention for every talk, no matter how brief, was important, and each day was crowded with talks.

The president in her annual report, which opened the three days' sessions, gave a summary of the progress throughout the state for the year. Miss Provines had visited all the districts and her survey was made from first hand observation and intimate knowledge. Her keynote was optimism for the future with foundation in past progress and no one could listen to such an address without feeling inspired with hope and a new outlook.

Following Miss Provines Mr Clarke, Librarian of Stanford University, who has just returned from a trip around the world, gave a very enjoyable glimpse into the bookshops of London. Mr Clarke has a gift for painting word pictures and mention of his talk will always recall vivid pictures of the shops visited and the shop keepers appear to us as personal acquaintances rather than far distant and unknown persons. Pictures of the libraries of all the countries in which Mr Clarke traveled were shown to the convention, with personal explanations, on Tuesday evening.

Mr Ferguson, speaking on the library legislation of 1921 stated briefly and concisely the substance of bills passed and touched upon the report of the Educational Committee of the State Legislature which recommended that the library system of the State be brought under the State Board of Education. Mr Ferguson voiced the feeling of all the librarians of the State in stating his opposition to this arrangement and in his feeling that while the two institutions—the schools and the libraries—are not rivals because their work does not overlap, each would function better independently than under a common head.

The Monday afternoon session was given over to the subjects of Library work with children and Music in the library. Mrs Babcock, Librarian of Kern County, made her audience keenly realize the need for a county supervisor of the children's reading, vividly picturing the communities and isolated spots, to be found in every county, where such a service librarian could make the desert of monotony into a wonderful garden of books peopled with fairies, flowers and all the things children love to read about. Miss Alice Blanchard, of the Los Angeles Public Library, made an appeal for more effort on the part of libraries to counteract the effect of the sensational movie advertising and the untrue-to-life pictures before the child of today. Good books were the suggested antidote and Miss Blanchard advised the duplication of good material rather than that quality should be sacrificed for variety. Miss Blanchard's talk was indeed stimulating. Miss Jessie Fredericks, of the San Francisco Public Library, arranged the discussion of the Treatment of music in the libraries to show all the work being done in the State by the different types of libraries. Perhaps no library is doing more than the San Francisco Public to preserve and make available all scores, musical programs and clippings about music and musicians. The Los Angeles Public, in cooperation with the schools, is popularizing classical music and the county libraries are sending music scores and the best records into the remote places of the state through the schools, clubs, farm centers and rural homes.

The evening of Monday was devoted to round table discussions of different phases of the library work, each one choosing to attend the section devoted to his own particular work or enthusiasm whether it happened to be cataloging, children's library work, college, county, high school, municipal or special libraries. The Library Trustees also met to discuss their problems.

Tuesday morning's session presented for consideration the problem of Educational Standards for Librarians. Mr Charles S. Greene, Librarian of the Oakland Public Library, who was chairman of the Committee on Certification, presented a plan for voluntary certification until such time as sentiment would favor State legislation. The point of view of the Library School, public, county, high school and university libraries upon certification were ably presented, all agreeing that if the work was to be in any sense professional some standards were essential. The advantages of continued study along professional and other lines were also discussed.

On Tuesday evening, in addition to Mr Clarke's address on "A Librarian at Large," before mentioned, Mr Irving Pichel of the Greek Theatre, University of California, spoke upon "The Tendencies in Modern Drama" and ended with the partial reading of a play. Unfortunately for many, Mr Pichel's address came at the end of a rather long program but that he had a most appreciative audience was evidenced by the fact that in great discomfort from the cold a large number not only stayed to the end but wanted more and considered it one of the treats of the convention.

Wednesday was the closing day and was indeed a fitting climax. Snow fell and made the landscape so entrancing everyone found it hard to be indoors, nevertheless a goodly number attended the municipal libraries symposium which was conducted by Miss Zaidee Brown, Librarian of the Long Beach Public Library. Problems of advertising, ordering, salaries and mutilation of books were among the subjects discussed.

Perhaps the most enjoyable session of the whole conference was that of Wednesday afternoon when Mr Robert G. Sproul, Controller of the University of California, Miss Cornelia Marvin, State Librarian of Oregon, Miss Margaret Hatch, of the Standard Oil Company Library, and Miss Rosamond Parma, of the University Law Library, addressed the convention.

In his effort to make his talk on the business administration of a university of greatest value to the library administrators, Mr Sproul made clear his grasp of the idea of the library functioning as a "University of the People." He gave a vivid birds-eye view of the state-wide business activities of California's great University and it was not alone a business-like presentation—it was inspiring.

With the address of our neighboring State Librarian, Miss Marvin, we reached the summit of the four days from which we looked beyond our own borders into a greatly extended field of activity. We were reminded that Oregon, too, has its county library system and if not as extended as that of California she can boast the first county library on the Pacific Coast. Miss Marvin's broad vision, combined with a keen sense of humor, convinced us that whatever Oregon's library problems may be her State Librarian can help her solve them. Greetings from the Pacific Northwest Library Association were brought by Miss Marvin together with an invitation to a joint meeting of the two associations as soon as it could be arranged.

In her enthusiasm for the special library, Miss Margaret Hatch visualized and vitalized the work of the strictly business library showing all the possibilities for development. Everyone had a better idea of the library resources around San Francisco from Miss Hatch's survey of that region.

Miss Parma's paper on the University Law Library was very much enjoyed and brought to a close the last program of the last day.

The election of officers for the coming year followed the program and resulted as follows:

For president, Miss Althea H. Warren, Librarian of the San Diego Public Library.

For vice-president, Mr Sidney B. Mitchell, of the University of California Library.

For secretary-treasurer, Miss Eleanor Hitt, Librarian of the San Diego County Free Library.

The spirit of friendliness and good will which pervaded the entire convention made everyone feel glad to be there and too much credit can not be given to the President of the Association for the unlimited time and effort spent in planning and carrying out the program so successfully. Too, as a presiding officer Miss Provines was par-excellent.

Mention of the song contributions of Mrs Arch Jack, of Fresno, has been purposely omitted until now for fear our enthusiasm, which arises whenever we recall the enjoyment of it, might obscure the paramount issues of the meetings. Mrs Jack, accompanied by Miss Anne Belle Bailey, also of Fresno, sang at the opening of each session. Her voice, an unusually rich and sympathetic soprano, pleased to such an extent that an encore was invariably demanded and it may not be amiss to say that it was one of the greatest pleasures of the convention.

RESUME OF THE LITERATURE OF CLASSIFICATION AND CATALOGING, JANUARY, 1920 TO APRIL 15, 1921.*

By ROXANA G. JOHNSON, Assistant, University of California Library, Berkeley.

While the subject of classification and cataloging has not been extensively discussed in the library publications since January 1920, valuable and interesting books, articles and pamphlets have been contributed.

Foremost in the field of classification is the tenth edition of the Decimal classification. The Library Journal of 15 Feb., 1920 is devoted largely to articles having reference to the classification. Mr Dewey in "Decimal classification beginnings," relates his early interest in aiding the people in gaining education and in making available for them the great mass of printed material. He tells of his planning and working out the Classification, and of its extensive development through the aid of professors, librarians and others interested in various countries, through the work of 43 years, through 10 editions, from 1000 headings to 30,000. He gives his plans for insuring the use of the classification for the common good, and his hopes in making it available in all languages. Miss Fellows in an article on the Decimal classification says that the 10th edition came in response to an imperative need since the 9th edition was exhausted, and also to furnish a scheme of subdivision for the literature relating to the world war. In addition to this scheme, an expansion has been given to the subject of agriculture, and many minor changes have been made throughout the entire work. Mr Hill in "Decimal classification reminiscences" gives his experience in classifying the Lowell Public Library in the early eighties by the Decimal classification.

Interesting items concerning the classification were found—one, that the League of nations library adopted the Decimal classification with the Brussels modification—another, that one of the main decisions of the International congress of bibliography at Brussels was to urge the adoption and spread of the Decimal classification.

Miss Elsie Basset in the Law Library Journal, January, 1920, in an article, "Shelf classification of foreign law books," outlines the methods used in the Columbia university law library where between ten and eleven thousand volumes are classed in a temporary fashion according to a modified Decimal classification.

Henry Vincent Hubbard and Theodora Kimball are authors of "Landscape architecture, a comprehensive classification scheme for books, plans, photographs, notes and other collected material," published by Harvard university press. This classification was worked out primarily for use with the extensive collection of the Harvard school of landscape architecture library, and was eight years in the making.

The 3d edition of James Duff Brown's Manual of library economy, extensively revised and greatly enlarged by W. C. Berwick Sayers, was published. Division VIII discusses systematic classification schemes, cataloging methods, rules and codes, mechanical methods of displaying catalogs, filing and indexing.

Mr Merrill, in an article, "An American view of the alphabetic mnemonic classification," in the Library World, Jan. 1920, reviews a system of classification devised by Mr Robinson Smith of England.

"Library of Congress classification for college libraries," by Mr Hanson in Library Journal 15 Feb. 1921, is an article written in answer to a request for an opinion as to the advisability of using the Library of Congress classification in college libraries, the smaller as well as the larger. The article includes a discussion of various classifications, and enumerates the advantages and disadvantages of the Library of Congress classification.

*Paper read at Catalogers' Round Table of the First and Second Districts, California Library Association, Oakland, April 23, 1921.

The Grosvenor Library Bulletin, Sept. 1920, states that some 70 libraries are using the Library of Congress classification.

The books and pamphlets on library economy which have been published contain chapters of interest.

Mr Dana's "Library primer," 1920, gives a clear and simple statement with illustrations of the methods of classifying and cataloging the books in a small library. He gives an alphabetic list of all the entries required for cataloging nine titles.

"The business library, what it is and what it does," 2d ed. 1921, by Miss Krause, devotes several pages to the classification and cataloging of business libraries.

"Pamphlets and clippings in a business library," by Miss Fairfax, discusses the making available of the material in a business library.

Miss Wilson's "School library management," gives twenty pages to "The catalogue—its contents and construction, arrangement and use."

J. H. Friedel, in "Training for librarianship," discusses the importance of having a collection properly classified and cataloged.

Miss Price, in the first number of the University High School Journal, Jan. 1921, considers the cataloging of high school libraries.

Mr Raney, in "Cataloging while you wait," Library Journal 15 Sept. 1920, quotes a bulletin sent out by Longmans, Green and Co. in Sept. 1920, announcing a new service to libraries—the selling of L. C. cards for books purchased either direct or through a bookseller—the cards to be sent with the books. The object of the plan is to hasten the cataloging of libraries in order to make them available for the public as soon as possible. Mr Raney urges librarians to make clear their appreciation for this service, and expresses the hope that it will be extended by other publishers.

The Library Journal, July, 1920, gives a brief outline of the papers presented at the A. L. A. meeting of June, 1920, showing that a wide range of cataloging subjects was presented.

The A. L. A. proceedings for 1920 gives Miss Hermann's paper, "County libraries and their catalog problems," which is a resumé of the catalog and its uses in the San Diego County Library. Another paper by Zana K. Miller gives many practical suggestions for the elimination and modification of various cataloging processes.

Public Libraries gives several notices of changed titles and slightly different titles of books, the April and November numbers containing two lists by Miss Hitchler.

The Library World, Jan. 1921, contains an article by D. T. B. Wood describing his new method and apparatus for filing cards in a circular rotating carrier. An article in the Library Journal 15 Mar. 1921, discusses the plan.

Mr Henry Guppy contributed a series of "Special lectures for library assistants and others on cataloging and classification" in the Library association record of Jan., Mar., April, 1920.

The Library Association Record of Jan. 1920, gives the subjects for essays for the Library association examination, the one on classification being entitled, "The value of a knowledge of classification in general education." Of the 36 who entered the examination, 24 passed. The subject for the cataloging essay was, "A short history of the schemes for co-operative cataloging, with a review of present possibilities of such schemes." Of the 68 who entered, 42 passed. A later notice in the Record of Aug. 1920, states that of the 98 students who entered the Library school in the session of 1920, 21 who entered in Cataloging and indexing, 17 passed, and of the 10 who entered in Classification, 8 passed.

Library Journal 1 Mar. 1920, gives an interesting note telling of the method used by the librarian of a small library in Lisbon, New Hampshire, in securing a list of the books in the library in lieu of a card catalog.

"Cataloguers' salaries," by Ethel Bond in April, 1921, Public Libraries, gives the result of an investigation made of beginning salaries received by 66 former students of the University of Illinois library school engaged in cataloging.

Several scholarly catalogs have been published. The catalog of the late John Henry Wrenn, compiled by Harold B. Wrenn, and ed. by Thomas J. Wise, published in 5 volumes by the University of Texas, was perhaps the most extensive. The library, which now belongs to the University of Texas, is a collection of English and American poetry and the poetic drama.

Part two of volume one of the John Carter Brown library of Brown University has just been issued.

Ruth Grannis, in Library Journal 15 Jan. 1920, contributes an interesting article about this library which was given to Brown university, together with an endowment of $500,000. The library is the only important library in the United States devoted to collecting Americana printed before the 19th century, and is the largest and most valuable independent library of early Americana. The catalog when complete will include all the books, pamphlets, maps and manuscripts in the library. The space of five years has been allotted for the completion of the work.

Two volumes of the catalog of the library of the William Andrews Clark, Jr. Library, located in Los Angeles, collated and compiled by Robert Ernest Cowan and William Andrews Clark, Jr., published by Nash, were issued. This library is a collection of English literature, one volume of the catalog is arranged chronologically and covers a part of Early English literature, 1519-1700, the other covers Modern English literature.

A supplementary list of additions and corrections to the checklist or brief catalogue of the English books 1475-1640, in the Henry E. Huntington library, comp. by George Watson Cole, was issued.

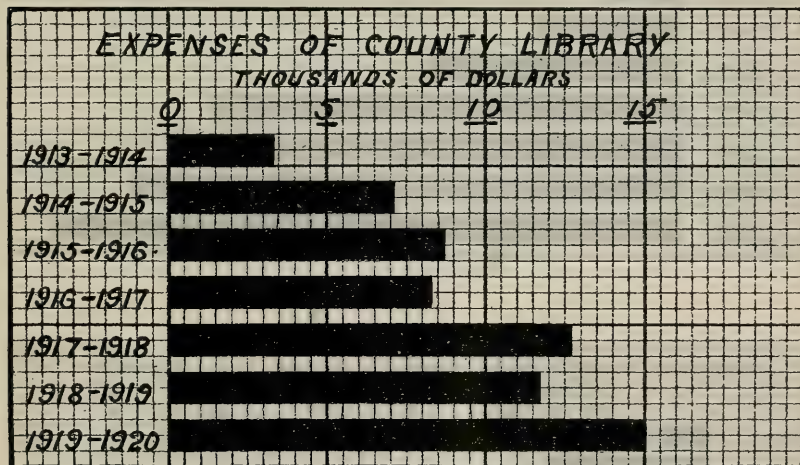

A second supplement to the London library catalogue, covering the period 1913-1920, has been published.

One of the most important educational agencies in Monterey County is the county library. During the seven years that it has been in operation it has proven beyond a shadow of a doubt that its service is eminently worth while. It is of inestimable value to the schools as well as to the general public. The charts show the service that it renders.

Probably no institution in the county gives such large returns in proportion to the cost. The people of Monterey County can make no better investment for the general welfare of the county, and especially the welfare of the children, than that made through the county library.

*Reprinted from School finances of Monterey County, California, and the crisis in education, by Arthur Walter, Supt. Salinas City Schools and Chairman Monterey County Board of Education. Cuts loaned by Mr. Walter. These charts may prove suggestive to other counties as a graphic way of showing progress.

Miss Mary Barmby, Lib'n.

A meeting of the County Library attendants of Alameda County Library, with twenty or more in attendance, was held in the County Library headquarters in the Hall of Records in April. The early part of the meeting was given over to talks of special interest to rural communities. Mrs Campbell of the Extension Department of the University of California talked on class and correspondence work that is given by the University in any part of the State on request and by arrangement. Mrs Anderson, social service worker at the Bethlehem Steel Works, told of the kinds of books asked for by her workers and by those injured ones who have time to read. The list was a revelation to many because of the great variety of subjects the men are interested in. These books have all been supplied from the County Library or borrowed from the State Library. Mrs Cole, the attendant at the Thousand Oaks Branch, told of the success she had had in the publicity of the branch in her community. She gave to the meeting many new ideas. Miss McKinnon of the Medical Branch told of the books and material that all could borrow from her special library because they were all a part of the County library system. The second part of the meeting was given over to a question box and these same questions and answers cleared up many problems for the attendants. A light lunch was served so that none would return home hungry.

The San Leandro school joined the County Library in February. It is one of the larger schools of the county having at present 29 teachers with a prospect of more in the fall.

Six students of the University of California Library School have been doing practice work in the county library office. These students are planning to do county library work.

Three auto loads of University of California library students were given a chance to see county library work in process. Libraries of various types were visited—Hayward a town library working with the County, the Castro Hill or brooder branch showing the possibility of using what is to be had, Pleasanton, a library once a club and town library, now given over entirely to the County Library, and the Arroyo, a county institution for tubercular patients, where there are three branches, one for the employees and nurses, one for the children, and one for the older patients. The students came away, so they said, not sadder but wiser.

CONTRA COSTA CO. FREE LIBRARY, MARTINEZ. Mrs Alice G. Whitbeck, Lib'n.

The most important thing that has happened to the library in the past eight years is the change recently made in the library offices. There have been two upheavals in the past due to flood, and changes in the rooms from enlargement. Now at the beginning of the ninth year, the library finds itself in very commodious and attractive rooms, well appointed in every detail. Several very convenient pieces of furniture have been devised, notably movable stands for the two United States catalogs and supplements, and an easily moved long assembling table.

The librarian as President of the Martinez Women's Club attended the State Federation of Women's Clubs held in Yosemite Valley in May.

On the way home from the California Library Association meeting Miss Hadden and Miss Topping of the Monterey County Library, visited the County Library and made a trip around the county visiting many of the branches.

FRESNO CO. FREE LIBRARY, FRESNO.
Miss Sarah E. McCardle, Lib'n.

In April a visit was made to some of the branches in the foothills, the first stop being made at Dunlap, where we took stock of the books. From there we visited the New Hope, Deer Park and Miramonte schools, finding each in good condition. We finished the day by riding up to the snow and having a fine time snow balling.

The Branch Department has had a busy quarter taking stock at as many of the branches as possible, the work being completed at seven.

It has been necessary to close the International Branch on account of losing our room. So far we have not been able to find another in that locality and are waiting for some of the enterprising people of the community to build a house for our use. Plans have been drawn and we hope soon to see the work started. The Barstow Colony Branch has been closed also. This was used almost entirely by the school children and we will have a branch in connection with the school, in the fall.

At the request of the Standard Oil Company, we have established branches at their pumping stations in the county, five in number. The men are enthusiastic about the books and we are glad to be able to furnish them. The books are in each case in charge of the chief engineer and are placed in the club house. The West Side Branch was established April 1.

The latter part of May, Miss McCardle and Miss Harris, Head of the Branch Department, visited the mountain branches. The summer branches at Huntington Lake and Sierra Chautauqua were established and the branch at Shaver moved into its summer quarters. We are very sorry to lose Mrs Larrabee, our custodian at Shaver, but her husband, an engineer in the employ of the Southern California Edison Company, has been transferred. Mrs Larrabee has done a most excellent and interesting work with the men in the camp at Shaver. The branch will be in charge of Miss Marguerita Leddy during the summer. Other branches visited were those at Big Creek and Tollhouse, several schools, and the Southern California Edison camps, #31, #32, #30 and #61. This part of the trip was made in company with Mr Mathews, who has charge of the recreational features of the camps, which are carried on very much as was done in the camps during the war.

We were visited during the quarter by Miss Clara Dills of the Solano County Free Library and by Miss Helen Vogleson of the Los Angeles County Free Library.

LOS ANGELES CO. FREE LIBRARY, LOS ANGELES. Miss Celia Gleason, Lib'n.

The Training School Class of the Los Angeles Public Library made its annual series of visits to the County Library. The head of each department talked on her special work; the assistant librarian outlined the California County Free Library Law, particularly as applied to Los Angeles County; and Miss Mary L. Jones gave a general survey on the development of libraries in Los Angeles County.

Miss Vogleson gave three talks during the quarter; to the Montebello High School on Library Work as a Profession; to the San Gabriel Woman's Club on The Personality of Authors as Found in Their Books; and to the Claremont meeting of the San Antonio Club of Southern California on the Work of the Los Angeles County Free Library.

Since January 1, 1913, the Central Office has been located on the 10th Floor of the Hall of Records. After growing to more than the capacity of the old quarters the library was moved May 10, 1921. The new location on the ground floor of the Broadway Annex, Hall of Records, provides more than double the old space and better lighting facilities. The greatest advantage gained is that the Office and the Teachers' Library are now much more accessible, and all freight can be sent in and out directly to the automobiles or the drays.

A pension system for employees of Los Angeles County has been adopted by the Board of Supervisors. This plan, authorized by the State Legislature two years ago, provides that every regular employee should be eligible to retirement when he has reached the age of 60 years, or after 35 years of service. Each employee participating will have $4 per month deducted from his month's salary, the county setting aside an equal fund, thus providing an average pension of $500 per year. If any employee resigns before he becomes a pensioner, the amount paid in by him will be refunded with interest at the rate of 4 per cent.

CELIA GLEASON, Lib'n.

§§LONG BEACH [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY. Miss Zaidee Brown, Lib'n.

The library now has a file of material on the men who enlisted from Long Beach during the war. This includes replies to questionnaires, newspaper clippings, photos, and miscellaneous material. The local branch of the American Legion has published a history of Long Beach in the war, and its historian collected much of this material, and added it to what the library already had. It is filed in a vertical file, with a folder for each man, and makes an unusually full record. The drawers in which it is filed are kept locked.

During the quarter, the Art Gallery showed exhibits by the Print-makers' Club, by Charles Howard Clawson, and a collection from the County Art Museum.

Mr and Mrs Frank B. Sturge have added to their previous generous gifts of paintings and Oriental vases. They have presented to the library six Chinese vases that are about 2000 years old. Such vases are very rare in this country and this gives Long Beach one of the notable collections.

The total circulation for the year was 518,325 books and magazines, an increase of 15 per cent over the preceding year.

ant librarian in the Barlow Library. In the last six months there have been enrolled nine new patron members, and thirty-one annuals. The librarians have been busy rearranging and cataloging the books and journals.

A committee of members, headed by Dr H. E. Schiffbauer, has worked many days examining books and discarding some hundreds of duplicate volumes, and old medical works which have no historical value, thus making room on the shelves for the newer volumes which have been added.

The latest gift to the library was a beautifully bound set of Transactions of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, donated by Dr R. E. Skeel formerly of Cleveland, but who is now located in Los Angeles.

CALIFORNIA SOCIETY SONS OF THE REVOLUTION (REPOSITORY OF THE SOUTHWEST) AND CALIFORNIA SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS LIBRARY. Pierson W. Banning, Vice Pres. Prof. Walter Sylvester Hertzog, Lib'n.

The Library of the Society, Sons of the Revolution, the Repository of the Southwest has added since the first of the year nearly 400 volumes, more than half being family histories and genealogies. The remainder are mostly town, local and special histories for many parts of the country. Our new membership growth so far this year is nearly three or four months ahead of any former year as to numbers. Seventy-five since January 1, is a fine showing, and at the rate they are coming in, we may look for the biggest year in our history from that standpoint.

The Society is investing several hundred dollars in a new United States Flag, and a new Society Standard, both being made to harmonize as to size, material and other things.

We are beginning to feel crowded in our present quarters. While it is possible to add shelving for nearly three thousand more books, it will utilize wall space that we have been using for other things. Our lease on present quarters expires in about 18 months, but a two-year extension is optional with us. This we will no doubt exercise, for many reasons. Our location is very central, being but half a block from the public library in the very heart of Los Angeles.

The April issue of the Liberty Bell, our official publication, started the first installment of the Births, Marriages and Deaths as recorded officially in Los Angeles County, from first entries to end of 1900. They are carefully checked, and edited in that births in the same family are placed next to one another.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA EDISON CO. LIBRARY AND DEPOSIT STATION, LOS ANGELES PUBLIC LIBRARY. Beth Pasko, Lib'n.

The staff of the Southern California Edison Technical Library has been increased. Miss Margaret R. The library of the College of Law, University of Southern California, has been increased by the recent addition of about 500 volumes of early English law, including the Selden Society reports. §||POMONA [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY. Miss Sarah M. Jacobus, Lib'n.

A special display of books about business and allied topics was made in April. Assuming that the members of the Chamber of Commerce were most likely to be alive to their value, these men were written personal letters, inclosing a short list of books.

Story hours are now held both at the Branch and at the Main Library. For some of these, the story is read, not told. This method of presentation seems to be as well liked by the audience, and costs the library much less in time of preparation.

The library bought and displayed ten colored reproductions of modern Swedish paintings. Local Swedes volunteered so much aid that a special Swedish evening was given. The concert consisted of Swedish records lent by a countryman.

Many beautiful and valuable articles, jewelry, clothing, embroidery, household linens, wood-carving, pictures, were brought in for exhibition. After the public part of the evening, the Swedes remained for a social hour. The occasion was worth while as calling attention of the community to a valuable constituent, and as making local Swedes known to each other.

Miss Fern Hartman resigned June 1, to be married June 30 to Donald Lyman. Her place is to be filled in August by Miss Annice Heaton, Los Angeles Library School 1921.

Members of the staff have been taking lessons in poster-making and sign-making, on library time, so that the institution be not left without anyone expert in these arts. Miss Hartman has given the lessons. In March the library workers were granted an hour a week to do cultural and professional reading. A questionnaire June 1 showed that most were using the time on historical and literary studies, that all made some provision for looking over our own book acquisitions, and that some at least had been directly helped in serving patrons by their study. This reading hour is scheduled to each at a given time, just as are desk appointments, and all are required to observe it rigorously. A further inquiry will be made in the fall to determine whether or not to continue the practice.

SAN QUENTIN PRISON LIBRARY. J. A. Johnston, Warden. Rev Oliver C. Laizure, Chaplain—Director of Education. H. Jacobson, Acting Librarian.

The work of classification has been completed and the new catalogs are printed. The Library is now operating under the Dewey decimal system. This has proved of immense advantage to patrons of the Library, especially those who are pursuing University courses and find their greatest use of this department in the demand for books of reference or books bearing on their studies. For such as these the efficiency of the Library has been greatly augmented.

Owing to the hard use given the books by the inmates of the prison, the number of volumes to be discarded from time to time is necessarily very large. This is especially true among books of fiction, which meet with a large demand; and as a consequence the Library is in great need of a few hundred volumes of modern fiction. The percentage of other works drawn by the men is very gratifying, making up about half of the issue, which approximates 7800 volumes monthly. This is an increase of fully one hundred per cent over the average issue of a year ago.

Hall, El Sausal, and Pleyto school districts have joined the Monterey County Free Library during the quarter. Thirty-four visits were made to school and community branches. In June a trip on horseback was made to the branches on the Coast, beyond the roads, with a representative of the County Superintendent of schools. Miss Topping went to represent the County Library.

Miss Hadden and Miss Topping attended the County Librarians' Convention and the meeting of the California Library Association at Tahoe, June 11 to 15. Miss Topping attended the First and Second District meeting at Oakland, April 23.

Miss Topping spoke to the children at the Soledad Union School May 25, telling the little ones stories, and speaking to the older ones on Good Books. The children had an opportunity to examine the books discussed. These books were then taken to the Community Branch for circulation, as the Soledad School does not belong to the County Library. Mrs Head reported a very busy time following Miss Topping's talk.

CALISTOGA FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY. Mrs E. Wright, Lib'n.

I have to report the most active and interesting quarter in the history of our library. The reading club, organized in the interest of the library and meeting once a month in the library, has stimulated circulation as well as added to the book fund and has been the means of several good book donations, notably a complete set of Stevenson.

Our serving out-of-town people free of charge has caused our books to reach new readers and the County Librarian has responded by generous loans of juvenile material as well as nonfiction which we lack.

The women's club has been very active in working for a new building and closed its club year June 8 with $700 in the building fund in addition to a debt-free lot so we begin to have hopes of better quarters which we are beginning to need seriously.

During the librarian's usual July leave of absence the library will be conducted by Miss Ruth Rutherford.

On the 27th of June a luncheon meeting was arranged of those county officials whose work takes them out into the county and is more or less related, for a discussion of how they could be mutually helpful in carrying on their work.

These officials with other representatives from their offices consisted of: The Farm Advisor; the Assistant Farm Advisor; Home demonstration agent; Farm Bureau secretary; Horticultural commissioner and his assistant; County Superintendent of Schools and her assistant; Secretary of the Welfare Commission and one assistant; County Librarian and first assistant. It was decided to meet at luncheon the second Monday in each month.

A program committee consisting of the Farm Advisor, County Superintendent of Schools and County Librarian was appointed to arrange for the program for the next meeting July 11. It was decided to have at each meeting a short talk on some subject that was vital, of about ten minutes' duration and a craft talk not to exceed four minutes.

Arrangement has been made with the County Farm Advisor for a County Library news article to be published every month in the County Farm Bureau Monthly beginning with the August number.

The mountain branches along the "Rim of the World" were opened the first of June with the exception of Big Bear Valley which was started July 1. This last-named branch is located in the Bear Valley Pavilion with Miss Violet Eister as custodian, and is open daily from 2 to 5 p.m. During the winter the branch is located in the schoolhouse. A branch of the San Bernardino County Free Library was established at Camp Baldy June 29. Mr Dan Alexander will act as custodian of the branch which is located in his photographic studio. Mr Alexander built a room next to his studio especially for the library and furnished a beautiful rustic table made of yellow pine for a writing and reading table for the room. He also adorned the walls with some very fine colored photographs of the mountain scenery around Baldy which were the result of his art. The County Library furnished an artistic rustic bookcase similar to the ones that are provided for the mountain branches. The branch at Daggett has been closed temporarily but will re-open about the middle of July. The branch at Guasti was discontinued June 25.

Mrs Dora Bristol resigned as librarian of the Chino branch May 1, and Mrs Genevieve Breslin was appointed to take her place. Mrs Breslin spent one week at County Library headquarters before taking charge at Chino in order to become more familiar with the work. Mr Nick Morongo is the custodian at the County Hospital main branch now, having taken charge May 1, after the death April 25 of Mr Rogers Orrick, the former custodian. Mrs Rolfe Lindner has charge of the mountain branch at Crestline which was opened June 1 for the summer. Mrs Harry Miller is the custodian of the branch at Fontana now, having taken charge there April 15. Miss Veriel Walters resigned June 1 as custodian of the branch at Hesperia to be married to Mr Ormand, Assistant Farm Advisor of the county. Her place at the branch was filled by Mr Roy Walters. Mrs Mabel Horine is the new custodian at Sheep Creek (or Phelan) having taken charge there June 3. During the school year the teacher has charge of the general branch as well as the school branch as both are located in the schoolhouse, although in separate places. Miss Myrtle I. White has charge of the branch at Trona temporarily while Mrs Mable Howard, the custodian, is away on a vacation. Miss White took charge June 21.

A story-telling hour, conducted by Mrs J E. McManus, was started at the Ri-alto Branch May 18, and is held every Wednesday afternoon from 2.30 to 3.50.

The cataloging of the Victor Valley Union High School Library was finished the first part of May and the catalog was installed May 16. A total of 1798 books were classified, cataloged, pocketed and numbered. Library of Congress cards were used. Miss Mildred Solomon was appointed by the principal as teacher-librarian in charge.

We do not seem to be doing anything very startling at present—just pegging along—trying to keep things going without sufficient help and money, just as two or three other libraries we know of are doing. We're not complaining however for there are compensations.

We have an organization meeting within our gates, in fact the Grandmothers' Club was organized in our library one day and was the outcropping, so to speak, of the Friendly Bible Class of the Presbyterian church. This class is composed of elderly women and some not so elderly; some grandmothers and some not grandmothers. They wanted to meet at the library and talk over books one afternoon a week. So they organized but the "not grandmothers" wouldn't be squelched and would attend so out of courtesy the name was changed. We think we are the only library in existence however which has had a really-true grandmothers' club in its history. While we are a grandmother, we were not invited to attend!

We have added four metal waste-paper baskets to our equipment and, will as soon as the weather permits, have a couple of ornamental plants for each side of our front steps.

The librarian was in attendance at Lake Tahoe convention. To our knowledge only one other librarian from San Bernardino county was present. Mrs Haddow, our assistant, was in charge during the absence of the librarian.

What is the most nearly perfect, or the perfect door spring, or check? Much to the embarrassment of our library fund, we've been trying to find out.

Miss Caroline S. Waters, San Bernardino County Free Librarian, was a visitor at our library in June, stopping off for a couple of hours on her way to Camp Baldy to establish another branch.

‡§SAN DIEGO [FREE] PUBLIC LIBRARY.
Mrs. H. P. Davison, Lib'n. Emeritus;
Miss Althea H. Warren, Lib'n.

The second death to occur on this library staff in the thirty-eight years of our history was that of Miss Nina T. Waddell, Librarian of the La Jolla Branch. She was greatly beloved by the people of her community who realized that her capable management and unselfish devotion were responsible for their beautiful new library building to be completed in September. With its museum and art gallery, its open-air reading court, its children's room, circulating department and reference alcove, this building will be her memorial.

The twenty members of the Los Angeles Library School visited San Diego April 26 and 27. The staff of our library entertained them at afternoon tea in the Business Department, and they also visited the County, Normal School, High School and Coronado Public Libraries. Miss Harriet Pritchard, in charge of the system of elementary school libraries being organized in Detroit, was with their party and addressed our staff on the morning of April 27, giving an inspiring survey of her new work.

As head of the Business Department Miss Mollie Van Wagenen this month carried out two programs with the public library as their theme at the weekly luncheons of the Ad Club and the Rotary Club. The members of the board of library trustees, the librarian and Miss Van Wagenen were guests at the Ad Club meeting. All members who did not own library cards were fined and applications were forced upon them on the spot. The chairman then asked certain luckless members if they had read a recent book on their business and fined them when they had not. Miss Warren gave a short history of the San Diego public library, showing how it was the business men in the early days who started it. Mrs. Henry Lippitt, the new member of the library board, expressed the present tense of our institution by a quotation from the autobiography of Andrew Carnegie. Senator E. E. Hendee, president of the board, foretold its future, with emphasis on the growing service for children.

At the Rotary Club a book for every member was at his place. Cards had been issued to all who did not already hold them. The titles selected were most of them in festive vein. "Winning of the west" was given to the real estate man; "Free air," to the owner of a chain of service stations; "Shavings," to a barber shop proprietor; "Ragged messenger," to the manager of the Western Union; "Songs of dogs," to the veterinary; "Eyes of the world," to the optician; and a government pamphlet on "Butchering, curing and killing," to a distinguished surgeon. Members were required to guess for whom certain titles were intended. Miss Van Wagenen gave a talk on valuable material in her department, and a dramatic reading from Stephen Leacock, an author to refresh the "tired business man," closed the program.

According to custom, staff meetings are being held four mornings a week from 8.30 to 9 during June, July and August. Each principal assistant has a fortnight in which to present an outline of her department, giving problems and a final written test, and emphasizing additions or changes of the present year. Library time is allowed for the course. Elementary training in cataloging, alphabeting, book selection and mending are also given new junior assistants.

LA JOLLA LIBRARY ASSOCIATION LIBRARY AND BRANCH OF SAN DIEGO P. L.

Minutes adopted by The Library Association of La Jolla, on the death of Miss Nina T. Waddell, at its adjourned annual meeting held July 2, 1921.

The Library has suffered an irreparable loss in the death of Miss Nina T. Waddell. She has been secretary and librarian since 1905. From a small beginning, with a few hundred books, under her capable management it has grown to a library of over 5000 volumes. Her intelligence, untiring devotion and vision for its future are largely responsible for the magnificent building that is now nearing completion. It is a tragedy that she, who spent herself so unsparingly for the Library, and had such splendid plans for the utilization of the new building and service to the community, is denied the privilege of witnessing its completion and the fulfillment of her plans.

Miss Waddell began with a salary of $10 per month and never received over $50 per month; in fact, $35 was the maximum until two and a half years ago. With her the Library was a labor of love for over sixteen years. She continued her work until May 8, when she wrote to the president: "I regret greatly that I have fallen by the wayside and am absolutely obliged to take a rest for a month. My doctor says my trouble has been growing for a long time but I have fought against it until I have reached my limit." A few days later she entered the La Jolla Sanitarium, and an operation disclosed that she had been suffering for a long time with an incurable disease, from which she died the afternoon of June 22, 1921.

Miss Waddell was born in Port Hope, Ontario, Canada, on November 12, 1855; studied library work at the Armour Institute, Chicago, and came to La Jolla in 1902. She was a communicant of the church of St. James-by-the-Sea from its organization, being for four years a member of the Women's Auxiliary to the Vestry. In addition to her great work for the Library, she was an active member of the La Jolla Women's Club, and served one term as its president. She was instrumental in establishing a public rest room, and took an active interest in raising money for the proposed Talent Workers Free Hospital, which was later added to the Frances Brown Fund towards a room in the La Jolla Sanitarium. While the sewer system in La Jolla was being installed, there were about 60 men working in La Jolla. Miss Waddell established a reading room for these men, called "Every Man's Club" which was continued for the period of the work.

During the war she was active in the establishment and maintenance of a Service Club in La Jolla for service men, which was later taken over by the War Camp Community Service.

"Servant of God, well done!"

The torch has fallen from her hand. It is our part to take it up and see that her vision is realized.

At the same meeting of the Association it was unanimously voted that the Children's room in the new Library be named "The Nina T. Waddell Room" and a bronze tablet to her memory be placed there.

SUTRO BRANCH, CALIFORNIA STATE LIBRARY. Milton J. Ferguson, State Lib'n. Mrs. Laura Steffens Suggett, Branch Lib'n.

During the quarter, the most interesting accomplishment was finishing the copying of the Call Index cards for the years 1904 to 1912 to fill in that gap in the newspaper index at the State Library. This had been started soon after the Sutro Branch was open to the public in 1917. At least 184,000 cards were copied and the last packages were sent to the State Library April 8, 1921. The Call office very generously allowed us to borrow a tray at a time, so that the copying could be done when time could be spared from the regular work of the Library.

It is hoped to arrange to copy local San Francisco records that are important and early enough to have a place in the state historical collection in the California Department of the State Library.

Those interested in building up a San Francisco historical collection are adding continually to the small beginning made at the Sutro Branch.

Form letters, personal in tone, were sent to 45 fifth and sixth grade children not registered at the library. Intended primarily for enticing new children into the library, the letter also contained a paragraph aimed at catching the interest of the parents. To date, 20 of these children have come in for cards. The indirect effect of these letters upon young associates of the recipients is also believed to be considerable, but without means of proof. The experiment will be continued on a larger scale as soon as names can be procured.

Cards were mailed to ninety-seven representative business men, not registered at the library, with request to return the attached postal with answers to the following items: "What book, books or subjects do you suggest for purchase by the public library—(1) Relating to your field of business or any phase thereof? (2) Relating to any subject (or hobby) in which you are interested?" The widely varied replies have served as a barometer for purchasing, showing first hand what classes of books are needed from the standpoint of the immediate public. The purchasing of books thus recommended has also proved a tangible method of bringing these people into the library.

SAN LUIS OBISPO CO. FREE LIBRARY, SAN LUIS OBISPO. Miss Margaret Dold, Lib'n. (on leave of absence). Miss Flo A. Gantz, Acting Lib'n.

Two new community branches have been established this quarter, one at Shandon, and one in the San Simeon district, in the northern part of the county, which will serve those persons dwelling in the neighborhood of San Carpojo Creek. Pleasant Valley, Oakdale, and Pismo Schools also have joined the library. In April the county superintendent of schools turned over to the county library the teachers' library which had outgrown his office and his ability to care for it. The fund will hereafter be handled by the library.

The first custodians' meeting which this county has held took place in April. A few of the custodians were unable to attend. Those who did, however, expressed themselves as well pleased that the affair is to be an annual one, and prophesied full attendance at later gatherings. There was no formal program, since the first need seemed to be to get acquainted. The effort was made to have simply a "Get-together Day," and that it succeeded is testified to by the increasing co-operation of the various branches. The visitors asked many questions about the work, familiarized themselves with "head-quarters" and its resources, and spoke freely of any problems facing them. Discussion of these problems and of other matters which had come to the attention of the main office helped to clear away a good many difficulties which the custodians had been facing. The visitors were the guests of the county at luncheon.

New furniture in the form of a Library Bureau wing charging desk, a supply cabinet, a packing table, and much new shelving has been added. The insistent growth of the library, however, renders the stacks ever inadequate, so that even now, while we are on the point of putting up our new five-section Library Bureau shelving, we plan desperately how we can manage until we get six sections more.

The school branches have been serving the communities to such an extent that several branches—Creston, Bee Rock and

The Sutter County Free Library had its booth at the annual farm bureau picnic again this May. The thing that caused the most interest in the booth this year was a chart which showed the circulation record from the time the library was established until the present time. The record was graphed on graphing paper which caused the increases and decreases to stand out very clearly. This also showed the months in which the increases and decreases were made. The men were particularly interested in this chart and asked many questions as to the reasons for the ups and downs on it.

DIRECTORY FOR LIBRARY SUPPLIES AND OTHER ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Many public libraries waste a great deal of time and money before they find good places to get supplies. The plan is to give all libraries the benefit of the experience of the older libraries of the State by listing under different heads the houses that have been found to give satisfaction, the names and addresses being furnished by the older and larger libraries of California. In this way suggestions will be given as to where different sorts of books may be bought, where books may be rebound or periodicals bound, where library furniture may be bought, etc., both in California and in the East.

If any information is needed about the firms listed below which can not be obtained from the firms themselves, the names of the libraries recommending the different ones will be sent to any library upon application to the State Library.

ANNUAL MEETING.

First and Second Districts Meeting.

The First and Second Districts of the California Library Association held a joint meeting in Oakland, April 23, 1921. Nearly two hundred persons were present at one or more of the sessions. There were about ninety in attendance at the five round tables, and one hundred seventy-five at the afternoon session, including fifteen librarians from the Third District. Among the guests at the luncheon and the afternoon meeting was a delegation of students from the University Library School at Berkeley.

The morning hours from ten-thirty to twelve were spent in five round table discussion groups. Miss Lucie C. Nye served as chairman of the Branch Librarians Round Table, Miss E. A. Hedrick, chairman of the Catalogers, Miss Helen H. Jackson, chairman of Children's Librarians, Miss Elisabeth S. Madison, chairman of School Libraries, and Miss Lillian McKinnon, chairman of Special Libraries. A reluctance to close the round table discussions at the hour for lunch was a fair indication of the enthusiastic interest with which matters of importance to all were discussed. Reports from every group tell of a desire to have a permanent organization, with the following officers already chosen: Special Libraries, Miss Lillian McKinnon, chairman, Miss Hildegard Flügel, secretary; Branch Libraries, Miss Lucie C. Nye, chairman; and School Libraries, Miss Edna M. Browning, chairman, and Mrs Gertrude H. Mathewson, secretary.

After luncheon, which was served to one hundred twenty-two guests at the Y. W. C. A., the afternoon session was called to order, by Miss Mabel W. Thomas, President of the First District, in the lecture room of the Oakland Public Museum.

C. B. Joeckel, of the Berkeley Public Library, was the first speaker of the afternoon. His subject was, "The Salary Campaign in the First and Second Districts." Speaking in terms of a military campaign, Mr Joeckel told of the Library salary situation early in 1920, calling attention to the large number leaving the work and the few recruits available to fill their places. The mission of the Library army was to improve conditions. This was accomplished by collecting ammunition of statistics and tables of data, and turning this barrage on Library boards. The result of the conflict was a fairly general increase in library salaries throughout the state, notably in San Francisco, Oakland and Berkeley. Where salary schedules had not already been made up the California Library Association schedule of salaries was found to have been materially helpful. In conclusion Mr Joeckel said that we must decide if further attacks are to be made in the cause of libraries that have not yet reached the California Library Association schedule and recommended that libraries adhere to the salary schedule recommended at the Riverside Conference, as their goal of accomplishment, and that all who have not attained it should continue to press forward.

The First District indorsed Mr Joeckel's report and recommendation.

Miss Stella Huntington of the Second District gave a similar report for her district, based on a questionnaire sent to seven County Libraries and twenty-three Public Libraries. The result of the questionnaire showed a better standard of employment and an encouraging increase in salaries since the California Library Association schedule had been carried back to the libraries.

Miss Edith Coulter was elected Nominator from the First District, with Charles S. Greene, as alternate.

"A Librarian at Large" was the subject of a paper by George T. Clark, Librarian of Stanford University Library, telling of his travels in the Orient, Italy, France and England. Excellent slides gave lasting memories of the large libraries visited by Mr Clark.

Miss Nella Martin, director of the University of California Library School, traced the growth of the Library School at our State University. The course is eventually to be for graduates only, who should by that time know what vocation they wish to follow. Applicants for training are never lacking, but the scarcity of funds handicaps the work of the School. Resolutions passed by the various district meetings have helped in arousing interest in the needs of the school.

Interesting forecasts of the program for the annual meeting at Tahoe Tavern June 13-15, were given by Miss Provines. Mr Ferguson found it necessary to remain in Sacramento on account of the Legislature, but sent his greetings by Miss Provines, who, in his stead, told of the legislation of interest to librarians that has already come before the Legislature and of other matters that will come later. A reorganization of the present educational system is being planned which will place supreme power in the County Boards of Education, and make the county library systems a part of the school organization under the boards of education. Miss Provines protested against the subordination of libraries which would be involved in their incorporation with the school department, and against any tampering by experimentation with an organization which has been regarded in other states and in foreign countries as an unique and successful example of constructive library legislation.

The progress of certification in other states was to have been outlined by Miss Evelyn A. Steel, but illness prevented her being present. Mr Greene introduced the discussion on certification, expressing a desire that California should not lag far behind the five states that have already adopted library certification. He commended High School Library and County Library certifications and said the Public Libraries covet this asset for the library profession. The present need is to find the sentiment of the different districts, in order that library people may stand together if a bill for certification is introduced in the Legislature two years hence.

EDNA M. BROWNING

Secretary.

Third District Meeting.

A meeting of the Third District of the California Library Association was held on March 25, 1921, the morning session being held at the San Francisco Public Library and the afternoon session with the First and Second Districts at the Oakland Public Museum.

The principal talk of the morning session was by Charles S. Greene of the Oakland Free Library on Certification of librarians. All those present took part in the discussion which followed, showing a most decided interest in the subject. The following resolution was adopted: We, the members of the Third District of the California Library Association, do heartily endorse any practical and non-compulsory plan for the certification of librarians in the State of California, thus attesting our interest in and our willingness to promote any feasible plan that will set better standards for library work and give wider recognition to our profession.

As Nominator from the Third District, Miss L. Gertrude Doyle was chosen. The meeting then adjourned for luncheon at the Hotel Whitcomb.

CLARA B. DILLS,

Secretary.

Fourth District Meeting.

The Fourth District, California Library Association, held its annual meeting April 19, 1921, at McHenry Public Library, in Modesto.

The meeting was called to order at 10.30 a.m. by the District President, Miss Bessie B. Silverthorn. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, and a telegram from Milton J. Ferguson was read, expressing regret that he could not attend the meeting. Miss Cornelia D. Provines, President of the California Library Association, spoke regarding the University of California Library School, and the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, the Librarians of the Fourth District of the California Library Association realize that there is an unprecedented development in libraries in California, and

WHEREAS, Librarians are finding great difficulty in filling vacancies in city, county, high school, normal and college libraries, and

WHEREAS, the California State Library School, recognizing the University of California as the institution of formal instruction, has discontinued its courses, and

WHEREAS, the courses in Library Science at the University of California have been conducted during the past two years with insufficient support; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Librarians of the Fourth District of the California Library Association strongly urge that the University of California do everything in its power to develop a professional school for librarians at the University of California, and be it further

RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the University of California, and to the Chairman of the State Board of Control.

Miss Bigley spoke on the subject of certification, and there was a discussion of California Library Association membership, Miss McCardle of Fresno County saying that it should be the professional pride of every library worker in California to belong to the Association, and that the membership from every library should be 100 per cent.

G. B. Shadinger gave an address on "Community Service," explained what it is, its aims, and how the library may help.

A luncheon was served to members and friends of the Association at Hotel Modesto. The attractive place cards were the work of the art students of the Modesto High School.

At the afternoon session Miss Provines opened with an address on the annual meeting of the California Library Association which is to be held at Lake Tahoe, June 13 to 15, 1921. She also took the subject to have been presented by Mr Ferguson, "Report of the special Committee on Education as it affects the Libraries of the State."

"Plain publicity that pulls" was the subject of H. O. Parkinson's talk. He explained many methods which the Stockton Public Library had used to advertise its service which brought results, direct and indirect. A mimeograph had been used for much of the material, and business houses had been willing to display the attractive posters printed by Gaylord Bros., calling attention to the library in a concise and original manner. Reply post cards were sent to business and professional men, attempting to interest them in the books on the library shelves dealing with their respective interests. Mr Parkinson reported that about 10 per cent of the reply post cards were returned. This, he said was the usual percentage of return from advertisements.

Miss Gladys English, of the Fresno County Library, told of home reading lists made up for the school children of Fresno County. She quoted a delightful bit from Rupert Hughes, a verse referring to some of those books which would be, to the children reading them, "a passport to the skies."

Following Miss English's talk, Rev Harold S. Brewster gave a talk "Critical and miscellaneous," which included both a keen analysis of that interesting book "Main Street," and one of those delightful informal talks, all too rare, of many interesting things.

"High School Libraries" was the subject of Miss Esther Ramont's talk. She told of the manifold duties of high school librarians, of their many aspirations and their several difficulties.

IRMA V. COLE,
Secretary.

Fifth District Meeting.

A meeting of the Fifth District of the California Library Association was held on Saturday, May 7, 1921, at the University Farm School, Davis.

The meeting was called to order by the District President Miss Agnes E. Brown.

The morning session was a Round Table conducted by Miss Cornelia D. Provines.

The topics at the afternoon session were, Plain publicity that pulls, by H. O. Parkinson; The certification plan by Miss Provines; The report of the special Legis-

Miss Agnes E. Brown was elected Nominator for the District, with Miss Nancy C. Laugenour as alternate.

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT.

BEULAH MUMM, in charge.

The Reference Department furnishes information to any inquirer. It furnishes books to public libraries on request of the librarian, and to any other educational institution on request of its official head or its librarian; to individuals through the signature of a state officer, of the Librarian of the local library or of the official head of any other educational institution or on receipt of a $5.00 deposit; to a club or grange on request of its president, secretary or librarian. In counties having county free libraries, all requests must be made through the county free library.

A letter is being sent out to all the librarians of city and of county libraries, asking them to get for the State Library programs of their clubs if they have study outlines. These will be a great help in answering requests for club programs along definite lines. We realize that in the last few years there is a growing tendency not to print an entire year's program before the season opens, as often later necessary changes and unforeseen opportunities to secure desired speakers cause much confusion. In cases, however, where the program is still outlined and printed at the beginning of the season, the librarians can aid greatly by securing a copy and sending it to the State Library.

CATALOG DEPARTMENT.

IDA G. MUNSON, in charge.

During April, May and June 954 books were cataloged and 6880 cards were added to the file.

CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT.

AUDORA GAROUTTE, in charge.

The California Department aims to have a thoroughly good collection of books on the history and description, resources and industries of the State, as well as the works of California authors in all departments of literature. These are made accessible by means of a card catalog. Full names and biographical sketches of California authors, artists, musicians, pioneers and early settlers are being secured, together with their photographs. The collection of bound periodicals is quite large. The Department also contains about 7000 bound volumes of newspapers, a file of which is being indexed with reference to the history of the State. Students will be assisted in their work.

Pioneers and Early Settlers.

The cards of two pioneers of 1847 have been added to the collection. John Lloyd Terry came around the Horn in 1847.

He was a native of Kentucky and had also lived in Texas prior to coming to California. The card states that "he experienced much trouble on account of being a cousin of Judge David S. Terry." Mr Terry was a mining man and died in Leadville, Colorado in 1879.

Dr John Cameron came with Stevenson's regiment in 1847. He first settled in Sonoma but later moved to San Francisco where he took an active part in the Vigilance committee of 1856. His death occurred in 1864 in Oakland. The card is filled out by his daughter Mrs Augusta Bainbridge.

The "49ers" are represented by the cards of three prominent pioneers, Abraham Dubois Starr, Charles V. Stuart and Henry M. Lewis. All three of these men were builders of the State, and business men of the highest order.

Other cards received are those of Mr and Mrs Samuel Dale, Noah and John Wesley McCuiston and Mrs Sarah Ann Whitehead.

CALIFORNIA LIBRARIES—ANNUAL STATISTICS AND QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

During June annual report blanks were sent to all California libraries listed. Statistics from these annual reports are printed in this issue. Except when otherwise noted, statistics are for the period from July 1, 1920, to June 30, 1921.

Many of the county libraries do not include supplementary books in their circulation. We have endeavored this year to express this, when it has been stated on the annual report. In the next statistics number supplementary books will not be included in the circulation of any county library, according to an agreement entered into at the June 1921 meeting of the California Library Association. This will give far more uniform circulation figures.

Several counties this time have given on their branch slips figures for other material besides books sent to branches. When such information has been given, we have printed it. There was, however, no place made on the branch blanks for these statistics, which accounts for their being given in only a few cases.

The annual statistics are followed by quarterly news items covering the period July to October, 1921.

All libraries are listed except elementary public school and church libraries and those which belong to private individuals. They are arranged alphabetically by place under counties and counties are arranged alphabetically. To determine the county in which any place is located see list following these introductory paragraphs.

Those libraries are marked with an asterisk (*) which are not free to the public for either loan or reference purposes.

Libraries marked with ‡ are United States depository libraries; those marked with § are depositories for the Official Gazette of the Patent Office; those marked with || are geological depositories; those marked with ¶ are Library of Congress card depositories. This information was revised in October, 1920.

When a branch has a reading room, it is indicated by r. r. in the list of branches under county free library.

January Ja	July Jl
February F	August Ag
March Mr	September S
April Ap	October O
May My	November N
June Je	December D

In order that the figures for circulation may be uniform, current magazines are included in the total whether reported that way or not.

An effort is being made to have the statistics uniform in reference to number of branches. Any distributing point through which service is given directly from headquarters is counted as a branch. For example, in a school with several classrooms, if service is given directly to each classroom separately, each room served is counted as a branch. But, on the other hand, if a school district has joined and both school and community service are given from one location, such service is counted as two branches.

There are in California 44 county free libraries (42 in operation); 5 library district libraries; 4 union high school district libraries; 139 libraries supported by city taxation; 59 towns or districts with free public libraries that are included in county free library service (33 under sec. 3, 2 under sec. 4, 12 under sec. 16, 12 under Pol. C., sec. 4041); 67 law libraries, of which 55 are county law libraries; 58 county teachers' libraries; 369 libraries in educational institutions, of which

6 are universities, 7 colleges, 7 state teachers colleges, 285 public high schools, 64 private schools and other institutions; 58 miscellaneous institution libraries and 65 association or society libraries; 29 subscription libraries. In connection with the above libraries are 4182 branches and deposit stations.

There are 218 library buildings, of which 172 were gifts, and of these gifts 144 are from Andrew Carnegie.

As the libraries are listed under counties, the following alphabetical list by place, giving county, is printed:

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The new two-teacher school in Tennyson has joined the County Library. The district has also asked for a county branch in the near future and it is hoped that it can be established. Livermore with its ten teachers has become a part of the County Library.

The branch at Mt. Eden, the only upstairs branch in the county, has been moved into new quarters on the ground floor. Books ordered and delivered with the groceries is still a feature of this branch. The branch is next door to this wide-awake groceryman who is the only one in the village.

A new Salt Works branch has been established upon request, at the California Salt Works. The plant is a large one, the largest in the county. Many white men and Japanese are employed. Mrs. Jackson, an old time resident and an interesting character in the community, has taken charge. We hope to discover while the branch is there why the water is such a vivid pink. Some of the early requests were interesting. A busy housewife's from an adjoining island first request was for a cook book. Search was made and one was found in the first shipment. Ben Hur was the second book asked for and our one titled member, the Count, wanted a chemistry.

Three small Standard Oil deposit stations have been started. We call them S. O. deposits. Hayward, Livermore and Irvington are the first to start. The books are to serve the men doing special study.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

At a regular meeting of the Council of the city of Alameda Mr C. W. Griffin, Library Trustee, was granted a leave of absence of six months beginning September 1, 1921.

The library was fortunate in having a column of the Alameda Municipal Quarterly at its disposal for the publication of its yearly report. As the report showed an increase of 13,685 in circulation over the previous year, it was especially gratifying to have this fact mentioned in the Quarterly.

Since the opening of the school term, the weekly story hour, with Mrs. Evelyn Webster in charge, has been resumed. The result of this hour is shown in the demand for the books discussed, and also in an increase in membership.

the country. It is large, well proportioned and ideally located on the second floor adjacent to English and History departments and the study rooms. All details such as shelving, floor covering and furniture are scientifically planned. The aesthetic side has been stressed as well as the practical and hygienic so that it will be really beautiful. Its capacity is 150 students. There are included in the plans many features novel and interesting, making for a wide cultural influence, we hope. We have not been afraid of color, but have used it freely, though with discrimination.

University of California Library School.

From the number of applicants far exceeding our capacity under present conditions, thirty of the best students were chosen to make up this year's class in Library Practice. Twelve of these are university graduates and the others all seniors in the University, most of whom will give practically their whole last year to their vocational work. Under the circumstances we are making no special campaign here for future students other than advising applicants to take the work in a graduate year, if at all possible, as we give preference to those who already have the A.B. degree. Those desiring the training of well educated girls from their own sections might, however, interest carefully picked students in library work and in getting professional training. Three members of our present class enrolled at the suggestion of librarians who will, in all probability, be able to offer them positions at home when their training is completed.

No radical changes have been made in any of the courses. Miss Della J. Sisler, sometime librarian of the University of Arizona and lately a senior cataloguer at the University, is now giving her whole time to instruction in cataloguing and classification and Miss Evelyn Steel, librarian of the Oakland Technical High School, has taken over the work in selection of fiction and current literature. Those who were at the California Library Association meeting at Del Monte in 1917 will remember the unusual literary quality of her review of The Spoon River Anthology.

To correct an impression which has been brought to our notice several times, we draw attention to the fact that though, for University reasons, this is not called a library school, we are giving the equivalent in scope and content of a one year library school. Our courses are only open to professional students who must take and complete them all to be recommended for positions. In place of being arranged as a number of short courses on many different subjects, such as shelving, binding, et cetera, the work is grouped in four large courses of related topics, each one running throughout the year. Twelve hours of instruction are given each week besides preparation, problems and practice work.

Members of last year's class are holding positions in the following libraries: Marian F. Anderson and Rachel A. Look, California State Library; Bertha O. Bier-nath, Standard Oil Library, San Francisco; Dorothy Deming, Acting Librarian, University Farm, Davis; Helen Downs, Mina E. Keller, Anna P. Kennedy, Mary H. Sterrett, assistants Fresno County Library; Lois C. Howe, Federal Reserve Bank, San Francisco; Nellie L. Stiles, Kern County Library; Evangeline W. Thurber, Dept. of Education, Library, University of Chicago; Esther Hahn, Deborah King, Ivander MacIver and Katharine Wickson are all at the University of California Library and Florence A. Rhein at the Oakland Public Library.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The best news this year is that we are making more use of our library. The history teacher is employing the topical method and conducts one of her classes in the library. We are also planning a drama course as part of third year English and using the library method. We have brought our cyclopaedias down to date by adding the last copy of the International Year Book.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

There have been several changes in the personnel of the Board of Library Directors. Mr Russell Lowry was appointed, vice Mrs Emma B. DeRome, term expired, and Mrs George B. Preston was appointed to the unexpired term of Dr E. F. Card, who resigned in June. Mr D. W. LaFortune found it necessary to resign in August. His successor has not been appointed. At the annual meeting of the Board Mrs Coral S. Quayle was elected President, she being the first woman to have the honor. Dr Wm. S. Porter was elected Vice-President.

The appropriation from taxes for the year has been fixed at $151,000, rate .0893. With fines, etc. the total income will be about $160,000. The contract to give library service to the City of Piedmont has been renewed for another year.

Through the kindness of Mr C. J. Heinz of Sherman, Clay & Co., the music that was on display at the annual convention of the California Music Teachers' Association held in Oakland in July, was given by the eastern publishers to this library. This music has been quite a notable addition to our Music Department. The gift includes thirty-four bound books about music, and collections and sheet music to a gross value of about $700.

Several more cases of African material have been received from Mr Snow. The lot includes cases of, butterflies, insects, eggs and reptiles, as well as more mammals. Mr Snow expects to return to Oakland about Thanksgiving time. Mr H. W. Vogelsang has been appointed taxidermist at the Museum, and is busily engaged in preparing and tanning the skins that have been received.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

There have been a number of changes in the staff during the quarter. Miss Mary Harris, head of the Branch Department, has been given a year's leave of absence and is taking work in the library school at Western Reserve University. Miss Virginia Hamner has also been granted a leave of absence and is studying in San Francisco. Miss Marguerite Chatfield resigned to take a position in the Sacramento City Library.
Miss Cornelia Richert has entered college and Miss Josephine Roehmer has been appointed to her position. Misses Mina Keller, Helen Sterrett, Anna Kennedy and Helen Downs were added to the staff in July. We now have two full time pages in the Fresno City Branch, Agnes Pearson and Martha Zimmerman.

The summer branches located in the mountains at Sierra Chautauqua and Huntington Lake have been closed for the winter, after a most successful two months. These branches serve the summer population at these two large resorts and are very much appreciated. A great many people took advantage of the vacation privileges and took collections of books with them to the out-of-way places where there are no branches.

We have received a very interesting letter from Miss Constance Bentson, our former custodian at the Oleander Branch, written from her old home in Denmark. Miss Bentson had visited Jacob Riis' home and had been entertained by his relatives who are now living there. They were very happy to hear that Riis was so much admired in America and quite excited when she told them how much his books were read, away in California. Miss Bentson had been invited to visit some of the Danish libraries and promised to let us know how they were conducted, etc.

Branches were established at Dos Palos, Miller and Squaw Valley during the quarter.

Since June 1, this library has been moved from its old location in one of the temporary frame buildings into permanent quarters in a beautiful new room of its own, the library constituting the south wing of our quadrangle. It is a large room, with mezzanine floor on the south, over the office and workroom. The interior finish is very artistic, the wood-work being of blue-gum, wax-filled, and the walls of neutral green-grey tone. Pictures of historic and literary interest add a note of bright color to the whole.

Mrs Virginia Cleaver Bacon, librarian for five years, resigned in the spring to accept a position in Washington, D. C. but later accepted the position of librarian of Park College, Parkville, Missouri.

Miss Grace Reely came to the school as librarian, taking up her new duties at the summer session but personal matters forced her to give up the work at the end of that time, and she has since returned to a position formerly held, that of librarian of the high school at Boise, Idaho. The present librarian began work at the opening of the fall term, coming here from Lewiston, Idaho, where she was assistant librarian in the State Normal School.

Miss Blanche Galloway, formerly an assistant in the New York Public Library, was appointed September 7, as an assistant in the County Library. Miss Galloway was the first woman appointed by the American Library Association to take charge of a camp library and organized the library at Pelham Bay Naval Training Station for 10,000 men. Later she was in library work in France with the American Expeditionary Force, and in Germany with the American Army of Occupation. Miss Wilhelmina Harper was appointed at the same time as an assistant in the County Library. Miss Harper was head of the Children's Department in the New York Public Library, and resigned to assist Miss Galloway at Pelham Bay and later organized the library at Brest for the Y. M. C. A. She has compiled two books, "Story-hour favorites" and "Off duty." The "County Librarian's dream" is coming true.

Miss Ellen B. Frink resigned September 15, to accept a position in the Monterey County Free Library. This takes Miss Frink nearer to her home, but it is with great regret that we lose her. Miss Everett McCullough has resigned to accept a position in the Newberry Library, Chicago. Miss McCullough's father lives in Chicago, and she desires to be with him. We are sorry to part with her.

The County Library has purchased its first moving picture film, "The house fly." This film was made by Mr D. Barrows who spent three months in securing the pictures he desired. It will be very valuable in all health work, and may be used anywhere in the county where there is a moving picture machine.

During the quarter branches were established in the following school districts: Johannesburg, Munzer, South Fork Union, Union Avenue and Woody.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

During the summer vacation, the library of the Taft Union High School was enlarged to more than twice its original dimensions. Several hundred new books have been purchased, and new metal shelving is being installed to accommodate them. The librarian has no classes this year; so is in charge of the library and of the textbooks the entire day, with a part time assistant to aid her.

A new and adequate storeroom has been built for the textbooks, and a new system has been devised for charging them to the students.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The plan for vacation reading was varied somewhat this summer with satisfactory results. About six hundred children accepted the printed invitations distributed at the school and read some of the books on their lists. Nearly two hundred children read the required number and have received certificates. The vacation reading plan has been the excuse for two visits, one at the close of school and one this fall, to every class room in the city and the library has been well advertised among the children, not to mention the improvement in the class of books circulated which has been a result of the plan.

Miss Katherine Rogers, who took the junior attendant training in the Los Angeles Public Library and has had a year's experience there, has been added to the staff as junior attendant.

The annual report of the library shows an increase of thirty-seven per cent in circulation in the past year and a total increase of ninety per cent in three years.

The appropriation allowed by the city commission for the present fiscal year is $15,337, an amount somewhat in excess of the sum asked for.

Mrs Brewitt has resigned her position as librarian to accept the position of assistant librarian in the Long Beach Public Library. Her successor has not yet been appointed.

Her place will be filled by Miss Charlotte Thomas of the reference department of the Los Angeles Public Library. Miss Thomas is a graduate of Pomona College with several years' experience in both public and school library work. Courses in practical library work started last year by Mrs. Hall, will be continued this year under the direction of Miss Thomas. Credit for this work was given for the first time last year. QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

So far as we know, the Bonita Union High School is the only school in the state which has a separate library building. This building, which is now in process of construction, is one of a plant of six buildings for which the three districts supporting the High School recently voted bonds of a quarter of a million. It will be about 20 by 50 feet and will contain a large reference room and two smaller work rooms. It is located across the arcade from the academic building and will be most attractive in every way. The new principal, Mr Wm. T. Randall, is very much interested in the High School Library and through his efforts, Miss Abbie H. Doughty, a trained librarian, has been placed in charge. Miss Doughty is to spend the greater part of her time in organizing and developing the work of the library.

Earnest consideration is being given to the selection of a site and the method of choosing an architect, for the new library building for which bonds were voted.

Los Angeles Public Library School.

This year the Los Angeles Library School offers three special courses in addition to the fundamental course which prepares for any type of library work. These elective courses open to students and persons already in library work are advanced cataloging and bibliographical research, story-telling and administration of children's rooms, and high school libraries.

Philip S. Goulding, chief cataloger in the Huntington library, will have charge of the advanced cataloging, which will be concerned chiefly with the identification of editions of early printed books and the cataloging of rare books. Alice A. Blanchard will direct the course for children's librarians and Mrs A. O. Hunnewell, instructor in the University of California, Southern Branch, will teach story-telling.

The school opened September 26, with a class of 24, seven of whom came from the middle west and New England, the others from California. Thirteen are college graduates, and the others all have two years of college or library experience. All the students have had at least two weeks preliminary library practice, and 14 have had from one to seven years experience in camp, special or public libraries.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The Society, Sons of the Revolution in the State of California during the past quarter has added several hundred volumes to its library, including genealogy, history, biography and records of the World's War.

A great deal of publicity has been given the work of the Society and especially its reference library, the Repository of the Southwest, resulting in a very noticeable increase in attendance at the rooms, as well as letters of inquiry from many of the Southern and New England and intervening states, for information about the Revolutionary war, that one would expect to be more easily found in their respective states in many instances. This is very complimentary to both the records this library has and to the publicity it has received all over the country.

The membership has grown so much faster this year than ever before that we have already more than 100 additional members on our rolls since January 1, beating all former records for new members. The second visitors register for this Society since using one, has been placed on the table for all users of the library not members of the Society.

The manuscript and historical files of the Society continue to grow rapidly, there being now in use seven four-drawer files, and others soon to be obtained. These files are very comprehensive and by a recent visiting second-hand book dealer, considered among the finest of their kind he had ever seen, and by him appraised at a pleasingly high figure financially.

A second $5000 from the A. C. Vroman estate has been turned over to the city; the interest of which is to be used in purchasing art books for the library.

Just before school closed in June Miss Oxley, the Children's Librarian, visited every grade in each school in town and issued invitations to the children to join a vacation reading club at the children's library and at the branches. The conditions of the club were that the child upon joining should read and report on the books during the summer, selected from a number of books set aside on special shelves for the club. Those who finish will receive a certificate. Six hundred children joined at the Children's Library and at the branches. Two hundred finished the reading and will receive certificates the first week in October.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

This summer most of our concerts have been given by persons not members of the library staff. They have brought their own records, and have often given illuminating little explanations of the music. It need not be said that this community helpfulness makes the concerts better appreciated and more valuable.
For July 14 a French concert was given, and all French persons of the valley were given special invitations. A social time with light refreshments followed the concert.

This year the annual inspection of the library took place in the form of a commercial luncheon. The guests were the mayor and council, clerk, assessor, attorney and representatives of the press.
The heads of departments were given an opportunity to tell the guests of their work and of the plans for the next year.
As a pleasant surprise came the announce-budget as submitted would be allowed.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The Madera Union High School Library has introduced two innovations this term. The first is hourly service for reference books, magazines and fiction which has been assigned for review work. This is secured by a system of request slips filled out by the pupil and kept on file till the book or magazine is returned at the end of the hour. It has resulted in giving each pupil an equal chance to use all the magazines and where a reference book is in demand by an entire class, keeps that book in the hands of some different student each hour. However, reference books can be drawn for overnight work. In connection with the issuance of fiction for book review work it enables the pupil to first peruse a book and determine its general character before actually beginning work upon it. The pupils are showing an appreciative co-operation which grows with the realization day by day that the book which they need will be waiting for them just the hour they need it.

The other feature is so untried that only the idea can be given. Extension of regular library service to the parents of those pupils who live in the country and attend by bus is now under consideration. The intention is to make loans to such parents under regular library rules but through request filed by their children, this service to be in connection with the county free library. It is hoped in this way to reach a number of people who can not at present secure regular library service.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The San Quentin Prison Library is composed of about eleven thousand eight hundred donated volumes. These books have a daily circulation of about two hundred. The books are delivered to the cells every day, and through so much handling soon have to be repaired. We have a book bindery and print shop, and manage to keep the books in fair shape. The magazine section carries nearly all of the popular magazines, but the number of copies has been very limited. Arrangements with some of the news companies of San Francisco to send us their turn-backs, at the end of each month, has recently been effected. After receiving them our magazine section can supply most all wants.

Magazine circulation is increasing each month, and the reason we find to be the lack of new books in our fiction department. For the last few months the magazine circulation has been between four and five thousand copies a month.

As this library is completely made up of donated books, we request other librarians to remember us when they are making discards. All shipments should be sent in care of the undersigned.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

In August the Library was closed for interior painting and general renovating. During this time the Librarian took her vacation. Miss Ester White, a High School student, has been appointed Assistant. It has been gratifying to watch the steady increase in circulation. During September the attendance was 2305 and the books issued 1547. The Juvenile department has also increased, showing the children are reading. The books loaned to them amounted to 281. Since this is a small library the figures are very encouraging.

Messrs Dewey and Davis have donated 10 well illustrated volumes on the late war. It is a most concise and well written history. Many magazines have been donated to be forwarded to the men working at the Dam; these have proved an invaluable help to the men.

Thanks to the help from the State Library and the County Library, we have gotten together a collection of books for the use of the Napa Study Club which begins its season with the study of Belgium, the subject for the year.

Our assistant, Miss Boke, has recently been able to do some library visiting, calling on the libraries in San Rafael, San Anselmo, Sausalito and Oakland. She has brought us some interesting and helpful suggestions.

We are now receiving a deposit of books from the County Library in exchange for service given to out-of-town patrons. This seemed a better solution of our problem than the dropping of those who have so long regarded Goodman as their home library.

The item concerning Miss Chiles in the July issue of News Notes of California Libraries was an error on the part of the Register.

Luncheon in honor of County Librarian.

"Once upon a time, a long time ago," some seven and one-half years to be exact, it occurred to a little woman in Orange County that this spot of wonders was lacking one thing which nearly all the counties of California were enjoying and which Orange County might have for the asking if it so desired. She, with others like-minded, set about to get signatures to a petition asking for the establishment of a county free library; but their many hours of labor were not rewarded with success at that time. However, the seed was sown and nearly four years later began to grow in the minds of the members of the Fourth District (Orange County) California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations. These women, after a careful investigation of the kinds of county library service, decided in favor of the plan under Section 2 of California County Free Library Law, appointed a County Library Committee with Mrs Charles Harvey of Brea, chairman, and began an educational campaign in their associations throughout the county. Over a year later they with other organizations petitioned the board of supervisors to establish the County Free Library, which was done December 9, 1919. It was not until July 5, 1921, that a librarian was appointed and the library put into operation September 15. It was with great rejoicing that we welcomed our librarian to Orange County and made this the occasion of a luncheon in her honor, October 4, at St. Ann's Inn, Santa Ana.

Invitations were extended to all Orange County friends of the library and to a number outside of our county who had been interested in the efforts put forth for the success of the library. As the guests entered the foyer of the hotel a card, with a miniature library engraved in the corner and with name of guest, was pinned to each so that during the reception hour our new librarian became acquainted with many from all parts of the county where her work would soon begin.

The tables were gay with stately zinnias, asters and cosmos; covers were laid for one hundred twenty guests, including Miss Margaret E. Livingston, the guest of honor, Mrs May Dexter Henshall, state organizer of county libraries; Miss Celia Gleason, County Librarian of Los Angeles County and her assistant, Miss Helen Vogleson; Miss Mary Bean of the Library Bureau of Los Angeles and nearly every librarian in Orange County.

At the end of the four course luncheon Mrs Earl L. Morris, president of the Fourth District C. C. of M. and P. T. A., presided as toastmistress and announced as the theme of the toasts, "The Growth of the Library in Orange County." This was compared to the child in its development which passes through culture epochs, recapitulating the development of the race. So the library in Orange County had passed through its culture epochs, recapitulating the development of the library of the past ages.

The first stage of this development of the library of the past was the Clay Tablet Period; the time when records of the nations were written on tablets of clay, known to our civilization only by means of recent excavations that have unearthed libraries of many tablets, carefully tabulated and catalogued. So the library in Orange County had its Clay Tablet Period. This toast was responded to by Mrs R. W. Jones of El Modena, who was introduced as one who had been interested in the library from its earliest childhood. Mrs Jones very happily referred to the early efforts made, over seven years ago, for the establishment of a library in Orange County and how these efforts had been buried in the past, but by excavations certain documents had been unearthed showing that the desires for a library at this Clay Tablet Period were many and sincere.

The second stage of development of the library of the past was the Manuscript Period, the time when the history of the nations was written on manuscripts of parchment and papyrus, decorated with great care and skill in many colors and designs by professional copyists. So the library in Orange County had its Manuscript Period and Mrs G. H. Goodale, past president of the Fourth District, was introduced as one of the chief scribes. She responded to this toast in a most clever manner, unrolling and rolling a large manuscript as she read the records of the work the P. T. A. did during its four years of effort to get the Orange County library established and in operation.

The third stage of development of the library of the past was the period of the

Printed Book, or the adolescent stage of the library, because so many varied phases of library service have been tried since printing has come into use. As there are specialists in the study of adolescence so this toast was responded to by a specialist in the library service, Mrs May Dexter Henshall, state organizer of county libraries, who told of the growth of the many kinds of libraries since the invention of printing.

The fourth stage of the development of the library was the Adult Period. The child does not always remain a child; it grows and develops into the mature adult and so the library in Orange County had reached its maturity, which was welcomed as the Orange County Free Library, Section 2 California Library Law. Miss Margaret E. Livingston, the new county librarian, who responded to this toast, was introduced as one who typifies all that is fine in the mature adult because of her training, experience, wisdom and personal charm, and, as evidence of the confidence which the Fourth District P. T. A. has in her ability, the toastmistress at this point presented her with a bouquet of lovely carnations and then introduced her as "Our new and first County Librarian of Orange County." Miss Livingston very ingeniously compared the county library in operation to book production today. Author, the people who saw the need and worked to secure the library; publisher, board of supervisors who weigh merits of manuscripts and provide financial backing; printing and advertising, headquarters office, the mechanical preparation and distributing point; dealer and retail store, the branches giving direct contact with the reading public. She spoke of the honor to be chosen to have a part in this work, but the greatest honor for the new county library and librarian is in the future, yet to be earned, the honor of justification by accomplishment.

The fifth stage of development was the Period of Work and Activity. When the adult enters upon the period of activity it needs co-operation, aid and advice of partners in the work. Orange County District Attorney, Mr. A. P. Nelson, was introduced as the chief legal adviser and spoke on "Co-operation with the county free library from the business standpoint," giving assurance that the new county library would receive all the financial aid it would need in so far as was consistent with the other needs of the county.

Thus, after the growth of the library in Orange County was traced through its culture epochs, epitomizing the development of the past (1) The Clay Tablet Period; (2) The Manuscript; (3) The Printed Book; (4) The Adult Period, culminating in the Orange County Free Library under Section 2; and (5) Period of Work and Activity, the toastmistress said, if it were not for one thing, she would wish the county library might remain with us until a Ripe Old Age—but this could not be since the county library never grows old, decrepit or useless, because it has within itself the fountain of perpetual youth, therefore, she predicted for the new County Free Library many years of happy, successful service to the people of Orange County.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

During the summer time each of the three librarians enjoyed a month's vacation leave, and while they were absent Miss Carrie Sheppard and Miss Hazel Schultz assisted in the library. Miss Schultz left October 1 to attend the Library Service School at Riverside.

A raise in salary amounting to approximately 12 per cent of the previous salary was given to each of the librarians at the beginning of the library year.

The librarian has been asked to give a series of book talks at the monthly meetings of the Ebell Club throughout the club year.

Miss Anna McDermont, who had been a member of the Board of Library Trustees since 1907, passed away at her home here July 14. She had been actively interested in library advancement since the time when Fullerton first began to feel the need of a library. She was largely instrumental in establishing the first little reading room in 1905, and later, in securing the funds for the Carnegie building. Before the building was completed she was appointed to serve as a trustee and had been a most faithful and valuable member from that time to the time of her death. She attended many of the state and district meetings and counted among her friends many of the librarians of the state.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

For the last two years, a branch library for the use of the Junior College students has been placed in their study hall in the Junior College building. Miss Fridt, a 1919 graduate, and a graduate since of University of Southern California, is in charge. Next year, the new library will be large enough to accommodate both the Junior College and High School students, thus doing away with the two libraries. Plans for the new library, size fifty feet by one hundred feet, have been completed and building operations will be begun in December.

Miss Annice Heaton, a former employee, has entered upon her new duties in the Pomona Public Library. Miss Bate, the librarian, attended the funeral of Mr J. F. Daniels, in Riverside September 19.

Instruction in the use of the library is being given to the Freshman and Sophomore English classes this fall.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

In many respects, the past quarter has been the busiest one in the history of our library. Circulation has increased thirty-one per cent over that of the same period last year. Twenty per cent of this circulation was non-fiction. While no count was kept of the persons reading in the library, that number has also increased.

Electric fans were installed this summer, with much comfort to patrons and librarian.

Heretofore books borrowed from the Riverside Library have been shelved with our own, but now separate shelves are reserved for them, thus showing at a glance the new ones added from time to time.

With the coming of cooler days the popularity of the tennis court in connection with the library has increased, and some of our business men, as well as young people, are finding relaxation in an hour's enjoyment of the game.

A story hour is held once a week. We have been fortunate in being able to secure among our club women some very able story-tellers. These women are versed in the art of story telling and we feel that many children are being guided along the lines of right thinking and conduct.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

Two schools joined the County Library during the quarter—Junction and San Joaquin, making 62 schools now served.

July 7 to 11, Miss Hazel Gibson and Miss Margaret Cavanaugh made a visiting tour of several libraries for the purpose of gaining information concerning records, equipment, etc., and felt themselves well repaid for the trip. Their itinerary included visits to Alameda County Library, Contra Costa County Library, Santa Clara County Library, San Francisco Public Library, Suto Branch of the State Library and the University of California Library School.

The Sylvan Branch was moved from the Donahue residence, where it had been for some time, to the new school building of the Sylvan District, September 27. A library room with outside entrance has been provided for the branch, and as the schoolhouse is centrally located, it will make a very convenient branch for the district.

During her vacation in San Diego, the County Librarian had the very great pleasure of visiting the San Diego Public and San Diego County Libraries, and of being most cordially received and enter-

CORNELIA D. PROVINCES, Lib'n.

The Weimar Joint Sanatorium in Placer County is to receive library service. Since Placer County has no county free library, the county libraries of the counties co-operating in the upkeep of the sanatorium will send in books and magazines. Sacramento is one of these counties.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The parade held August 19, during the San Diego Midsummer Carnival, gave the library an opportunity to do some effective advertising. Upon a decorated city truck, driven by a dashing pirate, appeared several of the best known characters of fiction, their identity being suggested to the public either by their unmistakable costumes, or by huge books, bearing their titles, and carried by the characters. Robinson Crusoe, in a marvelous get-up of gunny sacks and skins, was greeted gleefully all the way, with many solicitous inquiries for "Friday"; Mother Goose, leading Pinocchio by the hand, pleased the children, as did also Little Bo-Peep, Little Red Riding Hood and the beautiful Fairy Princess; Ramona, with her black braids and red shawl, was as demure and lovely as Helen Hunt Jackson could have wished; and the veiled Scheherazade, of Arabian Nights fame, was gorgeous in spangles and fine purple. The occasion was one long to be remembered, both for its work and its fun.

For the first time, the public library had an exhibit at the annual county fair, held from September 21 to 24, in one of the former exposition buildings at Balboa Park. A booth was attractively decorated by a committee of the library staff, a frieze of book jackets being strung around the wall, and many flowers and greens used. Among the exhibits which attracted special interest were the five most used books in the library; the best sellers of twenty years ago and of today; children's books; scrap-books for household arts and interior decoration; popular documents; stereoscope views. Application cards were offered to visitors.

A long-deferred hope has at last been realized, in the opening of the new Mission Hills Branch October 1. In the new addition to the Grant School a large and attractive room has been equipped by the school board for the use of this branch library, in which a collection of books has been installed, with Miss Cecil Bernardis, formerly librarian of the Ocean Beach Branch, in charge. Service is given daily from 2 to 5.30 and on Monday and Friday evenings from 6.30 to 8 o'clock. This new branch is the first step in pursuance of a plan of Mayor Bacon and Mr Johnson, Superintendent of Schools, who hope to make every school a community center, with the playground and the branch library as part of the school equipment, and all resources of the building open to adults, as well as to the children.

With great regret, the Marston Branch of the Public Library was closed August 1. This branch has been conducted for the last four years in the Marston Store, the generosity of Mr Marston having given the use of an attractive room on the fourth floor, where many shoppers and tourists have found it a great convenience. But the nearness of this branch to the main library, and the great need for service in other portions of the city, made it seem necessary to close it, upon the opening of the new branch in Mission Hills.

By public subscription and a generous gift from Miss Ellen B. Scripps, the La Jolla Library Association has recently erected a beautiful building at the northwest corner of Girard and Wall streets. It is in Spanish renaissance style, with an outdoor reading garden and a picture gallery, as well as beautifully equipped children's, reference and circulation departments. The building was designed by W. Templeton Johnson, a San Diego architect, and cost $37,000. Miss Irene Eckis, formerly on the staff of the San Diego Public Library, is the librarian in charge. This library, while independently

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

In accordance with a recent act of the State Legislature the San Diego State Normal School has assumed the name and status of a State Teachers College and has also taken over the San Diego Junior College which is being conducted in connection with the Teachers College, all under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Education. This about doubles the number of students using the library, and during several periods daily there is a large excess of students over the seating capacity, although additional seats have been supplied. An additional reference table has been ordered; this will relieve the congestion in the center of the room and yet not detract from the attractiveness and homelike feeling of a one-room library.

About seven hundred new books have already been added to the shelves, including dictionary-encyclopædias and texts in French and Spanish, the standard English requirements, and recent publications in science and history, with others to follow.

The training school library is the recipient of two greatly prized picture books, one of dogs and one of wild animals, each arranged by classes. These were made by the two fourth grades as part of a project problem on which their summer work was based. This included the making, binding and decorating of the books, many of the pictures being their own photographs of animals in the park zoo.

Supported by the California State Library. Total payments 1920-21, $9793.17. 4 employees. Withdrawn 170: gifts 14; deposits 156. Circulation 11,563 (home use 827). Vols. borrowed from other libs. 473 (346 from State Library; 45 from university libs.; 50 from city and co. libs.; 5 from private libs.; 27 from individuals). Of the 18,710 items added during the year, 18,531 were by gift and deposit and were divided as follows: from publishers for the Publishers' Deposit section 2504; from libraries carrying out the storehouse plan, 649; from individuals, making the Sutro Branch the custodian of their private collections (including the Authors' Depository), 1478; from institutions and societies making the Sutro Branch their library headquarters 13,900.

Perhaps the most important additions to the collections during the year are the Adolph Sutro letters and written documents covering the years 1853 to 1879, deposited by his daughter, Dr Emma L. Merritt, and the 178 volumes of Sutro Library newspapers which were bound at the State Library and returned to the Sutro Branch. It is not known yet just what the letters and written documents cover but they appear to be connected with all of Mr Sutro's many civic activities.

The files of newspapers are needed constantly for reference and as they are very limited on this side of the Bay since the fire of 1906, these volumes added to the Sutro Library are most welcome and are used constantly.

The late Mrs E. M. North-Whitcomb was a very active figure in San Francisco and in California activities, and had accumulated quite a little historical material. All that was important from the state point of view had been given to the State Library before her death. Her daughter, Mrs J. J. McDonald, turned over all the rest to the Sutro Branch to place in the library system wherever it seemed best. It has added many missing numbers of the publications of local organizations and when listed and shelved will without doubt prove to be a very valuable gift to the state and city resources.

The Astronomical Society of the Pacific and the California Genealogical Society both held their annual meetings in the Sutro Branch quarters.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

During the quarter, 178 additional volumes of Sutro Library newspapers have been returned to the Sutro Branch. They are all San Francisco newspapers and some are early years. They were bound at the State Library.

Several very interesting and valuable San Francisco historical items have been received during the last three months; and some very greatly needed books have been added to the Library of the California Genealogical Society which is in the custody of the Sutro Branch. The section on Rhode Island especially has had important additions.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

A large "germ of knowledge," wrapped about by the following spiral quotation, caught the eye of far more people than did any other object in the library booth at the recent San Joaquin County Fair: "I am a germ of knowledge. From me cometh much understanding. As a rule, I am found in almost any book, but for this occasion I have come out, as I may never have a better chance to introduce myself." Even the least observant of passers-by felt compelled to crook their necks and otherwise alter their postures in order to read what the little bug had to say. Moral: For publicity purposes, add a bug to your staff.

To aid and abet the propaganda of this public spirited germ, Gaylord posters were tacked up in 75 vulnerable points about the grounds, including enough to saturate the grandstand, where leaflets were also distributed before the races.

The following new school districts have joined the library system: Burwood, Delphi, Golden West.

Since the time when our friends came to our rescue after the fire that almost completely destroyed our plant, our library has not made such strides as it did during the last quarter. Accessions have been 769 besides many pamphlets. These last have been made more available for the student also, much to the help of our debaters and research workers. Improvements have been made in the office and shelving capacity much increased in the reading room. We have added a "reading-pen" for those doing collateral reading, giving students free access to the books for that purpose. The magazine list now reaches sixty-three.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

Miss Nellie Cowan and Miss Nora Wheeler, assistants, were enrolled in the library course at the University of California summer session. Miss Wheeler returned to the library, expressing herself as having spent her time both pleasurably and profitably. Miss Cowan, however, resigned to accept a position in the Sacramento Public Library. Miss Emma Revell was appointed to succeed her. Since Miss Revell refused a permanent appointment, Miss Gertrude McLaughlin, formerly of Kings County, has in her place become a member of the staff.

Miss Marion Morse, the librarian, on September first resigned to become County Librarian of the Island of Maui in Hawaii. Thelma Brackett was appointed to succeed her. Miss Morse writes of her unusual problems in the Islands, the most knotty, perhaps, being the necessity to re-model a seven-room cottage into a library with quarters for the librarian.

Mr Gustafsson, custodian of the Macdoel Branch, tendered his resignation from the work. Macdoel Branch was accordingly consolidated with the school branch, with Miss Johnson in charge.

On September 14 Mr Kleaver, county superintendent of schools, his wife and the librarian made a trip through the southwestern part of the county. Four schools and two community branches were visited. Perfect weather, clever mules, and a beautiful country combined to make the business trip a three-days' holiday.

Map cases recently sent in from one of the schools proved unsatisfactory to operate. On investigation, they were found to be filled with wasps' nests. Fortunately for the staff, the houses were unoccupied.

Miss Agnes Bryant, the newly appointed county nurse, is planning to take many trips with the librarian. Co-operation between the two promises to be complete. At the County Fair, September 27 to October 1, the Red Cross and the County Library had adjoining space. An attractively decorated balcony, comfortably fitted up as a rest room, proved very popular. The exhibit of blind material, consisting of books in various types, games and writing apparatus for the blind, all from the State Library, attracted considerable attention.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The newly appointed Rural Music Supervisor of Solano County and the County Librarian have outlined a course in cooperation, which is correlating the work of each department to a most satisfactory degree. Following are some of the points that can be jointly operated with success in this county.

1. The Solano County Free Library furnishes all of the material that the Music Supervisor needs for her own use, as well as that used by the different schools.

2. The library buys records suggested by the Music Supervisor for the schools and the Farm Bureau meetings.

3. Visits are made by the librarian to the schools with the Music Supervisor. Then follows the lesson in music, after which the librarian takes about ten minutes to tell of the (a) work and service of a library, (b) the method of working out the reading as suggested in the county manual for grammar school library certificates, (c) tells a fairy tale, (d) talks on children's reading. The Supervisor and the librarian often stay long enough to get acquainted with the children, teaching them a folk dance, accompanied by the phonograph record.

4. The Music Supervisor takes all packages to schools on her route for the day, as her schedule is known at the library, and it is followed closely by the library.

5. The Music Supervisor attends many of the Farm Bureau meetings, leading the community singing. The librarian attends too if possible, helping with the singing, or taking part on the program.

During the quarter a branch was established in the Ryer Island school district.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

The Woman's Improvement Club of Tuolumne has recently completed its new clubhouse, in which attractive quarters the County Library Branch has been installed.

An interesting trip was recently made into the Hetch Hetchy Valley where the immense dam of the San Francisco Water Supply Company is being constructed. The County Library is already serving two of the camps—Damsite and Mather, and another branch—Big Creek, was organized with Mr Meagher acting as custodian. The new school district at the Damsite was also added to the County Library system.

Improvements are being made on the Jamestown Branch to the extent of paint for the walls and floors, window shades, pongee curtains, new lights, readjustment of the furniture with a new table for the custodian and a new book-case, and some plants donated by the ladies of Jamestown.

The branches at Camp Pickering and Camp Rath, the mountain lumber camps of the Standard Lumber Company, will be discontinued during the winter months.

QUARTERLY NEWS ITEMS.

Miss Julia Steffa resigned as librarian here to be acting librarian of Madera County. Everyone regretted Miss Steffa's resignation, especially as it came at the time when the new building she had done such good work on was just completed. A public reception was given Miss Steffa at which she was presented with a traveling bag in appreciation from the people of the county. Miss Steffa's resignation took place September 15. Miss Elizabeth Topping was appointed in her place September 16.

The new building in which are installed both the Ventura County Free Library and the Ventura City Library is completed, and both libraries are established in it in full running order. An interesting feature is the outside reading room in which there is a fountain.

The teacher, Mrs. Murphy, and the pupils of the Arnaz School visited the county library September 23.

DIRECTORY FOR LIBRARY SUPPLIES AND OTHER ITEMS OF GENERAL INTEREST.

Many public libraries waste a great deal of time and money before they find good places to get supplies. The plan is to give all libraries the benefit of the experience of the older libraries of the State by listing under different heads the houses that have been found to give satisfaction, the names and addresses being furnished by the older and larger libraries of California. In this way suggestions will be given as to where different sorts of books may be bought, where books may be rebound or periodicals bound, where library furniture may be bought, etc., both in California and in the East.

If any information is needed about the firms listed below which can not be obtained from the firms themselves, the names of the libraries recommending the different ones will be sent to any library upon application to the State Library.

State officers are entitled to borrow books, and private individuals are accorded the same privilege upon presentation of a request signed by a Supreme, Appellate or Superior Judge, or other state officer. Books may be kept three weeks, and will be once renewed for two weeks. All books are subject to recall, if required by a state officer.

In addition to special service to members of the Legislature, information on the laws of California and other states and countries is given on inquiry from libraries or individuals.

Recent accessions to the department will be found listed under the heading "Law" in the section on "Recent Accessions."

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT.

BEULAH MUMM, in charge.

The Reference Department furnishes information to any inquirer. It furnishes books to public libraries on request of the librarian, and to any other educational institution on request of its official head or its librarian; to individuals through the signature of a state officer, of the Librarian of the local library or of the official head of any other educational institution or on receipt of a $5.00 deposit; to a club or grange on request of its president, secretary or librarian. In counties having county free libraries, all requests must be made through the county free library.

During the year from July 1, 1920, to June 30, 1921, the service of the Reference Department came to the following totals: 16,832 author requests were looked up in all sources, 6424 subject requests filled, 9208 shipments made, 31,633 books were circulated, 500 letters were dictated, 21,021 request slips were stamped and marked, and 9649 receipt post cards were typed.

ORDER AND ACCESSIONS DEPARTMENT.

MYRTLE RUHL, in charge.

During July, August and September 1505 books and 211 prints were accessioned.

A collection of twenty-five colored wood-block prints by Helen Hyde was donated to the Library by her sisters, Mrs Mabel Hyde Gillette and Mrs Hallie Hyde Irwin.

We now have ninety-five of Helen Hyde's prints, very nearly a complete collection of the work of this artist, who was a native Californian and the first print maker on the Pacific Coast to attain national prominence.

CATALOG DEPARTMENT.

IDA G. MUNSON, in charge.

During July, August and September 760 books were cataloged and 6046 cards were added to the file.

CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT.

EUDORA GAROUTTE, in charge.

The California Department aims to have a thoroughly good collection of books on the history and description, resources and industries of the State, as well as the works of California authors in all departments of literature. These are made accessible by means of a card catalog. Full names and biographical sketches of California authors, artists, musicians, pioneers and early settlers are being secured, together with their photographs. The collection of bound periodicals is quite large. The Department also contains about 7000 bound volumes of newspapers, a file of which is being indexed with reference to the history of the State. Students will be assisted in their work.

Pioneers and Early Settlers.

Jacob Frederick Haehnlen, a pioneer of 1846, arrived in a sailing vessel, making the trip around the Horn. Mr Haehnlen became a journalist, having founded the first German newspaper in San Francisco. He was also a member of the Vigilance Committee of 1856. Mr Haehnlen returned to Philadelphia where he died May 14, 1874.

Robert Chalmers, a native of Scotland, made the overland journey to California in 1850. He settled at Coloma, where gold was discovered, and was a resident of this historical mining town until the time of his death, 1881. Mr Chalmers was a man of much ability and served as County Treasurer, Tax Collector and as a member of the Legislature.

The following cards of those arriving in 1852 have also been received and placed on file: Mr and Mrs Dudley Bass, Robert Hall Buckingham, Lewis Albright Haehnlen, Peter Johnston.

Of unusual interest is the card filled out by Edward Everett Ayer who came to San Francisco as a boy and enlisted in the First California Cavalry in 1861, serving until near the close of the Civil War. Although Mr Ayer lived in California but a few years he has always retained his interest in the state, visiting it many times, and taking an active part in its welfare. He is at the present time much interested in the preservation of the Redwoods, being one of the governors of the League organized to save these wonderful trees from destruction. Mr Ayer has given valuable collections to the Field Museum, Chicago Art Institute, and Newberry Library. To the latter he gave his collection of fifty thousand volumes on the North American Indian, valued at one and a half million dollars. In speaking of these gifts Mr Ayer says, "I have received in enjoyment and happiness twenty times as much from each as I have given."

Donations.

The gifts mentioned below are those that have come into the California department through the regular channels. The large collections that are being secured by Mr Peterson of the Library staff are not included and will be written up in a general article later.

Some very valuable early reminiscences have been received. Those written by Edward Everett Ayer are of unusual interest. Mr Ayer also sent as a gift a photostat copy of the original diary of Junipero Serra. This diary is in the Ayer collection. "Personal History and Reminiscences" by Henry Root is a valuable contribution to California history.

*Native Californians.

Mr L. E. Behymer, who is much interested in our work of preserving the musical history of the State, has sent to the department a complete set of the Philharmonic Orchestra programs for the season 1920-21. These programs came beautifully bound and are a most valuable addition to the collection. Cora W. Jenkins has added a large number of musical compositions.

We greatly appreciate the generous assistance of our musician friends.

A number of early pictures of San Francisco and Sacramento have been received, also a framed group picture of the "Associated Pioneers of the Territorial Days of California," and a picture of Salvador Vallejo, with more pictures of this honored pioneer family to follow.

It is impossible to mention all the gifts received, but we wish to assure our friends that their invaluable aid in building up a State collection is deeply appreciated.

Home Teaching.

Miss Foley, home teacher of the blind, is at the Suto Branch of the State Library, Sacramento and Webster streets, San Francisco, every Thursday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. She gives lessons regularly in Alameda, Berkeley, Oakland, Palo Alto, San Bruno, San Jose and other places in that vicinity. Miss Morrison, home teacher of the blind, is at the Los Angeles County Free Library, Broadway Annex, Hall of Records, on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons from 1.30 until 5.30 o'clock. She gives lessons regularly in Los Angeles and nearby places.

From July 1 to September 30 they gave 281 lessons in the homes of the blind and 143 lessons at the libraries and institutions on the 59 afternoons they spent in them. Miss Foley and Miss Morrison have made 143 visits and calls in connection with the work for purposes other than giving lessons, and received 38 visits in connection with the work.

During the quarter Miss Foley and Miss Morrison spent 167 hours on correspondence and preparing lessons. They wrote 305 letters and 139 postals and received 210 letters and 24 postals. They also answered and made 382 telephone calls. They made 3 addresses. Miss Foley teaches regularly in Oakland a class of seeing people to write Braille. The various other activities in connection with the work of the home teachers can not be easily tabulated.

Miss Foley was in Los Angeles for several days during the quarter, as well as in San Jose and Santa Clara. Miss Morrison spent several days in San Diego during the last part of July. While in Los Angeles Miss Foley spoke before the students of the southern branch of the University of California Summer School and also before a gathering of the blind there. In September she spoke at the staff meeting of the Oakland Public Library.

Persons who know of possible pupils anywhere in Orange, Los Angeles or San Diego counties are urged to communicate with Miss Catharine J. Morrison, 951 El Molino st., Los Angeles (telephone Wilshire 5339); and anywhere around the bay, with Miss Kate M. Foley, Suto Branch, State Library, Sacramento and Webster streets, San Francisco (telephone West 3046). About prospective pupils in other localities, write direct to the State Library, Sacramento.

*Appliances and games are loaned as samples to anyone wishing to try them.

Report of Kate M. Foley, Home Teacher of the Blind. July 1, 1920-June 30, 1921.

I have the honor to present a report of my work as home teacher of the blind of San Francisco and the bay region, beginning July 1, 1920, and ending June 30, 1921.

During the past year, the work has grown steadily, and has won for itself a place among the recognized social organizations of the state. I have been asked to represent the Books for the Blind Department of the State Library at the Council of Social and Health Agencies of San Francisco, and to meet with the Section on Education to consider Vocational and Special Schools and Agencies. It is gratifying to note the growing interest in the welfare of the blind, and the desire on the part of social agencies to assist in the solution of the many and serious problems for the advancement of this handicapped class.

I have made trips to Stockton, Napa, Yountville and Sacramento, giving lessons and visiting borrowers. I can not visit these places very often, but correspond with the pupils and mail lessons to them.

I go regularly to San Jose and Santa Clara, and in both places the work has grown appreciably. In Santa Clara I have a number of invalids and elderly people to whom the reading is a source of great joy. I am teaching one man there who has been blind for thirty-five years. He is past sixty, but is making splendid progress.

There has been an increase in the number of pupils in the bay region, and I continue to give weekly lessons in Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, San Leandro and San Francisco. I teach in the San Francisco Relief Home and San Leandro Infirmary, as well as in the Homes for Incurables in San Francisco and Oakland. The Associated Charities in these cities ask me to visit the blind of their districts, and this co-operation is mutually helpful. I continue to spend one afternoon each week in the Industrial Home for Adult Blind, Oakland, and there is a steady increase in the number of borrowers there. The management appreciates the regular service, and the most cordial relations exist between the two institutions.

I have had to spend a great deal of time in preparing lessons, owing to the increasing demand for material in Revised Braille, and to the fact that the Ziegler Magazine is now printed in this system. Beginning with March of this year, the American Braille edition was discontinued, and the State Library home teachers had thirty-five new pupils prepared to read the new system, and this did not include a large number who had previously read American Braille and New York point, who applied to us for lessons in Grade One and a Half and Grade Two. We are justly proud of this record, and feel that the extra time and effort is well spent.

The Federal Board for Vocational Training continues to avail itself of our services in instructing the blinded soldiers who are not sent to the Red Cross Institute for the Blind at Baltimore. In this connection, we have been consulted with regard to twenty soldiers, to a number of whom we are now giving instruction. We teach them Braille and typewriting, and advise them along many lines, giving the help and encouragement that only a blind teacher can give. Both the Federal Board and the Bureau of War Risk Insurance appreciate our effort, and we feel greatly privileged to be permitted to make up to the soldiers, though in small measure, for the great sacrifice they have made.

I attended the convention of the American Association of Workers for the Blind at Vinton, Iowa, this June. I presented a report on the higher education of the blind, and took part in two round table discussions. At this meeting the American Foundation of the Blind was organized. This is a very forward step, and should prove of untold value, since it includes every phase of work for the blind — schools, homes, work-shops and libraries, and provides for bureaus of research, education, publicity, as well as employment and placement. I was gratified to find that our State Library Books for the Blind Department ranks second to none in its number of books, circulation, general equipment and social service, and that its method of home teaching receives general commendation.

As shown in the statistical report, the number of correspondence pupils has increased. In addition to those in this state to whom it is not possible to give oral instruction, I teach the blind of neighboring states including Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Arizona. In this way I also instruct the parents of blind children of pre-school age, and this is one of the most important phases of the work.

The Women Volunteers of Oakland, California, continue to transcribe articles, poems and short stories in Revised Braille for our borrowers, and have contributed more than a hundred and thirty volumes to the State Library. The class meets twice each month in the Oakland Public Library, and I frequently remonstrate with the members for bringing in so much work. They are indefatigable and enthusiastic, and declare that the transcribing has become a real pleasure, and a necessary part of their daily routine. They continue to copy the weekly budget of news for our deaf-blind borrowers, and this is greatly appreciated, especially by one young man who, in addition to being deaf-blind, is crippled, and, owing to the loss of touch, reads the Braille with his upper lip. We also have a transcriber in Los Angeles who copies in Grade One for some of our elderly borrowers who have not learned to read the contractions. We have a volunteer in San Francisco who copies short stories for the library, and news items for the young man mentioned above. To all the transcribers our grateful acknowledgement is due, not only for their contribution to our literature, but for the wonderful spirit inspiring the unique service. Miss Estelle Miller of Los Angeles still volunteers her services as proof reader, and to her painstaking effort is due the high standard of excellence maintained by the transcribers.

I take this opportunity to express my indebtedness to the City and County Librarians of the state for their constant and hearty co-operation. This is a further demonstration of the wisdom of the California library plan and its far-reaching effects. Through this service we are kept in close touch with the blind of the state, and are able to help them more intelligently.

A word of appreciation is due to Mr Will French of the State Industrial Accident Commission for calling our attention to cases of seriously defective eyesight.

Thanks are also due to the Widows Pension Bureau of San Francisco, the Social Service Commission of San Mateo County, and the Associated Charities of Alameda County for their intelligent treatment of the blind pensioners, and for their hearty acquiescence in our plans for their well being and comfort.

The statistical report shows the scope of the work and some of its results, but the real good accomplished can not be told in words. Its effects may be seen in hundreds of homes where men and women, strengthened and encouraged, are once more assuming their rightful places in the household, sharing the work and the responsibility, just as in the days before blindness came upon them. Their words of appreciation, and their eager response stimulate the home teacher to yet greater efforts, and lead her to seek other and broader avenues of usefulness for those who look to her for courage and inspiration.

Report of Catharine J. Morrison, Home
Teacher of the Blind. July 1, 1920-
June 30, 1921.

The year just completed marks another step forward in home teaching for the blind. Through this department the State Library has found many fields of service besides increasing the circulation of books among the reading blind.

The primary interest of this branch of State Library extension work is the pupils and borrowers, and these have grown in number, fifty-five having been added this year. The majority of these still continue to be elderly people and live in Los Angeles, but Pasadena, Pomona, San Diego, Long Beach and Santa Monica have increased their readers, which means that regular trips have been made to these places during the year. The San Diego trips, though at long intervals, have proved well worth while, and the pupils are interested and working. It brings us together, for the most important event of all is the afternoon social gathering at the Public Library where we become acquainted and find numerous ways in which we can help each other. Three trips have been made this year, each of which resulted in new pupils and stimulated interest. Visits have continued to the Soldiers' Home, though with less frequency, and although there has been no addition in the number of pupils, the circulation of books has remained steady among the six good readers, and the interest and good will of the veterans never flags. Their ranks are slowly thinning by death. The borrowers have increased at the County Farm and the constant circulation of books there proves that the irregular trips made are of real value. One reader there is a deaf mute and blind, having lost his sight within the last year, and it is not hard to understand what the books mean to him.

The Pomona class has met regularly once a month through the courtesy of the Librarian, and in consequence there are a number of borrowers in and about Pomona. A service man from the Chaffey School at Ontario has become a member of the class. He is studying poultry raising in the hope that the outdoor life will benefit his health. Another man, who lost his sight overseas, is buying a small ranch near Los Angeles and raising chickens. He has been in town several times for lessons, and there is another service man in Monrovia who finds the books a great pleasure. The two men, who went from California to the Red Cross Institute at Baltimore, are still in training and it is gratifying to know that they are holding the positions respectively of president and vice president of the Student Body of the School. The return of one of them, Mr O'Hara, for two months during the winter was an inspiration to us all. His account of the courses of training given at Evergreen and of what the men are doing who have finished and gone out into the world gave us a new insight into the possibilities of work for the Blind. The blind service man is making good which proves that training in various lines of work for the blind civilian is worth while. The two visits to the White House this spring of several of the Evergreen men and their cordial reception by President and Mrs Harding is an event of importance and a most encouraging sign for the future.

Our County Charities have continued their friendly co-operation, and through them I have come in touch with several of my pupils. The Handicraft Department in connection with the Outdoor Relief Division of the Los Angeles County Charities is still an important factor in our work, and lessons have continued there with weekly regularity throughout the year. The number of pupils has increased which means that there are more workers. These workers are all Mexicans so that they are learning to read both English and Braille. Besides these there are four other pupils attempting to master English and Braille. Their appreciation, interest and effort make their lessons a pleasure, and the reading is putting something of real worth into their lives. Two deaf mutes have had instruction also and although their progress is necessarily slow they are learning to read by touch. Several pupils have resumed work in order to learn the Revised Braille, for the number of books in this type is increasing and they comprise the most up-to-date fiction and general literature. A Revised Braille edition of the Ziegler magazine has taken the place of the one in American Braille so that its readers have nearly all learned this new type.

Two blind men from the Handicraft Department have gone into the reed furniture business and two others from the outside have done the same thing. There are three students at our College of Osteopathy and I know of three successful osteopaths who are now practicing in Los Angeles while another will soon enter the field as a chiropractor. We are glad to consider this practical side a part of the work to be reported.

A little work has been done in connection with the pensions, explaining the procedure and filing blanks for the applicants, but the work in this county is well handled by a member of the Outdoor Relief Division.

Our monthly social gathering, which has just completed its second year, is an event to which we look forward each month. The object, which is for social purposes and mutual benefit, is fulfilling its purpose, and we have tried to make the majority of the programs helpful. Among them have been Mr O'Hara's account of the work and men at Evergreen, some encouraging words from a young blind law student, Mr Frank Forrester, an account of the work at Pittsburg from a blind club woman of that city, and a practical talk by a blind real estate man of Los Angeles. In February the Pasadena pupils took charge of the program with Mrs Clarence Blood in charge, and we all took something worth while away with us after hearing Dr Freeman of the First Presbyterian Church. His words of encouragement did us all good, and as one man said afterward, "made you want to do something worth while." The music which is usually provided by our members is a very vital part of it all. We are also indebted to some outside friends for the very good music of some of our entertainments. The reading by Mrs McBirney, one of our members, of articles of interest to the welfare of the blind is an especially important feature.

In June the first graduating exercises of the Special Class for Blind Children took place. This day school for the blind is the only one of its kind west of Chicago and has been in operation four and a half years. The three graduates, two boys and a girl, have completed the eighth grade, and they were told when presented with their diplomas that they were only receiving what they had well earned. The girl graduate made the skirt she wore, and one boy is especially gifted in music while the other has a very good record in sloyd.

In concluding this report we wish again to express our gratitude, first to Miss Celia Gleason, County Librarian, and her Staff for the continued use of their rooms for the headquarters of our work and for their kindly interest and help to me and my pupils. We also feel indebted to Miss Warren and Miss Smith of the San Diego Public Library and to Miss Jacobus and her Staff at Pomona. The help of these librarians is worth more than can be estimated in our work. Miss Benjamin helped to keep Mr Aldritt's memory green at Christmas time, and several friends contributed to our Christmas fund. This is one of the best parts of our work, and Mr Aldritt, who started it, is being gratefully remembered by many.

Thanks are especially timely to Mr D. H. McLaughlin, Superintendent of the Outdoor Relief Division of our County Charities and to Mrs Frances Vance, Head of the Handicraft Department, for their co-operation and interest in practical work for the blind. We appreciate the use of a room at the Normal Hill Center for our social gatherings for part of the year.

And last I wish to express my own appreciation, first to the State Librarian, Mr Ferguson, and to the State Library Staff for their consideration and encouragement, and to my pupils for their many expressions of gratitude and pleasure in the books. It is these things that make me feel that I have, as some one once told me, "the finest job in the world."

SEC. 2. A needy blind person shall be construed to mean any person who, by reason of loss of eyesight, is unable to provide himself with the necessities of life, and who has not sufficient means of his own to enable him to maintain himself.

SEC. 3. A needy blind person, in order to receive relief under this act, must be a resident of this state at the time this act takes effect, or become blind while a resident of this state, and shall be a resident of the county for one year next preceding the date of the application provided for herein.

*This law is being printed here, since we have so many requests for it from our borrowers and others interested.

All persons claiming relief under this act shall file, at least ten days prior to action on said claims, with the board of supervisors a duly verified statement of the facts bringing him within the provisions of this act. The list of claims shall be filed in the order of filing in a book furnished for that purpose by the board of supervisors, and which record shall be open to the public. No certificate of qualification for drawing money under this act shall ever be granted until the board of supervisors shall be satisfied, from the evidence of at least two reputable residents of said county, or city and county, one of whom shall be a duly and regularly licensed and practicing physician, that they know the applicant to be blind, and that he has the residential qualifications to entitle him to the relief asked for, which evidence shall be in writing, subscribed to by such witnesses, subject to the right of cross-examination by the board of supervisors or other persons. If the board of supervisors is satisfied upon such testimony that the applicant is entitled to the relief hereunder, it shall issue an order therefor, in such sum as it finds needed, not to exceed one hundred eighty dollars per annum, to be paid monthly out of the fund herein provided for on the warrant of the county auditor, or auditor of the city and county. [Amended 1921]

SEC. 5. The board of supervisors shall annually examine as to the qualifications of any one on the blind list and increase or decrease the allowance within the statutory limits, or if said board is not satisfied that the person so on the list is qualified to draw any money said board shall entirely remove him from the list and shall forthwith notify the auditor of such action.

SEC. 6. The board of supervisors of every county and city and county shall meet within thirty days after this act takes effect and thereafter annually on such days as the board shall select and at such times as may be necessary and examine carefully the list of applications filed hereunder.

SEC. 7. The board of supervisors of every county or city and county are hereby authorized and directed to transfer from any money in the poor fund of any county to the blind fund, herein provided, for the year 1919, sufficient money to carry out the purposes of this act.

SEC. 8. Any person who shall make a false statement in order to secure for himself or another, the benefit herein provided, shall be guilty of perjury.
